COMMONS BLOC ADVOCATES CUT IN BATTLESHIPS

LONE ACTION SOUGHT IF OTHERS DISAGREE

Spirit of Conciliation and Patience Marks Stimson Plea.

SECRETARY TO TALK AT OFFICIAL DINNER

Midnight Plymouth Arrival Is Cause of Flurry Among Townspeople.

London, Jan. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Seventy-seven members of the House of Commons—roughly one-quarter of the government's strength—tonight issued a statement advocating total abolition of battleships and warships of more than 10,000 tons by the five-power naval conference. Failing such action on the part of the conference, they urged the British delegates to consider the question of Great Britain's taking such action alone.

The statement read:

"The five-power naval conference which meets in London January 21 will provide means of testing the importance which signatories of the Kellogg pact attach to the present possibility of renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy.

"Abolition of battleships would be a substantial step toward making that pact a reality, and this would not only result in appreciable reduction in expenditure on naval armaments but would, of itself, insure the success of the conference.

Ship Value Discounted.

"We note a growing feeling, even among naval experts, that fighting ships of more than 10,000 tons are no longer necessary, and we therefore urge the delegates of the British Labor government at the conference to make the abolition of battleships and warships of more than 10,000 tons one of the principal aims of their deliberations.

"In the event of a minority of the great powers not agreeing to the proposed abolition of battleships, we urge our delegates to consider whether, in view of the advance of science and the fact that our danger lies in the possibility of attack by air, rather than attack by sea, Great Britain can not take the lead and announce that she will not in the future lay down any warships of more than 10,000 tons."

Stimson to Urge Conciliation.

S. S. George Washington at Sea, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—A spirit of conciliation and patience will be urged by Henry L. Stimson in his address at the British Government's dinner conference next Monday night when the American Secretary of State will be the principal speaker.

Secretary Stimson has already completed a large part of the speech but is not expected to conclude it until after further consultations with his colleagues at the five-power naval conference and other important personages in London.

The address will be devoted to the ambitions of the conference to further peace through limitation of navies. It appeared certain tonight that Mr. Stimson would not touch on individual issues between various countries, such as those between France and Italy, nor make any announcements of policy.

Avoidance of Criticism Sought.

It is his feeling that such announcements at the outset of the parley immediately offer grounds for opposition and criticism, making achievement of the aims of the conference more difficult. The sense of security prevailing since signature of the Washington treaty with its con-

Indictment Denied In Liquor Killings

Grand Jury Finds No True Bill in "Black Duck" Smugglers' Deaths.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—A special grand jury called to consider evidence in the slaying of three men aboard the rumrunner Black Duck by coast guardsmen reported in Superior Court here tonight that it had found no indictment.

Among the 22 witnesses heard were eight of the crew of the Coast Guard patrol boat 280, which fired on the Black Duck in lower Narragansett Bay early the morning of December 29, fatally wounding Jake Wejaman, of Providence; Dudley Brandt, of Boston, and John Goulart, of Fairhaven, Mass. Charles Travers, wounded survivor of the rum boat crew, likewise testified.

Parrot Fever Danger In City Is Discounted

DR. WILLIAM C. FOWLER, District health officer, and his pet parrot. Dr. Fowler, in minimizing the danger in Washington of parrot fever, scouted the proposal that he get rid of the bird.

No Occasion for Alarm, Health Officer of District Asserts.

There is no occasion for alarm in Washington over parrot fever nor is there anything which justifies any widespread investigation of pet shops or of privately owned parrots, Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer, declared yesterday.

Dr. Fowler has a pet parrot at his home and the doctor and the bird are good friends. The birds makes it a point to be the first to greet the health officer with a "Hello, Bill," when he enters the house, and immediately starts ordering the maid to prepare dinner.

"Some one asked me if I were going to get rid of my parrot," Dr. Fowler said. "I told them, 'I should say not. That bird and I are good friends.'

"There is likely to be a good deal of hysteria in connection with the reported spread of this parrot fever. Some of the cases reported may be parrot fever and many may not be.

"The Health Department is watching the situation here carefully and we are checking up on all reports of facts which might seem to indicate the possibility of the presence of the disease, but I see no justification at this time for any widespread activity, such as an examination of all of the pet shops or privately owned parrots. I have no doubt that there are sev-

TARIFF LAW INVOKED AGAINST RUM BOATS

Federal Jury Returns Guilty Verdict Against Man in Import Case.

BOAT WAS CAUGHT AT SEA

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—John T. Callahan, Newark, N. J., was convicted by a jury in Federal Court today of violating the tariff act and aiding and abetting in the importation of liquor into this country.

The jury, which deliberated more than two hours, recommended mercy for the defendant, who was released in $15,000 bail pending disposition of a motion to appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Callahan was alleged to have been the owner of the schooner Charles Edward, which was seized by Coast Guards four miles off the Delaware Capes on the night of November 10, 1927, with a cargo of liquor, estimated to be worth upward of $200,000.

According to testimony offered by the Government, Callahan went to Canada and purchased the schooner, which was outfitted at Lunnenberg, Nova Scotia, and provided it with a

THREE MORE DEATHS LAID TO PSITTACOSIS

50 CASES ARE REPORTED

(Associated Press.)

Federal health officials viewed with concern last night additional deaths and illnesses attributed in press reports to psittacosis, the strange malady contracted from parrots.

With three new deaths reported, the list mounted to five. At the same time, fifteen other cases of serious illness believed to be what is called parrot's fever were reported, bringing those on which the Public Health Service has information almost to 50.

The malady appeared in several widely-separated cities shortly after the Christmas holidays. The deaths reported yesterday were those of Miss Catherine Tierney, 67, housekeeper, of a Toledo church pastoral residence; Mrs. William Burns, who died in a Baltimore hospital, and one person of a Hollis, Queensborough, New York family, whose name was withheld.

The deaths of Mrs. Louis Schaffle, in Baltimore last Friday, and of Mrs. William Shields, in Pittsburgh last

Of course, I realized when you folks decided to give away these automobiles and radios that I'd have to work overtime, but I really didn't anticipate that so many would be listening for my knock at their doors.

"You asked me the other night, how I came to take up door-knocking as a profession?

FIGHT ON BOOST OF SUGAR RATE TAKES SESSION

OPPONENTS OF BILL HOLD STAGE CENTER

COPELAND FAVORS ONE CENT BOUNTY

Harrison Makes Second Talk Against Proposals of Increase.

(Associated Press.)

Opponents of an increased sugar tariff and those favoring a bounty in its stead held the center of attention for another entire session yesterday in the Senate, which agreed just before recessing to vote on the question not later than noon tomorrow.

While not coming out flatly for a bounty, Senator Borah, of Idaho, a leader of the Republican independents, disputed the arguments that a higher levy would benefit domestic cane and beet sugar growers. He contended that an increase tariff would bring no relief so long as existing American relations with Cuba and the Philippines continued, and said he saw no prospects of these conditions changing for some time to come.

Favors Philippine Independence.

The Idahoan advocated protection for the domestic growers, but said it was impossible for the American farmers to compete as long as a situation obtained "where we are allowing a heavy preferential to one of the greatest sugar producing countries in the world and granting absolute free trade to the other potentially greatest."

He added that he favored Philippine independence and elimination of the 20 per cent sugar tariff preferential allowed Cuban imports to make extension of a domestic bounty unnecessary.

Sees Preferential to Capitalists.

While the Cuban preferential was established originally on a humanitarian basis, he said, American capital now "is almost exclusively the capital which is producing sugar in Cuba and we are in fact giving a preferential to certain American capitalists who happen to be engaged in the industry outside the borders of the United States."

This preferential, he argued, amounted to a bounty in favor of these capitalists and permitted them to "dominate the sugar price in American markets."

"As for the Philippines," Borah continued, "I would like to see them

TWO SUSPECTS HUNTED IN CAFE MAN'S SLAYING

Trail Leads to New York After Bloody Clothes Are Discovered.

ROBBERY DECLARED MOTIVE OF KILLING

ROMANTIC ELEMENT INJECTED INTO CASE

Pictures of Sweetheart Are Found in Room of One Wanted in Case.

A police dragnet was spread to New York City last night in an effort to locate two suspects wanted in connection with the murder early yesterday of Christos Haralampidis, 60 years old, proprietor of a Greek restaurant at 521 Ninth street northwest.

Detective Sergt. John Flaherty, of the District homicide squad, was dispatched to New York late yesterday to conduct a search for two suspects in the murder. The identity of the suspects is being carefully shielded by police.

Robbery was indubitably the motive for the murder, police agree. Haralampidis' body was found in his rooms on the third floor by a servant. His pockets had been rifled, police reported. The restaurant proprietor had been known to carry large sums of money on his person.

Job Seeker Sought.

One of the suspects, it is believed, came to light when police learned the identity of a man who had been seeking employment at the restaurant within the last few days.

Another clew which sent police to New York City was the finding of a bloody pair of trousers and shoes in the room of one suspect. Traces of the owners of these garments also led to New York City.

Search of the room also is said to have lent the possibility of a romantic element to the slaying. Pictures and telegrams indicated that the suspect, also a Greek of advanced age, had a sweetheart much his junior.

Marriage Plans Opposed.

Further investigation also is reported to have revealed that the proposed marriage of the suspect and the young woman had met with parental objection, and had created somewhat of a furor among Greek circles in Washington.

The condition of the room in which the restaurant proprietor's body was found bore evidence of a desperate struggle. The brick evidently used in smashing the man's

Radio Amateurs Give Army News of Planes

Relay League Brings in First Word of Pursuit Group Aeros, Cut Off By Cold and Snow in Montana.

With the mechanics stranded far to the east of them and communications, except through amateur operators of the American Radio Relay League, difficult, seventeen pilots of the First Pursuit Group passed last night at Great Falls, Mont. One plane, piloted by Lieut. Marion L. Elliott on the group's sub-Arctic flight, was down at Miles City, Mont., with engine trouble supposedly due to the extreme cold through which the planes have battled since taking off from the ice of Lake St. Clair at Selfridge Field, Mich., last Thursday.

Only when the Radio Relay League got into operation last night did Air Corps officers here learn what had become of the flight of 21 planes. In addition to the 17 at Great Falls and the one at Miles City—all pursuit planes—the radio plane is in a snowbank at Amasa, Mich., with dead storage batteries, and two transport planes, carrying mechanics and equipment, are down at Minot, N. Dak., held there by weather.

This was learned last night by Capt. Harold M. McClelland, Capt. William J. Floor and Lieut. Roland Birnn, Air Corps officers, who hung over Radio Station W3ABO, operated by Henry A. Farnham, 813 V street northeast, until late last night. The station was in communication with other amateurs, members of the American Radio Relay League, receiving news of the flight by arrangements made with the Air Corps before its start. Assisting Farnham in receiving the broadcasts were Miss Elizabeth andonini, radio operator and engineer of the Bureau of Standards, and Martin L. Long, owner of Station W3LX and president of the Washington Radio Club. Miss Zandonini is treasurer of the same organization.

Another amateur station in Washington, W3BWT, owned by Etta W. Darne, 132 Tennessee northeast, is also receiving broadcasts of the flight. By arrangement with the radio league, station owners along the route of the flight broadcast its progress on short waves to station W1MK, at Hartford, Conn., which, in turn, relays the broadcast to member stations in the East.

Lieut. Birnn said last night that as soon as the Northwestern stations began their broadcast, the air was filled with dots and dashes from amateur stations all over the country trying either to get news or give it. The amateur radio operators will continue to relay the progress of the flight until its culmination, Lieut. Birnn said.

APPROVAL BY HOUSE OF ONLY ONE HOOVER DRY PLAN PREDICTED

Proposal to Let Justice Department Enforce Law Has Chance.

SINGLE BILL DRAFTED TO CARRY OUT PLEAS

Border Control and Port Recommendations Are Yet to Be Made.

MEASURE TO RELIEVE TRIBUNALS MAY DIE

Projects to Set Up Petty Courts Have Hung Fire for Three Years.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Out of the avalanche of prohibition enforcement recommendations that were heaped upon Capitol Hill Monday, there were many indications yesterday that President Hoover would get but one of them through—concentration of enforcement in the Department of Justice—and this only after a storm.

This pessimistic view does not embrace the proposals for unified border control or that to reorganize the ports of entry from Canada and Mexico. The Treasury is not yet ready to submit definite plans on them, and while they will probably be favorably received in the House, even they will likely encounter trouble in the Senate.

But of the proposals submitted definitely Monday and on which one might expect to report yesterday that "the wheels of Congress moved to put the President's program into effect," this was most certainly not the case.

Only One Step Taken.

The only step taken, the only evidence at all that a batch of presidential recommendations had been received, was that by Representative Williamson, of South Dakota, who, as chairman on the committee of expenditures, introduced the bill to place all enforcement in the Department of Justice. The head of this new bureau in the department would receive $9,000 a year. The prohibition commissioner would become commissioner of narcotics and industrial alcohol. This insures the retention of Prohibition Commissioner Doran. Goodness only knows what would become of Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in Charge of Prohibition. Presumably he would act as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of Mr. Doran.

There was no other move to carry out any of the recommendations. In fact, there were any number of authoritative statements, made privately, that the most important of them, that to relieve court congestion by constituting United States commissioners as courts to hear petty cases, would never see the light of day.

Bills Pending Three Years.

It developed that there have been bills seeking to accomplish this very thing pending in both Houses for three years. In the House they have been sponsored by Representative R. Walton Moore, of Virginia. Exhaustive hearings have been held on them by the House judiciary committee. In the Senate similar measures sponsored by Senator Harris, of Georgia, have been pending. According to the hearings before the House judiciary committee the brother of the Chief Justice, Henry W. Taft, as chairman of the New York Bar Association, was a prime mover behind the bill, and such eminent jurists as Charles Evans Hughes and John W. Davis attested to its constitutionality.

It may be that the House judiciary committee, which incidentally is to meet today, may be moved to agree to its constitutionality now that the President has gotten behind the measure, but it will be a long time before the Senate committee does.

In fact, it might be said that a controlling element of the Senate ju-

Girl Dies of Scalding Caused by Fall in Tub

Virginia Johnson, 3, Is Victim of Peculiar Accident.

VIRGINIA JOHNSON.

While her mother and father were watching a salesman demonstrate an electric washing machine, Nellie Virginia Johnson, 3 years old, of 650 I street southwest, fell into a tub of boiling water in the basement of her home, suffering injuries which caused her death yesterday morning at Children's Hospital.

The girl was playing around Monday morning as the demonstration began, according to her father, William A. Johnson, a street car conductor, when she backed into the tub, which was to be emptied into the washing machine. Her parents pulled her clothes from her scalded body and wrapped her in a blanket.

Minor E. Puffenberger, the salesman, carried her to the hospital in his automobile, and she was attended by three physicians. She lingered in agony until 4:15 o'clock yesterday morning when death came. Her parents were grief stricken. She was their only child.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

ALAN ROGERS FACES SLAYER OF CHILDREN

Bereaved Father Describes How He Gave Babies in Mrs. Park's Care.

MANY HEARD IN CASE

Camden, N. J., Jan. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—An unworldly looking, little, bespectacled man of the clerical type, with lines of sorrow etched deeply in his face, walked to the witness chair in Criminal Court here today and sat down.

It was as though an electric spark passed through the air. From a quiet rustling, the sound of twisting bodies, craning necks and whispered exclamations in the courtroom grew into a tiny volcano of erupting noise. These people had come to see Gladys May Parks, a woman entertainer from pleasure resorts, tried for the murder of two little children, and here was to be one of their first big thrills. Chief Justice Frank T. Lloyd rapped warningly for order.

Facing Gladys on the witness stand sat Alan Rogers, the naively trusting former high school teacher and insurance agent who let Gladys Parks, his wife's cousin, take his two youngest children from their motherless home, ostensibly to rear, but in reality to their death.

Slowly, and with infinite compassion, Prosecutor Clifford A. Baldwin led the father of the babies over the steps that preceded the passing from his life forever of the round-bodied, fair-haired 4-year-old Dorothy, and her baby brother, Timothy, aged 2.

In a dull monotone he sketched how Gladys Parks had appeared at his home, had sympathized with him in the loss of his wife, had offered to take his two youngest children, claiming to be "married to a very wealthy man, so that I can give the babies every care and luxury," how she had been given the two youngest, had disappeared from sight, despite his pathetic attempts to find them; and

HIGH RIVERS IN OHIO MAROON HUNDREDS

INDIANA STREAMS RISE

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Several hundred families at Ottawa, Ohio, and Mechanicsburg, Ohio, tonight were marooned in their homes as water surrounded the towns.

At Mechanicsburg police were on guard against a sudden rise which might imperil the lives of those marooned. In Ottawa, where the Blanchard River and Tawa Creek had flooded a large part of the town as well as cutting off all forms of traffic, marooned persons were without bread, but informed town officials that they had sufficient other food. Preparations were being made to transport food by boat if the water continues high tomorrow.

At Massillon, Ohio, a number of streets were under water and school children will be carried to school and return by boats.

Elsewhere in Ohio flood conditions were abating and the floods were confined mostly to inundated highways and railroad tracks with little damage.

Thirty roads were reported under water by the State highway department.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Approach of a new rainstorm from the West to add to the deluge which already is sweeping down the Mississippi and its tributaries, inundating thousands of acres of lowlands, added gravity to the high water situation in the lower valley today as the first levee dynamating of the present rise was reported. Levees, however, were holding fast.

Interior streams already were at or near the flood stage, while the big river itself crept up to 31.5 feet at Memphis, only 3.5 feet below flood stage, with 33.5 feet predicted for Mrs. Gauntlett Reveals Monster Petition in Aid of Peace.

(Associated Press.)

A tiny Japanese woman, Mrs. Tsune Gauntlett, who is headed for London with 180,000 signatures of her feminine compatriots in the interests of peace, brought the 500 delegates to the Cause and Cure of War Conference to their feet yesterday with cheers as she discussed her mission.

Mrs. Gauntlett, wife of an English professor in the Tokyo University of Commerce, is a delegate to the conference, which represents eleven of the largest organizations of women in the United States. She will go from here to the naval arms reduction conference in London.

Dressed in native costume, her black hair just visible above the speaker's desk, Mrs. Gauntlett told how a group of Japanese women worked twenty days and twenty nights to get the signatures. As she talked, bellboys diciary committee does not share Mr. Hoover's views as to what is wrong with prohibition enforcement. One of them, Senator Blaine, is a wet. Two others, and far more important, Senators Norris, chairman, and Borah, are dry, but the question is seriously raised as to whether before this storm is over either they or Mr. Hoover will not have to get in the wet camp, as there will not be room enough for them in the same camp.

These senators think the crux of the situation is diversion of alcohol. The commission did not mention the subject. There were all sorts of rumors, too, as to the reason it did not, rumors that the commission had run up against a political stone wall on this phase of the question. The rumors mean nothing, of course, except to show the way some senatorial minds are working.

As evidence of the manner in which this proposal to set up commissioner courts was received in some quarters, in fact, is the statement of one Republican constitutional authority, a dry, that if it is necessary to violate the fifth amendment guaranteeing jury trials to enforce the eighteenth, then the latter may as well be repealed.

Line of Demarcation Expected.

In the meantime, the discussion over the questionable proposal ran alap into the administration's effort to emphasize that no plan under consideration contemplates any lessening of the States' responsibility. As a matter of fact, it was learned that the National Law Enforcement Commission plans to submit a definite line of demarcation between Federal and State duties and the administration is to adhere to this line closely.

There were many observers who thought the note of State responsibility predominated the tone of Monday's reports, especially those from the commission and from the Attorney General. The Attorney General, in fact, said that it was never contemplated that the Federal Government should have the whole enforcement job as it has come to be looked upon in the last several months, for political purposes anyway.

It was emphasized yesterday that the Attorney General stated the firm attitude of the administration.

Petty Courts Are Puzzle.

But if this is the case, it was asked, why is the commission's main recommendation to set up petty courts to handle petty cases. The commission even suggests this definition of petty or "casual" cases:

"Unlawful possessions, single sales of small quatities by persons not engaged in habitual violation of the law, unlawful making of small quantities where no other person is employed, assisting in making or transporting as a casual employe only, transporting of small quatities by persons not habitually engaged in transportation of illicit liquors or habitually employed by habitual violators of the law."

If the Federal is to set up special courts, or rather commissioners courts, to consider such cases as these it is difficult to see just what type of offense will be left for the States.

The answer may be in that recommendation of the commission contained in its supplemental report that State, municipal and county officers be invested with the Federal prohibition power of arrest. In other words they would be expected to make the arrests and the Federal Government would furnish the prosecution.

Buried in Report.

This recommendation has not attracted much attention yet because of the fact that it was buried in the supplemental report. But there are those who argue that even this would not be justification for setting up the petty courts.

Regardless of administration protestations to the contrary, it is contended the setting up of a system of courts to handle casual offenses is just the same as to say that Federal Government assumes full responsibility for the enforcement of prohibition.

And by the way, the House wets met downstairs in the Capitol, across from the barber shop, to "survey the situation," as they termed it. They are getting so they meet there by the barber shop nearly every day.

stacked the individual petitions around the platform. The petitions rose around the little speaker in columns. She held aloft a bundle.

"We women of Japan asked ourselves what we could best do to further the cause of peace at the London conference, and we concluded this was the best way," she said.

She brought a message to the conference from Viscount Euchi Shibusann, 90 years old. He counseled patience in the search for peace.

"If you can not carry out your intentions, other generations will achieve them for you," the venerable viscount wrote. Mrs. Gauntlett also brought best wishes for success from Prince Iseato Tokergawa, president of the Japanese House of Peers.

The three other delegates from foreign countries, Mme. Marie-Louise Puech, of France; Frau Dorothee von Velsen, of Germany, and Miss Kathleen Courtney, of England, spoke briefly. Friday they will be featured at a women's open forum to discuss how far the peace question is woman's responsibility.

Linton Leaves Estate Worth Nearly $100,000

Irvin B. Linton, widely known Washington lawyer who died November 26, left an estate valued at almost $100,000, according to the petition for the probate of his will filed yesterday in District Supreme Court. In addition he left a tract of land in Africa the value of which is unknown. The estate is made up primarily of real estate in the District, in Duluth, Minn., and in Stone Harbor, N. J., assessed at $83,000. Personal property was estimated at $16,205.

The deceased in his will instructed that one-tenth of the income from his estate, which is left in trust, is to be paid to the Africa Island Mission, the Chinese Missions at Tan Shang and Tu Shan and the Gospel Mission at Washington. The remainder of the estate's income is to be paid to the widow, and at her death nine-tenths of the income is to be divided among the two children, Mrs. Mabel L. Williams and Irwin H. Linton.

trouble for the world by refusing to eat it.

"I could see right then that somebody would be needed to remind people of what they could do in their own interest or human beings never would get anywhere.

"Well, sir, it was pretty hard at first. People got to living in caves, with big heavy stones as doors, and it would sometimes take me hours to make them hear. When they got nice wooden doors my job was much easier, but the number of people increased so rapidly that I had to go out and hire a few assistants.

"One of the best men I ever employed is the fellow I'm using as campaign manager in The Post $20,000 Opportunity Campaign. He's a great help to me and when he knocks at any one's door it means 'Profit' to those who answer."

Just then the first edition of The Washington Post was ready for distribution so, of course, the old man had to make a hurried exit and, gazing from the window, the city staff saw him hop on the tail board of the first delivery truck.

The great race for $20,000 worth of automobiles and radios, together with an unlimited amount of cash commissions, started with a rush yesterday. Scores of candidates are in the field securing subscriptions and piling up votes that will elect them winners in one of the greatest, most interesting and profitable contests that Washington has ever witnessed.

It is expected that hundreds more will enter because the campaign does not close until April 5, and a little extra money is all that is required to overcome the lead of the first entries. In any case there are prizes enough for all.

An excellent example of the spirit of fair play that is governing all who take part in this contest is demonstrated in a letter which was received by the Campaign Manager yesterday. A prospective candidate in Front Royal, Va., wrote, "I wish to participate in this campaign but only if I am assured that the regular commissions will be paid to your agent in Front Royal, as she makes her living by selling papers here. I would not interfere with her income under any circumstances. * * *"

The Washington Post wishes to make clear that this $20,000 offer in prizes is above and beyond all regular costs of distributing this newspaper. Every carrier boy, every dealer and every agent will receive his regular commission on papers served in his territory and his income will automatically be increased by the efforts of those who are striving to win extra prizes.

As stated before, this is a campaign for mutual good. The Washington Post is spending thousands of dollars through local agencies in the purchase of automobiles and radios, dealers, carriers and agents will augment their incomes, contestants will receive rewards that are very much worth-while, and subscribers will secure a newspaper in keeping with their highest ideals.

FATHER TAKES STAND IN MRS. PARKS TRIAL

how he next saw them lying on a morgue slab, a pile of disjointed bones and skulls, upon which still clung a few shreds of flesh.

The most dramatic moment of a day crowded with high peaks of feeling for the spectators came when Rogers said, dropping his voice almost to whisper:

"Dotty was in fine health when I let 'Mrs. Baker' have her. She was a lovable child with no bad habits." (It is for a naughty habit that Miss Parks says she slapped down the child when she died.) "And I remember sitting at a desk and writing some little verses in which I described Dotty, and I gave Mrs. Baker a copy of the verses."

Rogers told of a letter written to him by Gladys Parks from Atlantic City on August 22, in which she upbraided him for "hounding her from house to house, hazing the children and telling the neighbors a whole mess of stuff about the children." It was read in evidence, and the aPrks woman's last bitter thrust to Rogers in it was:

"If you had been more considerate and not such a glutton for children, Olive would have been alive today." Olive was Rogers' dead wife.

The morning opened with the four National Park children who found Dorothy's skull, on the stand. In a high pitched childish treble the first witness of the day, little Margaret Rink, 11, testified to the finding of the skull.

The mystery trunk bobbed up again for a few minutes when an express man related about moving it from house to house for Gladys aPrks, declaring that it was unusually heavy on its last move to the Burns street house, where little Timmy met his death.

A procession of official witnesses, including the chief of police of National Park, Sheriff J. K. Tryon of Gloucester County, an array of Camden County and city detectives, the court senographer who took down every word Gladys uttered after her arrest, and the laundry manager who described the intricacies of marking laundry, and the fateful tag that led to Gladys' arrest and the murder charge, moved across the horizon for a few minutes, each contributing a piece of the patchwork of evidence that the States is building up against the woman.

Cross-examination through the day was searching but unrevealing. The story of Gladys leading the officers to the shallow graves she dug with her own hands in National Park and Absecon where she placed the children's desiccated bones; of the enraged mothers of Absecon almost mobbing her; of the trip to the cellar at the Burns street house, and Gladys' demonstration how she had crumpled Dorothy's little frame into a hole in the floor, poured lye over it, covered it up, and "stamped" on it with her feet to flatten out the spot, remained perfect in its entirety. Her landlady, Mrs. Sadie Work, came into court with the duplicate of the sheet that had wrapped Dorothy's bones, but it was not allowed in evidence.

THREE MEN KILLED IN HOLDUP GUNFIGHT

100 SHOTS EXCHANGED

Chicago, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—A crude, home made burglar alarm early today gave a warning that sent police speeding to a West Side apartment where two men accused of burglary and one policeman were shot to death in a gun fight that followed. Edward Conroy, a police lieutenant, was wounded and Samuel Watterman, a burglar suspect, was captured.

The dead:

Samuel Wolf, of Chicago.

R. Holtzman, owner of a vegetable and meat market at Hoopston, Ill.

Jerry Murphy, a Chicago policeman.

The police cornered the men in the apartment of Harry Sucherman, an official of a sausage factory. Sucherman said they awoke him after cutting a panel in the back door of his apartment. He remained outwardly calm, he said, as they demanded his money and his wife's jewelry.

Presses Homemade Alarm.

Unnoticed by them he pressed a button of the home made burglar alarm near his bed to set off the buzzer in the apartment of his brother, who lives across the hall in the same building. The brother called police.

To gain time and keep the men in the apartment until the arrival of police, Sucherman offered to open a wall safe for them. They became impatient and locked him in a closet.

Police arrived, four of them. Two covered the front, two the rear. Believing the trapped men were trying to escape at the front of the apartment, Officer Murphy sent his companion to reinforce the pair there. Murphy then entered the back door alone. It is believed he surprised the men and covered them, only to be shot down by one as he attempted to march them out of the place.

Flee Through Door.

Watterman, the captured man, and his companions ran out the front door. The door locked behind them, and they stood face to face with the three police officers in a vestibule. Watterman ran upstairs and demanded entrance to another apartment, saying he was a police office. The other two opened fire on the police.

More than a hundred shots were exchanged. Windows in the neighborhood were broken and residents were terrorized. The fight ended when Holtzman and Wolf expired.

Watterman declared he fired no shots. His gun had not been fired.

Possession Charge Laid Against Two

Pair Are Seized in Raid in Which Half-Pint of Liquor Is Found.

Charges of illegal possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance were placed against Harry Summers, of Emerson street near Seventh street northwest, and Elmer Baynard, colored, of 5 street near Fourteenth street northwest, yesterday following a raid on the Hollywood Inn, on New York avenue near Thirteenth street northwest.

The raid was made by the Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman squad following the work of an undercover agent. Detectives G. C. McCarron, Richard J. Cox and J. A. Mostyn composed the raiding squad.

Only one-half pint of liquor was found in the place, police say, and Summers ostensibly carried on a business of a delicatessen. Five men found in the place when the raiders entered were not arrested. Both arrested men were taken to the First Precinct Station house.

A second raid by the Letterman squad resulted in the arrest of nine men in an establishment on Florida avenue near Seventh street northwest. The owner of the place, Charles Arthur Swann, colored, of Shannon place northwest, was charged with setting up a gaming table, while eight men found in the place were booked at the Eighth Precinct Station house on charges of disorderly conduct.

20 Firemen Overcome Fighting Small Fire

Detroit, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Clouds of smoke rising from a small fire in the basement of the Commerce Building at the corner of Lafayette Boulevard and Wayne street this afternoon overcame twenty firemen who were trying to reach the source of the flames.

Sixteen of the firemen were taken to Receiving Hospital. Complete recovery was predicted for all. The fire filled the large office building with smoke. The building houses the Cass Theater, the Detroit offices of Gov. Fred W. Green, the Detroit Board of Commerce and several shops. Loss was estimated at about $6,000.

TARIFF LAW HOLDS AGAINST RUM BOAT

crew at St. Pierre, McQuelon Islands.

The defendant was charged with violating Section 593-B of the Tariff Act of 1922, which makes it illegal for any one to fraudulently or knowingly import or bring into the United States any merchandise contrary to law. Violation of this part of the tariff law is punishable on conviction, by imprisonment up to two years and a fine up to $5,000, or both.

In the indictment against Callahan there were two counts, one charging him with being a principal in the alleged importation and the second with being an aider and abettor. Only the second charge was pressed.

Contending that none of the things charged against their client, except an alleged conversation at Cape May, N. J., had occurred within the jurisdiction of the court or in the United States, counsel for Callahan asked for a verdict of not guilty.

The Cape May conversation referred to the testimony of James P. Gilhooley, a coast guardsman, who stated that some days before the boat arrived Callahan promised him $5,000 if he would convoy the ship into the Delaware Bay, mentioning Reedy Island as the destination. Gilhooley said also that Callahan described the preparations that had been made for the importation of a cargo of liquor that was on board.

Judge Morris, in denying the motion to instruct the jury to acquit the defendant, ruled that any person in a foreign country who owns or outfits a vessel and loads it with goods that may not be legally imported into the United States and sends it out with a view of having those goods imported into the United States, is guilty of violating the tariff act, regardless of his nationality or place of residence or whether he has ever been in the United States. The court explained, however, that some part of the illegal act must have been in the jurisdiction of the court.

SOLUTION OF GREEK SLAYING IN OFFING

skull was found lying beside the body.

Mary Bowers, colored, an employe at the restaurant, found Haralamipidis dead when she went to awaken him, as usual, about 6:30 yesterday morning. Receiving no answer to her knock on the door, the woman entered the room, but instantly became frightened by the disarray and ran screaming into the street. At Eleventh street and Pennsylvania, she found Louis Hale, a First Precinct policeman, who went to the room where the body was found.

Difficulty is Met.

Police encountered much difficulty in their investigations because practically all of the restaurant's clientele was Greek, most of whom were noncommittal. However, Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, head of the homicide squad, and Capt. Frank S. W. Burke, commander of the First Precinct, were of the opinion that robbery was the motive for the killing. They believed the man surprised the robbers at their work and was killed in a struggle that ensued.

Girl Who Sat on Tack Dies of Blood-Poisoning

Mount Morris, N. Y., Jan. 14 (A.P.). A recitation in Griegsville High School was interrupted by muffled laughter recently when Angelina Ceronie, 14-year-old star forward of the girl's basket ball squad, returned to her seat and unsuspectingly sat on a thumbtack.

Angelina was a good sport. When the teacher rapped for order she didn't tell. Three days later she was absent from school and today the age-old prank is a joke no longer. Blood poisoning had developed from the tiny wound and Angelina died yesterday.

NEGRO CADET FAILS WEST POINT TESTS

Among 64 Cadets Let Out From Military Academy for Low Grades.

BOARDS REVIEW CASES

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Alonzo Parham, Negro, of Chicago, was among the 64 cadets honorably discharged today from the United States Military Academy for failure to pass their midterm academic examinations.

Parham was deficient in only one subject, mathematics, and he is eligible to take a reexamination in March, which, if successfully passed, will entitle him to reenter the academy.

Forty-eight of the cadets dismissed today were plebes, or freshmen, and the others were sophomores. The examination was taken by 137 cadets, 73 of whom passed. Forty-six, all third and fourth classmen, were deficient in only one subject, and they have the privilege of reexamination in March.

Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the academy, said that the plebe class grades this year showed an improvement over last year, when 15.7 per cent of the class was discharged.

The cadets dismissed today had failed to pass the written general review held early in December and also failed to meet the requirements in a special second examination.

Each individual case was reviewed by various boards of instructions at the academy and then referred to the War Department for final action.

Must Confer With De Priest.

Weehawken, N. J., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Arriving here with 30 other cadets who were among 64 dismissed from West Point Military Academy today for deficiency in studies, Alonzo S. Parham, youthful Chicago Negro, tonight indicated he has not decided whether to exercise his privilege of taking an examination next March in an attempt to reenter the academy.

"I must confer with Representative Oscar De Priest," he said, "and with my father. I have not made up my mind."

Smiling bravely to force back tears that welled in his eyes despite his gallant efforts to conceal them, Parham tactfully evaded the question, "are you sorry to leave West Point?"

Got a Square Deal, He Says.

"I never grieve over misfortune," he told reporters, "and I accept things as they come. I can't say that I am sorry to leave, and I can't say that I would be glad to go back.

"I was as happy there as any first classman could be," he continued, breaking into a laugh to cover the mist that formed in his eyes for a brief moment.

"I made friends among both the cadets and officers and I know that I got a square deal. I got credit for every bit of work that I did correctly and there was no discrimination."

Associated Press.

Representative Oscar De Priest, Negro Republican of Illinois, who appointed Alonzo Parham, Negro, to West Point, said yesterday that he would appoint another Negro to the Academy if Parham actually had been dropped for failing to pass his midterm examinations.

"I understand that Parham has 60 days in which to make up his credits," De Priest said. "Of course, I may be mistaken because this is the first experience I have had in that connection. If my appointee is definitely discharged I shall appoint another colored boy, because of all members of Congress, I am the only one who would appoint a boy of the race with which I am identified."

BODIES IDENTIFIED AS MISSING PILOTS

SOUGHT HEIGHT RECORD

Amston, Conn., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Two watches, one initialed "W. A. K." and the other "D. M.," proved this afternoon to be the means of identifying airplane wreckage in the woods beside Lake Amston as that of the Fairchild cabin monoplane missing from Farmingdale, Long Island, since last Friday morning, and determining that the two burned bodies were those of William Kirkpatrick and Daniel Marra, pilots.

The official opinion will come from Medical Examiner Cyrus Pendleton, of Hebron, as soon as a claimant appears for the bodies, which were taken late today to Willimantic, 14 miles away.

The plane had crashed after collision with an oak tree which was on the outer edge of woodland bordering the lake and only 200 yards away from the water. Deep in the woods and nearly a mile from a house, there was no help for the two pilots if they had lived after the crash. Fire completed destruction of the plane.

Watches Not Destroyed.

Watches carried by the airmen escaped destruction, however, and were found by those who first came upon the scene. One, a wrist watch, had the initials "D. M." and had stopped at 10:10. The other, a silver pocket watch, with Kirkpatrick's initials, stopped at 10:20.

Dr. Pendleton and State officers entertained no doubt as to the identity of the men.

State aviation officers had plotted the probable course of the Fairchild plane as it flew through fog between 10 and 11 o'clock last Friday morning, tracing it from the time it swooped down over fog-hidden Bethany Flying Field 50 miles away, and then over toward the eastern part of the State.

Search Centered About Lake.

So many persons were found yesterday in this section of Connecticut who had heard a low-flying plane on Friday that search today was being concentrated in the immediate vicinity of Lake Amston.

Fred Rowley, gamekeeper at the Lake Amston Club, plodding through the woods in the pouring rain, came upon the plane.

The body of one man was partly under the plane and the other had been thrown clear but, as it was badly burned, the belief was held that the aviator had been enveloped in the flame when he was pitched to the ground or else the burst of fire from the gas tank had enveloped him.

First Permit Granted Under New Taxi Rules

Everett Cockrill, who lives at 485 N street southwest, and operates his own taxicab, yesterday received from the Utilities Commission the first taxicab certificate issued under the commission's new taxicab regulations.

Cockrill's certificate was numbered one. He was the first operator to comply with the commission's new requirements. His taxi meter was found to be correct and his brakes and other equipment were approved after tests over a measured two miles on upper Sixteenth street.

Sacramental Wine Is Stolen.

A quart of sacramental wine was reported stolen yesterday from the Church of Our Lady of Victory, Conduit road, near Hutchins place northwest. The thief, according to a report made to Seventh Precinct police, gained entrance by removing a plate glass from a rear door.

GERMANY ACCEPTS REPARATIONS BANK

Hague Conference Clash Ends in Promises to Change Teuton Law.

FINAL REPORT AWAITED

The Hague, Netherlands, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The squall coming from the direction of Berlin which struck the second Hague conference yesterday passed quickly and detailed work of preparation for putting the Young plan into effect went on today under cleared sky.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the Reichsbank, who announced yesterday that the Reichsbank could not participate in the international bank for reparations because of changes in the Young plan, today was in conference with the principal delegates and members of the bank committee and it was eventually announced that he would bow to the will of the majority.

Participation Is Agreed Upon.

He agreed to participation of the Reichsbank under a procedure by which German law would be changed so as to oblige the Reichsbank to subscribe to the capital of the international institution. Thereupon the members of the government and the members of the German delegation announced that they would amend the German law so as to make it obligatory on the Reichsbank, and Dr. Schacht decided that this would cover his responsibility in the matter.

An official communique to this effect was issued at noon and this was followed by a written engagement by Dr. Moldenhauer, German finance minister. This document engages the government to see that the Reichsbank does what is necessary.

Conference Waits Final Report.

The conference, again in clear water, is waiting to wind up its affairs only for a final report of the bank committee on the trust agreement to which eleven amendments have been proposed and for an understanding as to the amount of the first installment of bonds for commercialization of the unconditional annuities.

The amount thus far mentioned was $200,000,000 but in some quarters the question was raised whether this had not better be made smaller.

Three Children Die In Burning Dwelling

Hull, Quebec, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Three children were burned to death today in a fire which destroyed their home. The dead, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Parisee, were Jean Paul, 5 years old; Paulette, 2, and Adrienne, 8 months old.

Reports of the fire said Mrs. Parisee left the children playing in the kitchen while she went to use a neighbor's telephone. When she returned she found the house in flames. She tried to enter, but was forced back.

South Carolina Banker Found Slain in Garage

Gaffney, S. C., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Maynard Smyth, 52, president of the First National Bank of Gaffney and vice president of the Gaffney Manufacturing Co., was found shot to death today in the garage at the rear of his brother's home, with whom he lived. The body was found immediately after the annual stockholders and directors' meeting of the bank, held without his presence.

There was no note to indicate suicide. A coroner's jury was called this afternoon to determine whether Mr. Smyth's death was self-inflicted or an accident. Officials declared affairs of the First National Bank are in excellent shape and offered no solution for the mystery of Mr. Smyth's death.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

THE grand old American indoor sport of passing the buck has taken on new and vigorous life. All the signs, omens and portents indicate that, if crime continues to flourish and prohibition keeps on not profibiting, the aforesaid buck will soon flit from hand to hand with the swiftness of a belated hummingbird in search of nectar. It will be polished, rubbed and eroded by friction with air and human palm until its shiny, shimmering and brilliantine gloss will catch the eye and entrance the mind of every officeholder in this liberty-losing republic.

When Mr. Hoover, for the promotion of efficiency and the dissemination of truth, appointed commissions to report on the more or less vexed and vexing questions of the day, he could not have foreseen that this step, so highly commended by big business, would give lightning-like impetus to an industry already of ancient usage among the boys afflicted with an uncontrollable impulse to side-step, set up an alibi and otherwise stand from under.

BUT news from the South gives a sickening intimation of what is going on. The resourceful, shrewd and scintillant sheriff of Duval County, Florida, has invited 50 of the up-and-coming citizens of progressive Jacksonville to confer and cooperate with him on the job of exterminating whatever crime flourishes in their midst.

What delightful possibilities that opens up! Henceforward, when a gentleman perceives the sword of political defeat hanging by the hair of public opinion over his defenseless head, he can pass the buck without taking aim or throwing a single curve ball. By creating a commission of fifty or a hundred or ten thousand citizens, he will invite them to accompany him either to the heights of fame or to the dark and abysmal depths of popular scorn.

Then, when reproached for letting crime perch on his doorstep, all he will have to say will be: "I have had the aid, help and countenance of the best minds of this, the best town in the best State in the Union. If they can't put an end to crime, crime can't be ended."

* * * *

AND that alibi will seem singularly sweet and appealing to smaller minds which inevitably drift into the machinery of a government as vast, ramified and confusing as ours. Everywhere and in a dozen octaves and seven languages will resound the martial strains of that defiant political battle hymn:

I'll shrewdly appoint some commissions
And bolster my job and my luck.
So, when cussed for mistakes and omissions,
I'll be ready to pass 'em the buck.
The distinguished American buck,
The helpful official old buck,
The eminently advertised buck
That will bring back political luck!

What better music could there be to speed the footsteps of minor officials to the tall timbers of alibi, and excuses and escape from impending doom? And as they go, the glittering and varihued old buck of responsibility will whiz its dazzling way from hand to hand so fast that its presence will be as elusive as the ends of the rainbow, and retribution will never be able to lay a heavy finger on any man's shoulder and say "To the hoosegow!"

FEDERAL OFFICIALS CHECK SPREAD OF PARROT FEVER

week, were attributed to the disease.

In Toledo, the city health commissioner is investigating three new suspected cases. The 4-year-old granddaughter of Mrs. Shields is seriously ill in Pittsburgh, and her sickness as well as that of Mrs. Shields' 18-year-old daugher, was considered likely to be psittacosis.

Dr. Charles Bolduan, of the New York Health Department, yesterday revealed the death on January 7 of a member of a Queensborough family. Four other members of this family are now seriously ill with what is thought to be the same malady.

At New Haven, Conn., Mrs. Alice Hotchkiss, 50, was reported to be in a critical condition from what was thought to be the same disease.

Daniel Houghlett, 19, son of a Baltimore woman who has been counted among reported victims of the fever, is under observation and treatment for it.

Dr. Daniel S. Hatfield, of Baltimore, said yesterday that four members of an Aberdeen, Md., family were ill with what probably was parrot's fever, while a 4-year-old girl had recovered and her two brothers and her mother were progressing.

Mrs. S. S. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kalmey, of Annapolis, first to come to the attention of medical authorities as victims of the malady, are expected to recover.

Surgeon General's Comment.

Surgeon General Cumming, of the Public Health Service, said last night he did not view the situation with alarm for the general public, but that officials were concentrating on an effort to prevent further outbreak.

Dr. George W. McCoy, director of the hygienic laboratory, again warned the public to "keep away from parrots in order to avoid possible infection."

He said he expected more cases of the disease to be reported for several days, but that the outbreak should pass shortly.

Publicity Is Praised.

"Probably additional cases not yet heard from have resulted from what appears to have been an outbreak of the disease among parrots about Christmas," Dr. McCoy said, "but after these we should hear no more of it."

One encouraging aspect of the situation, he continued, is the attention the public has given it. He said that widespread notice was worth "the work of 50 doctors" because it gave warning and should bring about precaution.

Dr. Charles Armstrong, who is in charge of a first-hand study of the outbreak, said he would attempt to coordinate available information before leaving his headquarters here for further research. Officials saw the possibility that the sickness might have sprung up among parrots after they reached the United States. They were awaiting reports from a corps of New York inspectors who started a canvass of wholesale pet shops yesterday.

Bacteria Isolation Sought.

Their chief effort will be to determine the cities in which parrots or shipments in which some are thought to have sickened or died from the fever were sold. Dr. Armstrong said he would look for a "common origin" of the illness in all cities.

Federal officials had yet to receive notice of isolation of bacteria of the fever last night. They said that reports that they had been isolated in Baltimore had been scouted by officials there. Dr. A. M. Stimson, chief of the research division of the Public Health Service, has cabled to Buenos Aires asking for cultures. The germ was first identified during the middle of the last century.

Officials are waiting returns from requests they sent to nine State officers for authoritative summaries of suspicious cases and absolute diagnoses.

eral parrots which are sick in the city, but there probably is none suffering from the disease which spreads the so-called parrot fever.

"We received a report the other day that a parrot had been received in Washington from the same shipment in which the sick birds were brought into Baltimore. Examination by the Health Department showed the bird was healthy. I see no justification for any drastic action at this time, although, as I have said, we are prepared to act at once when we discover anything that might make the situation look different."

Death Increases Mine Blast Toll to Seven

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The toll of the Straven, Ala., mine explosion reached seven today with the death of Jim Chesser, who was brought to a Birmingham hospital last night shortly after the blast.

Lamp Explosion Kills Mother and Daughter

Portsmouth, Ohio, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Fire which followed the explosion of a kerosene lamp today claimed the lives of Mrs. Goldie Boldman, 30 years old, and her 2-year-old daughter, Nellie.

The explosion occurred at the Boldman home at Duckrun, near here. Nellie was trapped in the flames that spread quickly through the house. Mrs. Boldman attempted to rescue the child but was so badly burned that she died.

LOBBYING DESCRIBED AS "SIMPLE GRAFT"

Business Men Might as Well Go to Crystal Gazer, Asserts Caraway.

REPORT MADE TO SENATE

(Associated Press.)

Lobbying activities in Washington were described to the Senate yesterday as "simple graft" by Chairman Caraway, of the lobby investigating committee, as he presented a report estimating that more than $400,000 had been expended by those interested in the pending sugar tariff controversy.

"Business men might just as well go to a palm reader or a crystal gazer and have the future of legislation foretold," Senator Caraway observed after the committee's report was read, "as to put their money in the so-called publicity agents and these lobbyists we see here in Washington."

The report absolved President Hoover of any impropriety in connection with any attempt he might have made to bring sugar interests together on a proposed sliding scale for sugar duties.

$1,000,000 Spent for Opinion.

In his speech to the Senate, Caraway said it might be safely said that $1,000,000 had been spent to influence public opinion on the sugar duties in the tariff bill.

The lobby committee a little while before had started an investigation into the activities of New York importers. It heard a denial from E. R. Pickrell, of the General Dyestuff Corporation, of New York, that he had used the office of Senator King (Democrat), Utah, as headquarters during consideration of the tariff bill.

Questioned by Senator Robinson, of Indiana, the only regular Republican on the committee, Mr. Pickrell called newspaper reports that he had used Senator King's office as headquarters untrue. He said he had written a few letters in the office, but not since September or October. He added that he had known the senator since 1922 and whenever in Washington had stopped at Senator King's office to pay his respects.

Additional Inquiry Forecast.

Additional inquiry was forecast when the committee yesterday summoned Samuel Russell, of Salt Lake City, former secretary to Senator King, to appear January 22.

Today the committee plans to continue its examination of New York importers. Thirteen have been summoned.

A tense point of the hearing yesterday came after Mr. Pickrell testified that he had discussed a proposed amendment to the chemical schedule placing fertilizer constituents on the free list with Chester Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and with Senator Robinson, of Indiana.

Robinson Becomes Aroused.

This testimony aroused Senator Robinson and, pointing a finger at the witness, he shouted:

"You were anxious to see me so you could tel somebody you had seen me. You had it brought out this morning and you mentioned me as one you had come to see in your lobbying activities."

Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, who had questioned Mr. Pickrell about the proposed amendment, explained that his questions had not been prompted by the witness.

"I never saw him until this morning," he said.

Senator Robinson added that the interview with Mr. Pickrell was "terminated almost immediately," and explained that he was for the amendment "because it puts fertilizer on the free list and will help the American farmer."

Employed by Four Firms.

Mr. Pickerell testified that he was employed by General Dye Stuff Corporation at $5,000 a year, by the Kuttroff Pickard Co. at $3,000, by the Synthetic Nitrogen Products Corporation at $3,000, and by the Agfa Ansco Co. at 1,000 a year. He denied being employed by "the German dye trust."

Referring to testimony before the lobby committee, which mentioned the White House, the committee report to the Senate said:

"It is quite likely that representatives of both the contending forces waited on the President to incline him favorably toward their views, respectively, and, the sliding solution having been proposed, he suggested that they get together in an effort to work out some plan, and in that connection informed them that he would have inquiry made into the practicability of the idea by experts of the departments.

No Impropriety Found.

"In any event, it appears from the testimony that he did cause such inquiry to be made. In all this your committee finds no impropriety nor anything open to censure or criticism."

Senator Caraway said in his Senate speech that there was no doubt that Gen. Enoch Crowder, former American Ambassador to Cuba, had been employed by the Cuban government to advocate a low sugar duty.

"Whatever this Government may desire to do about it is not material to this report," he said. "But that the Cuban government was maintaining an agency here in America financed by people who had investments in that country, and I am sure financed in part by the Cuban government directly functioning through the Cuban representative here, to influence our domstic policies, there is no doubt.

Salary Traced to No Other Source.

"There is no doubt in the world—I do not care what action may be taken about it—but that Gen. Crowder, while wearing the uniform of a major general in the United States Army, was in the employ of the Cuban government, because we can trace his salary to no other source.

"All we can find anywhere else was his expense money, and yet he devoted months to a campaign here, every indication supporting, if not absolutely establishing, the fact that he was in the employ of a foreign government, and waging a campaign to stir up Latin-American hostility to this Government.

"He was peddling what purported to be the secret plans of the general staff. I see they say that he did not disclose any official secrets. Well, he thought he did; his intention was to do so."

Lobbying Called Graft.

Referring to the activities of Washington's lobbyists, Senator Caraway said:

"The whole matter is nothing but simple graft; and it is worse than that because it preys upon the public and undertakes, if it shall succeed, in undermining the confidence of the American people in the integrity of their Government, because if they shall make the American people believe that these associations are effective, people must believe that legislation is bought and sold here in the District of Columbia and that executive action is likewise peddled like a commodity of commerce.

"I hope that the exposure of the character of people engaged in this enterprise called lobbying and the futility of it may lead the respectable business interests of the United States to the conclusion that they are throwing their money away, and therefore that they refuse longer to support the lobbyists."

Methodists Protest Innocence.

The board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church said last night in a letter to Chairman Caraway that it had never used any fund for lobbying purposes.

"Its so-called legislative interests are exceedingly limited," the letter said, "as indicated by the term 'public morals,' and are advanced, if and when possible, by methods which are open and above board, constantly subjected to the fierce light of publicity and used under the protection of constitutional guarantees of petition free press, free speech and public assembly. As a matter of fact its legislative contacts are infrequent and casual."

The communication bore the names of William Fraser McDowell, president of the board, and Clarence True Wilson, its general secretary, and referred to charges made by Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, several months ago. Tinkham sought to have the activities of the board investigated.

BORAH OPPOSES BOOST

given independence, but I do not expect it is going to happen in my time and I doubt if it will happen at all. American capital is going in there and American property is claiming protection of the American flag. We have the Philippines, and they are going to remain as they are in the same position toward the United States long beyond the life of any farmer engaged in raising sugar beets."

Copeland Favors Bounty.

Borah said he knew of no argument against tariff autonomy for the Philippines.

"However," he added, "in my opinion it is as far removed as a practical proposition as is Philippine independence."

Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, who drew an opinion from Borah that a bounty would be constitutional, said he favored a more liberal bounty than that of three-quarters of a cent a pound proposed by Senator Howell (Republican Independent), Nebraska.

Besides a reduced tariff rate, the New Yorker said he would be more inclined to vote for a bounty of one or one and a quarter cents.

"We could do that and justify our action if at the same time we lowered the present tariff," he declared.

Howell told Copeland he did not intend to ask for a vote on his bounty proposal until after the Senate records itself on the pending substitute of Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi.

Proposes Rate of 2.20 Cents.

Providing for retention of existing tariffs. The final committee majority has proposed a rate on Cuban raw sugar of 2.20 cents a pound, as compared with 1.76 in the present law and 2.40 in the House measure.

Senator Harrison made his second speech yesterday against the proposed increase.

"The whip has been cracked from higher up to get this increase," he asserted, adding that people grew "suspicious" when "key positions" on the tariff making committee were given to those interested in a particular commodity.

Addressing his appeal particularly to Republicans of the East, the Mississippian recalled the 1922 votes of senators from those States against a higher sugar tariff and said:

"There are men waiting to get your scalps in the coming elections in your party and in mine."

Hawes Opposes Both.

Senator Hawes (Democrat), Missouri, opposed either a higher duty or a bounty and said the finance committee proposal would add $2,035,000 annually to Missouri citizens' sugar bill.

Making his first formal address since he came to the Senate, Senator Brock, a Tennessee Democrat, and a candy manufacturer in private life, expressed opposition to a higher levy despite the fact, he said, that his company would make more money under higher sugar prices.

He added that his interest in the masses was such that "to cast my vote conscientiously, I must first consider their interest over that which would be my personal gain."

Youth and Girl Accused Of Murdering Recluse

Montreal, Quebec, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Provincial police today arrested Ray Coutland, 22, and Laura White, 19, and later revealed details allegedly told them by the prisoners of the of 72-year-old Mark Ward, of Richelieu, Quebec, January 8. The girl, police stated, made a statement that Courtland had killed the old man following a quarrel. This story, police said, was substantiated by Courtland.

Much of Ward's property was found concealed on the premises where the arrests were made, chief Dorais announced. The girl's confession stated they had lived with Ward, who was virtually a recluse, for about two weeks. Then quarrels occurred, caused, she said, by attempts on Ward's part to overwork them.

SINCLAIR IS NAMED AUDITOR FOR COURT

Attorney General's Special Assistant to Replace G. F. Williams.

HAS WON MANY HONORS

A. Leftwich Sinclair, special assistant to the Attorney General, yesterday was named auditor of the District of Columbia Supreme Court to succeed George Francis Williams, who resigned Monday after holding the position for more than a year. Mr. Williams succeded Herbert L. Davis. The appointment of Mr. Sinclair was made by the justices of the court at a general term.

Mr. Sinclair was born December 1, 1871, at Bedford, Va., his parents being Arthur G. and Carrie V. Leftwich Sinclair. He was educated in the public schools of the District and at the Georgetown University Law School. Following his graduation at that institution he pursued a postgraduate course at the same university, winning the degree of LL.B. and LL.M during 1893 and 1894. He was admitted to the District of Columbia bar in 1894.

Following that Mr. Sinclair became an assistant corporation counsel, a post which he held from 1899 until 1905. In 1905 he became special counsel for the District and continued in that position until 1911. While special counsel he was in charge of all suits for damages brought against the District as a result of the construction of the Terminal Railroad Station.

Mr. Sinclair was named to the District of Columbia Rent Commission by President Wilson in 1919 and was reappointed by President Harding in 1921. Between 1921 and 1923 he was chairman of the commission.

In addition to his legal activities, Mr. Sinclair also has been interested in civic organizations. In 1917 and 1918 he was president of the Washington Chamber of Comerce. He has been interested in many of the inaugural celebrations and was a prime factor in draft work during the World War.

Second Dry Agent Held Guilty in Bribery Case

Milwaukee, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The second conviction of former Federal prohibition agents in two days was returned by a Federal court jury today in the case of Henry G. Strawn. He was found guilty of accepting bribes from saloon keepers in Green Bay. Ben Finke, also a former agent, was convicted on a similar charge yesterday.

United States District Attorney Levi Bancroft, in his final argument to the jury, declared Strawn should be convicted on his own admission that he received $500 of "corrupt money." "Enforcement of prohibition is a hopeless task if men of this type are permitted to enforce it," he said.

LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ASSEMBLY TO VISIT ARLINGTON TODAY

PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The General Assembly, numbering more than 200, together with Gov. Harry F. Byrd and Governor-elect Pollard, having accepted the invitation, to visit Arlington County, extended them by State Senator Frank L. Ball on behalf of the chambers of commerce of Alexandria City and Arlington and Fairfax Counties. An elaborate program of entertainment is being prepared, according to an announcement last night by President Keith A. Brumback, of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce.

The group will leave Richmond by buses, which have been furnished the chambers of commerce by several of the bus companies of the State, Friday morning at 9 o'clock, arriving in Arlington County about 12:30 o'clock.

The program as given out last night by Henry C. Morris, chairman of the committee on arrangements and who is being assisted by William S. Hoge, Jr., Keith A. Brumback, Ashton C. Jones, Guy N. Church and C. W. Clever, from Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, and Fred Goodnow, of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, is as follows: Reaching Arlington County, the party will proceed to the Arlington National Cemetery, where Gov. Pollard, who becomes governor today, will place a wreath upon the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. From there they will go to the Washington Golf and Country Club, where they will be luncheon guests of the members of the Arlington and Fairfax Chambers of Commerce. Leaving the club about 2 o'clock, they will make a tour of the area which will be discussed at the meeting of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Completing the tour, the group will go to the George Mason Hotel, at Alexandria, where dinner will be served prior to going to Washington to attend the evening meeting of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission to be held in Constitutional Hall.

The committee will hold a special meeting in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce in the Rees Building at Clarendon at 10 o'clock today, at which further plans will be completed.

County Treasurer E. Wade Ball announced yesterday that a check for $7,123.18 has been received from the State for Arlington County's share of the gasoline tax for the month of December, 1929.

The County Board of Supervisors will hold its monthly meeting today at the courthouse, with Edward Duncan presiding.

The Organized Women Voters of Arlington County will have its special jail committee, of which Mrs. Crandal MacKey is chairman, together with a large delegation from the organization, appear before the board in the interest of a new county jail. The committee, it is reported, will ask that the board include in its budget for the new year, effective July 1, 1930, an appropriation for the erection of a new jail.

The question of the alleged bill for more than $10,000, said to be due the county for the installation of water and sewer in the Waycroft subdivision, being developed by the Arlington Investment Corporation, will again come up before the board.

Since its last meeting it is learned that there has been a meeting of the board of directors of the corporation and that J. E. Spaulding, chairman of the board, will appear before the supervisors and make a report on the question.

The matter was first brought to the attention of the supervisors by the Commonwealth's attorney at its meeting about a month ago.

Norbert Melnick, noble grand of Arlington Lodge, No. 193, I. O. O. F., at the meeting held last night at the Odd Fellows Hall in Clarendon, announced the appointment of the following standing committees: Bulletin committee, W. S. Schantholtz, chairman; B. F. Wiltshire and Benjamin Jones; constitution and by-laws, C. P. Hines, chairman; E. W. Newman and Thomas S. O'Halloran; hall repairs, J. B. Swecker, chairman; C. F. Edwards, W. C. Clever and George H. McCrillis; entertainment, R. B. Tucker, chairman; W. E. Willis and W. H. Whipp; instruction, E. W. Newman, chairman, and Walter B. Huffman; publicity, Frank Davis, chairman, and Walter B. Huffman; legal advisory, Thomas S. O'Halloran, chairman; Frank Davis, C. P. Hines and E. W. Newman; financial, Dr. B. H. Swain, chairman; J. W. Myers and H. P. Graul; regalia, J. W. Myers, chairman; W. E. Clever and Emery Hosmer; banquet, C. J. Ives, chairman; W. S. Schantholtz and Walter B. Huffman.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the barn and two trucks, the property of Harry Whitehead, at Arlington, at an early hour yesterday morning.

Fire companies from Ballston, Falls Church, Arlington, Cherrydale, Clarendon and Alexandria responded.

The damage was estimated at $2,000.

Gaining the united support of the doctors in the county, the campaign which has been launched to wipe out tuberculosis in Arlington County was taking active shape, according to an announcement given out last night by County Health Officer P. M. Chichester.

Working in cooperation with the county health department, Miss Marian Gray, who has come into the county as one of the field workers of the State Tuberculosis Association, will make an active field survey of the county, after which special clinics will be held in each of the three health centers in the county. These clinics will be conducted by Dr. H. A. Latane, who will be assisted by the county nurses.

The newly organized men's association of St. George's Episcopal Church will hold a meeting tomorrow night in the parish hall at 8 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. Henry J. Miller, will deliver a special address to the men.

The ladies of the Clarendon Presbyterian Church announce they will serve a dinner tomorrow evening from 5 to 7:30 o'clock at the church.

Pleading not guilty to a charge of violation of the county speed laws, A. W. McPherson was fined $14.25 in Police Court yesterday by Judge Harry R. Thomas. He noted an appeal. He was released on $500 bond until the February term of the Circuit Court.

Noel O. Wood, pleading guilty to a similar charge, was fined $14.25, including costs, by Judge Thomas.

Election of officers will be the principal business which will come before the meeting of the Lyon Village Woman's Club, to be held tonight at the home of Mrs. C. I. Buchanan.

The Arlington Trust Company will hold its annual meeting and election of officers at the bank building in Rosslyn tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

At the congregational meeting of St. George's Episcopal Church, held last night, the following members were elected to the vestry: William Friess, C. T. Oliver, Dr. W. C. Welburn, D. H. Rhodes, H. B. Gilbert, E. K. Kloman, William M Stone, A. T. Stone, G. T. Taylor, Fred T. Johnson, E. A. Meade and T. B. Anderson.

Following the election the vestry held its organization meeting resulting in the election of the following officers: H. B. Gilbert, senior warden; D. H. Rhodes, junior warden; E. A. Meade, registrar and E. K. Kloman, treasurer.

An invitation dance will be held under the auspices of the Edward Douglas White Council Knights of Columbus tonight in the auditorium of St. Charles School. Music will be furnished by Russ Hendley and his orchestra.

ROAD WIDENING HALT RAPPED BY CHAMBER

Alexandria Commerce Body Sends Protest Against Change in Plan.

LEE SHRINE FUND AIDED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has adddessed a letter of protest to the State highway commission against the action of the commission in halting the widening of the river road between Alexandria and Washington, at the new city limits at Four Mile Run, instead of continuing the improvement to the corporate limits of Alexandria at Washington street extended and Columbus street, which was the line at the time the allocation of funds for the improvement was made, and for some seven or eight months after.

The protest of the commerce body sets forth that funds for this work, so urgently needed and repeatedly asked for by Alexandria city officials, were allocated during the early part of 1929, but for some unknown reason the contract, which could have been let in May or June, was not awarded until the end of the year, when a portion of this road was about to be taken into the corporate limits of Alexandria.

The letter further states that in view of the fact that Alexandria paid $70,000 in interest in connection with the improvement of the road from Alexandria to Fairfax Court House, and spent $40,000 on the bridge and approach to connect the Washington-Richmond highway with the City of Alexandria, both matters of great public importance to others as well as to the city, the directors feel that, in all fairness, the entire work on this road should have been done with the funds allocated, or that the work should have been done on the south end of the road between the north end of the railroad bridge and Four Mile Run.

The highway commission allocated $80,000 for improving this road for a distance of approximately 4 miles, and the money to become available immediately after July 1, 1929. The awarding of the contract was delayed, however, and when it was finally placed, the amount of the contract was approximately $79,000, or virtually the total amount allocated for the entire stretch of 4 miles is to be expended on a 2-mile stretch of road.

Alexandrians generally feel that the road could have been completed as originally planned before the annexation became effective, January 1, and that this should have been done, since the interest of the highway commission in the project was enlisted by Mayor William Albert Smoot, working in conjunction with the local chamber of commerce, and it was to Mayor Smoot that Chairman Shirley, of the highway commission, first gave his assurance that the money would be allocated and the work done as expeditiously as possible.

The State law now precludes expenditures of State road funds within the limits of incorporated towns or cities. It is understood an attempt is to be made at the present session of the legislature to change this condition so as to permit State improvement and maintenance of State highways through cities and towns, when they are a direct link in the highway system, as in this case.

Mrs. Minnegerode Andrews addressed the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club last night in the interest of the campaign to raise funds for the purchase and restoration of Stratford, birthplace of Robert E. Lee as a national shrine, she said that in restoring a place like Stratford a great man was being honored and in these campaigns the life of such a man was made familiar to a public that might never learn otherwise of the greatness of his life and character.

Mrs. Robert Miller Reese, local director for the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation, was also a guest of the club and told many interesting points about Stratford, and read excerpts from letters written by Gen. Lee shortly after the close of the war of 1861-1865, telling of his love for the place and his desire to be able to again live there.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will assist in the campaign to raise funds in this city and Mrs. Rathbone Smith and Miss Alice Whitton will have charge of the headquarters at 717 King street on Thursday, the club day.

Mrs. Albert M. Briggs, of Braddock, was elected to membership, and the resignation of Miss Vera Germon as corresponding secretary and also as a club member was accepted with regret. Miss Alice Gronau was appointed to fill the place.

Announcement was made of the gift of a file case for club records from Mrs. Evelyn Dillard. The club voted a donation of $15 to the high school for a school library. A letter was read from Troop 3, Girl Scouts, Miss Kathleen Douglass, captain, thanking the club for the gift of emergency kits.

The treasurer was instructed to fulfill the club's pledge and sent $100 to the Gadsby's Tavern Fund. Miss Alice Whitton, public relations chairman, will arrange for the observance of national thrift week, January 17 to 23.

The only musical number was a solo by Miss Sue Risheill, accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Book.

The camp received an invitation from the Daughters of the Confederacy, in Washington, to attend the ceremony of placing a wreath on the statue of Gen. Lee in statuary hall in the Capitol, Sunday, January 19, at 3 o'clock.

Mount Vernon Council No. 1, Daughters of America, has installed its newly elected officers, the ceremonies being conducted by Mrs Mae Lane, State deputy. The officers installed were Willard Robey, councilor; Mrs. Ardelia Pearson, associate vice counsellor; Mrs. Jennie Fones, warden; Miss Irene Pearson, conductor; Mrs. Stella Bland, inside sentinel; Miss Susie Pearson, outside sentinel, and Miss Hilda Bland, pianist.

Today is the last day for automobile owners to secure their 1930 license tags, the time limit expiring at midnight tonight, and those who operate their cars on 1929 tags after that time will be subject to arrest, either here or in Washington.

J. Frank Carlin, distributor for this district, has issued approximately 3,000 sets of tags for passenger cars, 400 for trucks and 50 for convertibles, but he estimates that there are several hundred owners who have not yet secured the tags, and a large number of these will probably lay up their cars temporarily.

Members of the Alexandria Light Infantry who will participate in the inaugural parade of Gov. John Garland Pollard in Richmond today spent the night in the armory last night and entrained a 6:30 o'clock this morning over the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad. They will return after the parade tonight.

Funds for the participation of the local company in the parade were supplied by an appropriation made by the City Council, augmented by the company fund.

Capt. W. Cameron Roberts is in command, with First Lieut. W. Milton Glasgow and Second Lieut. John S. Arnold. Forty enlisted men comprise the company.

DEFENSE PREPARES CASE

Developments of a sensational nature in the Seat Pleasant bombing of New Year's Day are believe to have been foreshadowed by a secret conference held last night in the office of State's Attorney J. Frank Parran.

The conference followed equally mysterious movements on the part of the State's Attorney and his associate, former State's Attorney J. Wilson Ryon, in the earlier part of the day. Coupled with the mystery attached to the conference and the fact that the developments were considered of enough importance to bring Sheriff Charles F. Early back to Upper Marlboro from his home in Brandywine was the nonchalant attitude of the prosecutors as they returned from their mysterious afternoon jaunt.

Parran and Ryon disappeared shortly after noon yesterday and did not reappear until 7 o'clock in the evening when they returned to the Hotel Marlboro for dinner. Their faces wreathed with smiles as they were pounced upon by waiting newspapermen, who had learned meanwhile that they had been closeted with Mrs. Leroy Brady, wife of the man charged with the bombing.

Mrs. Brady, it was learned, had been brought to the courthouse from the jail, where she is held as a witness, in the automobile of Sheriff Early.

Defense Prepares Case.

Attorneys representing Lawrence Leroy Brady, 26, a Washington automobile mechanic, charged with murder in connection with the bombing of the Hall home in Seat Pleasant, which took the lives of three persons and seriously injured three others, yesterday were preparing for the preliminary hearing to b held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock before Justice of the Peace H. W. Gore.

A previous preliminary hearing was postponed when Herman Brady, 22, brother of Leroy and husband of Naomi Hall Brady, who was killed in the blast, refused to testify unless he were granted immunity from future prosecution.

Herman, who had been held for investigation since he signed a statement which detectives said implicated Leroy, was released on bond Monday after he had agreed to testify tomorrow.

M. Hampton Magruder, attorney for Herman Brady, said last night that no legal technicalities would be invoked that might slow up the proceedings.

Magruder conceded that Leroy Brady would be held for the grand jury after tomorrow's hearing. It is expected that if this happens, he will attempt to obtain a writ of habeas corpus for Leroy's release, that is, providing the evidence against him is not too strong.

Man Reports Wife Bound and Gagged

Maryland Park Resident Says One Assailant Is Recognized.

George T. Brashear, of Maryland Park, near Seat Pleasant, reported to Maryland State police that upon his return home last night he founld his wife, Mamie, lying in the floor, bound and gagged.

Mr. Brashear said his wife told him she had been overpowered by two men who entered by the rear door, and later ransacked the house. She believed the men were sarching for a contract which she had hidden in the house. Mr. Brashear said the men departed without taking anything.

Mrs. Brashear said she recognized one of them as a man who had come to the home several times recently looking for her husband.

Community Group Talks Auditorium for School

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., Jan. 14.—At a meeting of the Purcellville Community League held at the schoolhouse here, the addition of an auditorium to the schoolhouse was discussed.

The following committee was appointed to investigate the matter and confer with the school board: Harvey Ball, chairman; Mrs. Archie Speer and Mrs. J. S. Bowen. Members of the league are rehearsing the comedy, "An Adopted Cinderella," which will be given the latter part of January.

50-Cent Rum Sale Invokes Jones Law

Two-Year Prison Term for Transaction Upheld by Appeals Court.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The Jones law was held applicable to the sale o ftwo drinks of liquor for 50 cents and a two-year prison term therefor upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here today.

Frank Ross, restaurant owner of Elm Grove, Ohio County, W. Va., accused of making the 50-cent sale, must serve a two-year prison term "at hard labor" under the ruling.

Judge Edmund Waddill, jr., senior circuit judge, dissented to the majority finding of Judge Elliott Northcutt and Judge John J. Parker, stating: "The Jones act was primarily intended to reach and prevent violations of the law conducted on a large scale, not merely petty offenses such as this case confessedly involve—a sale of two drinks costing 50 cents."

Judge Waddill asserted the $1,000 fine and six months maximum penalty in the 1919 prohibition act was enough in the case. The case was brought up from the district court at Wheeling, W. Va.

EDUCATION SESSION PROGRAM OUTLINED

U. S. Commissioner Cooper to Address Congress of Parents and Teachers.

OTHER NOTABLES LISTED

Dr. William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, will address the National Congress of Parents and Teachers May 19, at Denver, Colo., and assist in developing the theme of the convention, "The New World Challenge to Parents and Teachers," the program committee of the congress announced yesterday at its meeting at the Martinique Hotel, 1211 Sixteenth street northwest.

In addition to Commissioner Cooper, numerous nationally known educators, including Dr. George K. Pratt and Newell W. Edson, of New York; Dr. Franklin G. Ebaugh, of the Colorado Psychopathic Hospital of Denver, and Dr. Ada Hart Arlitt, of the department of child care and training, University of Cincinnati, will lecture and lead discussions on various parent and teacher problems. The congress will be held May 17 to 23.

Education of Parents.

Dr. Arlitt is scheduled to present useful methods of parent education to be used in parent-teacher meetings, and expects to show just how to organize efficient study groups; how to use the resources of the community, and how to obtain and use the various material available, as well as how to finance and administer such study groups. She also will give a lecture-discussion presentation of "Discipline."

The congress will be opened with a half-day conference on parent education in the churches, under the direction of Dr. Valeria Parker, of New York, the program committee, composed of the national officers of the organization, decided yesterday.

Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones, seventh vice president, of Macon, Ga., will sponsor a conference on health, which will include a clinical demonstration of methods of correcting personality disorders of the normal child. In this demonstration she will be assisted by Dr. Ebaugh, Dr. Pratt and Mr. Edson.

Others in Attendance.

Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, is chairman of the program committee, and other national officers who attended the meeting here include Mrs. E. C. Mason, first vice president; Mrs. Hugh Bradford, third vice president; Mrs. Louis DeValliere, fourth vice president; Mrs. Herbert Chaffee, sixth vice president; Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones, seventh vice president; Dr. Ada Hart Arlitt, manager of the bureau of parent education; Mrs. J. E. Hayes, acting manager of the bureau of publicity; J. E. Morgan, manager of the bureau of publications; Mrs. C. H. West, chairman of exhibits; Mrs. Frederick Hosmer, convention chairman; J. W. Faust, of the exhibit committee; and Mrs. Giles Scott Rafter, president of the District of Columbia Parent-Teachers Congress and chairman of recreation.

In addition to Mrs. Rafter, other Washington women who attended the meeting were Miss C. O. Williams, national chairman of school education; Miss Florence Ward, manager of the bureau of rural life; Mrs. A. C. Watkins, executive secretary of the congress; Miss Frances Hays, extension secretary; and Mrs. C. E. Roe and Mrs. E. C. Kendall, field secretaries.

Kathleen Norris To Run for Post

Will Become Candidate as Head of American Pen Women.

Kathleen Norris, well-known novelist, of Saratoga, Calif., has accepted an invitation to become a candidate for the national presidency of the League of American Pen Women, and her election at the biennial convention of the league to be held here April 21 to 25 is confidently predicted by Mrs. Clarence N. Busch, the incumbent president.

Mrs. Busch personally urged Mrs. Norris to make herself available as a candidate and yesterday received a letter from the novelist accepting the invitation. In announcing the acceptance, Mrs. Busch stated that Mrs. Norris is one of the most popular members of the league, which has branches throughout the country, and she predicted that Mrs. Norris would be unanimously elected.

Mrs. Norris is a native of San Francisco and the wife of Maj. Charles Gilman Norris, also an author and an editor. She was educated by private teachers and at the University of California, and in 1910 began writing short stories.

Drug Trial Hears Nutt's Son Testify

U.S. Narcotic Enforcement Head's Scion Grilled in New York.

New York, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The grand jury investigating the activities of three rings said to control the illicit drug trade in Manhattan and the Bronx today heard testimony from the son of the United States' chief narcotic enforcement officer.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle declined to explain the presence in the grand jury room of Rolland Nutt, of Washington, D. C., son of Col. L. G. Nutt, head of the Federal narcotic enforcement, or that of Gottlieb Haneke, an associate of Col. Nutt's son-in-law, L. P. Mattingly. It was said, however, that Mr. Nutt and Mr. Haneke, after being questioned together for half an hour, were instructed to return tomorrow.

A third witness, whose identity was not revealed, also was questioned today and several others were waiting in the anteroom. The grand jury is endeavoring to determine how the rings managed to operate in New York and elsewhere.

Cotton Market Not Hurt By Shortened Skirts

(Associated Press.)

A theory that short skirts and discarding of petticoats by women in recent years had a bearish influence on the cotton market was discounted in testimony yesterday before a Senate committee investigating the exchanges.

Relating how he checked up on the question, Arthur R. Marsh, former president of the New York Exchange, told the committee he asked his wife to "dig out some old petticoats and whatnots" and that on the basis of her calculations he found the average woman wore 5 ounces of these coverings.

"Abandonment of petticoats," he said, "accounted for only 60,000,000 pounds of consumption of cotton, which was a mere bagatelle."

Marsh told Senator Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, who advocates wearing of cotton clothes in summer to increase consumption, that he might be "disappointed" in the amount that would be used.

Race Segregation Law Held Invalid

Richmond Can Not Restrict Negro Residences, U. S. Court Rules.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The race segregation ordinance of Richmond was declared unconstitutional today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in an opinion which sustained the decision of Judge B. Lawrence Groner in the United States District Court last fall.

The decision given today followed the city's appeal in which it was contended that the municipality had the right to restrict residence of the races.

Lucius P. Cary, assistant city attorney, who has directed the city's case, stated today that the city would carry the case to the United States Supreme Court of Appeals.

The specific case is that of the City of Richmond against J. B. Deans, local Negro property owner, who was denied the right to reside in a home owned by him in a district set aside for the residence of whites under the segregation ordinance. The city contends that the segregation ordinance is based on the Virginia racial integrity act.

Taft Leaves City For Rest in South

Chief Justice Is Cheerful as He Takes Train for Asheville.

(Associated Press.)

Chief Justice Taft entrained for Asheville, N. C., last night, for a rest to recuperate his strength from weakness induced by bladder trouble. He had passed the last week undergoing treatment at Garfield Hospital.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Taft, Dr. Thomas A. Claytor, his regular physician, and a nurse.

The Chief Justice walked to the train with an easy stride through the long concourse at the station. He did not seem to tire.

Mr. Taft was in cheerful mood and appeared materially improved since his return ten days ago from his brother's funeral at Cincinnati. He said he hoped the balmy air which he expected to find at Asheville would in a few weeks restore his strength and permit him to resume his judicial duties.

Dr. Claytor will remain with the Chief Justice at Asheville only long enough to give suggestions to the physician who will attend him there.

"Those who finance building operations know that Copper, Brass and Bronze are important factors in minimizing depreciation"...

ARTHUR LEHMAN

ARTHUR LEHMAN
Partner in the Firm of Lehman Brothers, Investment Bankers, New York.

A HOME that is protected against depreciation is a prime investment for its owner. One that depreciates rapidly is more like a losing speculation. Bankers appreciate this vital truth. That is why such men as Arthur Lehman advise you to build for permanency, with Copper, Brass and Bronze.

Brass or Copper pipe, Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures do not depreciate in value or service. These metals cannot rust. They serve without repair or replacement for generations. When you build or buy, be sure to specify them.

Their presence adds appreciably to the value and permanence of any structure, whether it be skyscraper or modest home.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A bill is already under consideration in the House, providing for the transfer of prohibition enforcement machinery from the Treasury to the Department of Justice. All attorneys, officers and agents in the Prohibition Bureau of the Treasury are to be transferred to the jurisdiction of the Attorney General, who is given all the enforcement powers now possessed by the Secretary of the Treasury. The Attorney General is given power to prosecute violations of the revenue laws as well as violations of the prohibition act. Provision is made for retaining in the Treasury a bureau charged with enforcement of the narcotic law and the law relating to industrial alcohol.

One of the questions that may arise is whether United States district attorneys and their staffs will enforce prohibition more effectively than the civil service staff that has been built up in the Treasury. The personnel of the Prohibition Bureau of the Treasury has been steadily improving. Politics is less potent in prohibition enforcement than it has been. The Treasury is a vast business machine which aims solely at enforcement of the laws. District attorneys, however, usually reach their places by a political route, and local influences sway them to a considerable degree.

A pessimistic forecast of the result of the proposed change is that the Attorney General will become the "goat" in the forthcoming intensified effort to accomplish country-wide prohibition enforcement. The eyes of the country will be upon the Department of Justice from the time the change is made. The campaign could be wrecked by inexperienced and corrupt agents, and the blame, of course, would fall directly upon the head of the department. But Attorney General Mitchell is an exceptionally capable executive. It is to be presumed that he will devote special attention to the character of men hereafter to be appointed United States attorneys.

The tightening of enforcement will inevitably increase the tension that prevails throughout the country on the liquor question. In States where there is no enforcement act, and where public sentiment opposes prohibition, serious difficulties may be expected. But in the circumstances there is but one course which the Government can pursue. It must do its best to enforce the law, without regard to the possibility of mass opposition in some States. Thoughtful citizens look with foreboding upon the prospect that lies ahead, but no law-abiding citizen will on any account throw obstacles in the path of the Government.

Taking into consideration the attitude of the States, it seems to be inevitable that conditions will become worse before they will become better, through more general acceptance of the law or through modification of the Volstead act and the enactment of State enforcement laws. The Attorney General of the United States is about to undertake one of the most difficult tasks ever assigned to an officer of the Government.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

Senator Capper traces many a social evil to the laxity of marriage and divorce laws in the States. Some States permit the feebleminded to marry. One State does not grant divorces on any ground. Others permit the marriage relation to be broken by the ill-temper of a husband or wife. On the whole, divorces are increasing at a rapid rate without much being done about it.

Two remedies are suggested by the Kansas senator: First, a movement for uniform laws in the States and the District of Columbia, and second, an amendment to the Constitution giving Congress authority to enact national marriage and divorce laws. He advocates the latter remedy, and has introduced a resolution for that purpose in the Senate.

As to Senator Capper's diagnosis, he will find a large following. Many different surveys have shown how inadequate and antiquated are the laws of some States on this subject. But a majority may differ with the senator on his choice of remedy. The existence of lax divorce laws in any State is no reason for extending Federal authority over matters that are within the exclusive rights of the States. Those legislatures which have already enacted excellent marriage and divorce legislation would resent the attempt to bring their laws to a common standard. States which have paid little attention to up-to-date legislation of this kind would frown upon any encroachment by Congress.

Certain amendments which have transferred rights belonging to the States to the Federal Government have involved the country in such turmoil and dissension that the people are not likely to surrender any further prerogatives in this generation. The more direct method of dealing with marriage and divorce reform is through the State Legislatures.

MEXICAN-CANADIAN QUOTAS.

Chairman Albert Johnson, of the House immigration committee, and Representative John C. Box, ranking minority member of that committee, have introduced bills to restrict emigration from Canada and the Latin-American countries to a quota of 50,000 per year. These two immigration experts have heretofore been at odds on the question. Now that they have pledged support to the common cause of curbing the influx of aliens over neighboring borders, legislation of some kind may be expected.

In spite of the drastic restrictions placed on European and Asiatic countries, Congress has not limited the nations of this hemisphere to immigration quotas. As a result these nations furnish about 42 per cent of the number of immigrants admitted annually. Last year 116,117 aliens of this class crossed the borders chiefly from Mexico and Canada. A considerable share of them were previously immigrants to Canada and Mexico, and used those countries as a medium of transit to the United States. All emigrants are accustomed to lower standards of wages than those prevailing in this country, and have therefore become a menace to American standards of living.

It is not proposed that the American nations shall be placed on quotas corresponding to those of European countries. Mr. Johnson has worked out his bill on a scale which would admit three emigrants for every citizen of the United States who goes abroad to live. No nation can complain at such a liberal arrangement. On the other hand, there is every reason why the other countries of the Western Hemisphere should cooperate in carrying out the purposes of this measure. All Latin America and Canada are in need of more population. The United States does not need it. As pointed out in the last annual report of Secretary of Labor Davis, it should be considered an act of friendship on the part of the United States to help other American countries keep their population.

It would be unfortunate to have this proposed legislation considered as a desire of the United States to isolate itself from the rest of the Americas. Why can not the subject be approached through agreement with the nations concerned? A proper solution on this basis would strengthen the ties of friendship with the neighboring countries and serve the interests of all.

BASIC LAW CHANGES.

Interest in the bills offered the Legislature of New York by the State crime commission is not confined to that State. The recommendations of this commission are followed by many other States and often influence legislation far beyond the boundaries of New York. Deficiencies which the commission is trying to remedy exist throughout the country.

Two bills are directed against the growing evil of perjury. One would allow a prosecutor to impeach the testimony of his own witness when that witness turns hostile on the stand and reverses his previous statements. Another would make "false swearing" a crime without interfering with the existing perjury law. It has been found that conviction of perjury is difficult, and that delay makes this method of counteracting false testimony impractical. It is believed that the new weapon of "false swearing," which would be a misdemeanor, may prove more effective.

Another bill is designed to restore the right of judges to control trials instead of acting as a mere referee for opposing attorneys. This would be accomplished by giving judges authority to comment on testimony and on the character of witnesses, so that the jury will obtain greater insight into the truth of the case. A fourth bill would allow the district attorney to call attention of the jury to any failure of defendants to testify in their own behalf. Under present statutes defendants may remain quiet without creating a legal presumption against them. The commission believes nothing could be more out of harmony with the modern conception of justice.

A constitutional amendment is sponsored by the commission to allow defendants to waive jury trial in favor of trial by a judge. This is designed chiefly to accommodate those who would rather trust a judge, and to speed up the work of the courts.

None of these proposed reforms is new. Each has been investigated from every angle and is supported and opposed by eminent jurists. If New York enacts them into its law, other States will watch the experiment with keen interest.

THE BAG-LIMIT BILL.

If a simple announcement by the Department of Agriculture that it intends to reduce bag limits on ducks and geese next season were enough to restore the vanishing wild fowl of America, Congress could afford to tuck the McNary-Haugen bag-limit bill into a pigeonhole and forget the matter. Unhappily, six years' delay in doing what should have been done in 1924 has produced a situation both in wild-fowl depletion and in the Biological Survey that renders such a simple solution impossible.

The bag-limit question arose in December, 1923, when the Advisory Board to the Secretary of Agriculture, sportsmen and conservationists voted down a resolution to recommend a limit of 15 ducks per day in place of 25. Since then 29 States have reduced their limits below the Federal limit.

In December, 1926, the Advisory Board reversed its position, voting 16 to 2 in favor of the reduction. Some weeks later Dr. Nelson, chief of the Biological Survey, announced informally that he would make the reduction, but he did not do so. He reaffirmed the old limits, and soon afterward resigned. His successor, Dr. Redington, announced that he would take a duck census. This census, as a guide to action, was just about as necessary as a count of the starlings on Pennsylvania avenue. But for three years the census has been going on, and for three years an indefensible bag limit has been perpetuated, against the advice of the Advisory Board.

Two months ago the chairmen of the Senate and House agricultural committees, Senator McNary and Representative Haugen, introduced a bill to reduce bag limits. Its passage appeared certain. Then the Biological Survey without waiting to complete its duck census announced that bag limits would be reduced next April by departmental order.

But the preservation of ducks and geese can not be made certain by a revocable order. It should be made effective by law. Such a law would protect the Biological Survey against pressure on this particular issue, and would provide moral backing for other steps that must be taken if wild fowl are to be saved.

If the London conference would refer all problems to those old salts, Charlie Adams and Sir Tom Lipton, there would be an agreement in no time or a mighty fine race.

Now that Thad Caraway has absolved President Hoover from all complicity in lobbying, it is up to the great coordinate branches to coordinate again.

Ninety-eight out of every 100 persons, says Dr. S. Huebner, of the University of Pennsylvania, are "financially incompetent." The other two, it seems, keep the country prosperous.

The House proposes to cut out the word "applause" in reports of speeches. Now if it will cut out "applesauce" the Record can be reduced. What this country demands is reduction, not limitation!

PARROT FEVER

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Psittacosis (pronounced sit-ak-o-sis) is a disease or malady of parrots and is communicable to man, in whom the onset is marked by high fever and other symptoms analogous to those of typhoid fever. Unlike typhoid fever, auscultation in psittacosis reveals to the physician signs of a severe atypical (irregular) pneumonia.

In 1879 Ritter believed that a house epidemic of pneumonia observed by him might have been due to infectious material in the cage of freshly imported parrots. Ost, in 1882, and Wagner in 1882-86, described similar epidemics. The diseases, however, did not attract general interest until after the Paris epidemics of 1882 and 1883. In the epidemic of 1892 there were 49 cases with 16 deaths. The cause of the epidemic was supposed to have been due to the importation and subsequent disposition of a lot of South American parrots. A large number of them died of enteritis on the voyage and of the remainder many were sick. Twenty-six days after the arrival of the parrots the first case appeared, occurring in each instance in homes where one or more of the infected birds had been sent. The disease developed often simultaneously in several members of the household soon after the arrival of the parrots.

Banti, Palamidessi and others reported in 1894-95 house epidemics in Italy that were associated with the importation of parrots. An epidemic of psittacosis in Cologne in 1898 was reported by Leichtenstern. There were ten cases of the disease with four deaths. Vickery described in the Medical News, New York, three cases which occurred in New Hampshire in 1904.

In the epidemic in Paris in 1893 a bacillus was isolated by Nocard from the dried wings of parrots dead of psittacosis. He showed that the organism named was very pathogenic for parrots, pigeons, fowls and laboratory animals. He also found that healthy parrots could be infected by putting dried wings of the dead birds into their cages. Nocard's bacillus belongs to the hog-cholera group, and is said to be very similar in its cultural characteristics to the typhoid bacillus. Gilbert and Fournier isolated it from the heart's blood at an autopsy during the epidemic of 1896. Other observers, although having succeeded in isolating the organism from the bodies of parrots, have failed to find it in man.

For the differentiation of the organism from the typhoid bacillus agglutination tests are necessary, according to Widal and Sicard. The two observers named found that the serum of typhoid patients agglutinated both organisms, but that the typhoid bacillus was clumped in higher dilutions. Cases in which the diagnosis was based solely on the quantitative difference of the agglutinating power have been reported by Nicolle and Giraud.

The theory advanced by Nocard, that the bacillus of psittacosis prepared the way for secondary pneumococcus infection, is generally held as correct by French observers.

The average mortality is between 35 and 40 per cent, which is a trifle less than the death rate of typhoid fever patients to whom the antityphoid vaccine was never administered.

French physicians treat the cases throughout like typhoid fever—that is, with cold packs and tub baths.

As a precautionary measure, sick parrots should not be handled. Their cages should be disinfected and the patients isolated.

MARRIAGE, WITH RESERVATIONS.

"For better or for worse," he said,
"For better or for worse," said she;
This was the marriage promise read,
And this they vowed on bended knee.

And if it be that love is blind,
Marriage restores the gift of sight;
The flaws which once they couldn't find,
The past few months have brought to light.

He sneers, she frowns, love turns to hate,
Their petty quarrels larger grow;
They both bewail their sorry fate,
And both unto their lawyers go.

And now in court before a crowd
Their disappointments they rehearse;
For better or for worse, they'd vowed:
They meant for better, not for worse.

Why Teach a Sheep Dog to Walk on Its Hind Legs?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

IF you are an ordinary man of 40 engaged in making money you derive little benefit from the years devoted to "higher education."

You profit by your ability to read, write and cipher, but these arts were learned before you put on long trousers.

You can speak your native tongue correctly, when you try, but you learned by hearing others speak it—not by studying rules.

You remember none of the rules of grammar.

You can not work a simple problem in algebra.

You remember geometry only as something that ended in "q. e. d."

You remember that Gaul is divided into three parts, and you recognize a few Latin words, but you can't read two lines of Caesar.

You remember the names of a few battles and a few great soldiers of antiquity, but you don't remember when or why the battles were fought, nor can you name any contemporaries of the soldiers.

No part of your "higher education" is worth a cent to you.

All of it is forgotten, unless you have continued your studies—which you haven't done if you are an ordinary man.

Except for the lessons you learned without the aid of textbooks your years in school were wasted.

Yet you and I, and others like us, require our children to waste their years in the same manner.

Educators tell us the time isn't wasted—that such studies are necessary to develop the minds of our children, but that simply isn't true.

Their minds can be developed by studies that will be useful in later life and all experience has shown that the only knowledge retained through life is the knowledge that is used.

Is any child benefited by learning that a certain battle was fought in 1276?

The knowledge necessary to comprehend our universe, our earth, our bodies, our history and our culture—the only knowledge that will be remembered—could be acquired in a year.

Any further schooling should develop the child's natural abilities for some specific task.

We boast of our efficiency, but we spend untold millions to give our children useless knowledge they won't remember and miserably fail of our duty to teach them the things they should know.

ELMER TWITCHELL ON THAT HAIR SHIRT LETTER.

"He can't fool me," declared Elmer Twitchell today, referring to President Hoover's letter to Dr. W. O. Thompson, of Ohio State University. "The entire letter is obviously out of character and the correspondence is all a scheme to boost business and lift the country out of industrial depression."

"What business?" Mr. Twitchell was asked.

"The paper, ink and hair shirt businesses," explained Elmer.

* * * *

"Herbert Hoover never wrote a letter like that before," continued Mr. Twitchell, "and if it didn't have his signature I would say it had been written by Glenn Frank and Edgar Guest. Mr. Hoover is an efficiency expert, an engineer and a business man. Ordinarily, he would answer Dr. Thompson's letter as follows:

"'Dear Sirs: Yours of January 7th received and placed on file. Thanking you for your kind thoughts and wishing you every success, I am,

"'Yours respectfully,

"'HERBERT HOOVER.'

"As a matter of fact, sentimental letters like Dr. Thompson's would as a general thing be turned over to a secretary who would get it mixed up with other correspondence and write the doctor:

"'Dear Mr. Glook: Your request for a larger pension for service in the Indian Wars is under consideration. Kindly advise me if you ever hear any more about the matter.

"'Sincerely,

"'GEORGE AKERSON.'"

"It just goes to show," continued Elmer, "that some unusual influences were behind Mr. Hoover, and I think they were the influences of the recent industrial conferences. By encouraging correspondence the President knew he could help the ink industry. He knew he could boost the stationery trade. If he can set an example by which all busy men will cease dictating brief notes and write six or eight-page letters it will restore prosperity in these lines.

* * * *

"It is as plain as the nose on your face, too, that he is out to get the hair shirt business up to normal. The annual report of 32 hair shirt companies in 1929 showed a sharp decline. It had in fact been hard to get any publicity for hair shirts. Mr. Hoover has put the hair shirt on the front page of the newspapers all over the country.

* * * *

"I predict that the men's furnishing stores will soon begin advertising the Hoover hair shirt and that it may soon become a fad. You watch the store windows and see if I'm not right. There'll be an immediate rush to wear it and I understand Charlie Curtis rushed out and bought one the minute he heard Herbert was wearing one."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Prison-Made Goods a Menace to Free Labor—Suggests That Prisoners Be Paid Full Wages, to Be Devoted to Support of their Families.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This is a very opportune time for correcting some of the nation's industrial evils.

The one foremost in the mind of the writer is the sale of prison-made products in open competition with goods made by free labor.

In many States we have prison factories, upon which they do not expect to realize a profit, do not have to pay taxes on, and in which the labor is free except for the bare sustenance of the prisoners, producing vast quantities of commodities for which they must find a market. The result is that these prison-made goods go on the market in direct competition with those produced by the laboring man who must support himself and his family. With conditions such as this, is it any wonder that we have a great mass of people who can barely eke out a living, by working long hours and under insanitary conditions, and thousands more who have to depend on charity because they cannot find employment? And is it remarkable that men adopt unlawful methods of earning a living, for themselves and their families, when they are deprived of an honest means of doing so?

One of the grounds upon which slave labor was denounced three-quarters of a century ago was that it was economically unsound because it made unfair competition for free labor. With prison labor we do not have the social evil of slavery, but we do have the same industrial evil; because the prisoner, in most cases, receives no more for his labor than did the slave.

It is true that dispensing with prison labor is no small problem, but a number of ways of removing the present evil have been suggested, and even successfully tried in a few States. The most practical, I believe, would be to put the prisons of the country on a strictly business basis. By this, I mean to operate the prison factories in a way similar to that of the same type of factory outside. The prisoners would receive wages equal to what they would earn in like pursuits if they were free. The prisoner's wages, aside from an amount necessary to sustain and clothe him, would go to his family, or if he had no family, would be placed in a saving fund to be paid to him upon his release. Aside from this the factory should be so run that it would pay expenses, plus a reasonable return on money invested in it. This would make it necessary for the prison-made goods to be sold at a fair price, thus removing this type of unfair competition, and in so doing dispense with one of the country's greatest industrial evils.

Another means whereby the evil of prison competition could be greatly reduced is the passing of a Federal law to enforce the labeling of all prison-made goods as such. This would at least give the man who must labor for a living a chance to fight this wrong, by refusing to buy the prison-made product.

The adoption of the first suggested method above would, of course, be up to the individual States; but if Congress were to pass a law prohibiting the transportation of prison-made goods, unless they were manufactured under conditions as heretofore stated, that would make the sale of them fair to working men; it would virtually force the different States to meet the specified conditions, or force them to stop placing large quantities of the products on the market.

If President Hoover and Congress will devise some method of ending the unfair competition that now exists in the sale of prison-made goods, either by acting on a method similar to one of the ones suggested above or some method of their own, they will have done much to better the position of the American working man, and in so doing will have greatly contributed to American prosperity.

Alexandrian Asserts That Majority in His Town Will Oppose Retrocession to District of Columbia.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In his letter favoring the restoration of the original Virginia boundary line of the District of Columbia, "Federalist" opines that the civic pride of Alexandria may "for a time" stand in the way. To make his guess somewhat more definite I would like to state that it will be a long, long time.

Why Alexandria should resume the connection with the District which for good and sufficient reasons was severed in 1846, I fail to understand. The reasons against that connection are, if anything, stronger now than they were then.

For one thing we do not care to surrender our American voting birthright for a mess of disfranchisement pottage. The blood of old-fashioned Americanism is still warm in the veins of Old Virginia, and we naturally have no strong desire to change the political atmosphere of the National Capital.

So far as appertains to the business advantages to Alexandria that might result from a union with Washington, that is as it may be. With its recently enlarged area and population and with a satisfactory municipal administration to keep things straight, Alexandria is getting along fairly well as it is.

So far as I am concerned, and I think I voice the sentiment of the vast majority of red-blooded Alexandrians, there is no likelihood whatever of municipal pride giving way to the bondage of retrocession.

I was proud of Alexandria when her streets were grass-grown and paved with cobblestones. I am proud of her now for her part in the past history of our country and for the part she is to take in its future growth. And, like Flora McFlimsey, I am proud of my pride—so proud that I would view with deep regret the loss of civic individuality which would result from Alexandria's incorporation with the Nation's Capital.

AMENDMENT URGED BY LEAGUE COUNCIL

Committee Seeking to Bring It Into Harmony With Kellogg Pact.

CUSTOMS TRUCE LOOMS

Geneva, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The council of the League of Nations today adopted three measures designed to encourage the cause of world peace and international good will.

The first was a step in executing the assembly's decision to amend the league covenant and bring it into harmony with the spirit and purpose of the Kellogg-Briand pact, which renounces aggression in war.

The second was a summons for an international diplomatic conference on February 17 to consider a customs truce as a move for eliminating barriers to trade.

Wailing Wall Quiz Looms.

The third was a decision to name a special commission to determine the rights of Jews and Arabs at the Wailing Wall in Jerusalem, which have been sharply contested by the two parties.

The council's action on the amendments to the covenant consisted merely in authorizing the appointment of a committee of eleven members to draft the proposed changes and submit them for consideration to the next assembly.

The discussion offered an opportunity for the pillars of the league to reaffirm their faith in the league's mission and efficacy.

Faith in League Reaffirmed.

Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain, Foreign Minister Briand of France, and Secretary von Schubert of the German State Department, successively expressed the conviction of their governments that the proposed changes in the covenant do not indicate a loss of confidence in the league as an enduring institution and as the best means yet found for propagating the spirit of peace and discouraging the spirit of war.

Their broadside was clearly aimed at critics who have alleged the change in the covenant as evidence of the league's weakness.

It was perhaps also aimed at some commentators who consider the holding of the London naval conference, outside the league's auspices, as an indication of this weakness.

HIGH RIVERS IN OHIO MAROON HUNDREDS

Sunday. At Cairo, near the mouth of the Ohio, gauges showed 40.9 feet, 4.5 feet below flood stage, with 43 feet in prospect for Sunday.

At the office of the United States Engineers here it was stated that levees along the Mississippi were capable of easily withstanding the pressure of all water now in sight.

The resort to dynamite was reported today from Quitman County, Miss. Unidentified persons last night blasted a gap 20 feet wide in a roadway fill across Cassidy Bayou, 2 miles southwest of the town of Belen. Search for the dynamiters was futile.

Water backed up against the fill had spread over a wide section about Belen.

In eastern Arkansas the situation at Big Lake—one of the focal points of the high-water fight—was reported improved with the arrival of a shipment of 5,000 sandbags. Within the next 24 hours upward of 7,500 earth-filled sacks are to be placed on low places in the dyke. In the low places the water had mounted to within 6 inches of the top. Engineers in charge of the levee were confident tonight that the situation was in hand.

In Mississippi, Cold Water River—one of the streams giving most concern—was reported today at a higher stage than during the floods of 1927. Flooded lowlands have demoralized highway traffic.

At Clarendon, on the White River, it was expected that a number of mills will have to close down if the river reaches its predicted stage of 32 feet.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Indiana's rivers and creeks swollen by heavy rains and melting snows spread out today over farm lands bordering on their courses and cut menacingly into protective levees. Residents of cities and towns along the rising streams looked forward hopefully to a cold wave predicted for tomorrow expecting it would ameliorate the flood conditions.

Persons living in the lower valleys of the Wabash and White Rivers were most affected. The Wabash, which rose to 24 feet at Vincennes during the disasterous flood of 1913, stood at 23.1 feet this afternoon. Higher levees, however, are expected to protect the city against the present encroachment of the river. A break in a levee north of Vincennes late last night caused the Wabash to recede slightly but the rise was resumed today. The U. S. Weather Bureau said that the break in the levee made it impossible to forecast the stage which the stream would attain at Vincennes.

Terre Haute, another important Wabash River city, anticipated no serious flood damage although some of its suburbs were in danger of being flooded should the stream rise another foot.

Cramton Park Bill Gets Chamber's Help

Indorsement was given the Cramton bill and the development of the park system in the District by the parks and playgrounds committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting yesterday at which Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d and Charles W. Eliot were the main speakers.

Col. Grant outlined the proposed development of the park system, while Mr. Eliot explained how this development could be financed through the Cramton bill without further burden to the taxpayers of the District. It was estimated that fully $16,000,000 will be required to finance the park development, and that $3,000,000 could be spent each year in the work.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

CALCULATED to turn Herbert Hoover's blond hair gray and to furrow the brow of Alexander Legge with wrinkles, is the deliberate attempt to hamstring the Farm Board's plans for agricultural relief.

Right on the heels of a drive by Mr. Legge to induce the wheat growers of the country to limit their acreage for next year's crop, Gov. Christianson, of Minnesota, and Smith Wildman Brookhart, senator from Iowa, burst into print in their States with denunciation of what the Farm Board is doing.

"You might as well shoot 20 per cent of the wheat farmers," screams Senator Brookhart.

"It is unfair to the winter wheat region," broadcasts Gov. Christianson.

Temporarily there is something to be said of Gov. Christianson's point, it is admitted, but the effect of what he is saying is to make the individual wheat farmers everywhere rebellious and determined to plant all the wheat they want, expecting the Federal Government's farm relief policy to take care of them on prices if such an overproduction should result that prices, under the normal operation of supply and demand, should sag well under the cost of production.

* * * *

THE Farm Board's problem, of course, in virtually organizing what will amount to a single selling agency, which will operate in conjunction with the Canadian cooperatives and the Argentine—it is hoped—is vitally affected by the total world production of wheat. Every bushel of wheat added to the exportable surplus of this country complicates the problem to just that extent.

The task of educating the farmers not to overproduce is hard enough, in all reasonableness, without the added difficulty of propaganda by governors and senators against it. Farm Board members point out with much irritation. They hark back to the days before the World War, when the United States Chamber of Commerce was attempting to persuade the South to raise less cotton. They preached and preached, but in all human probability they would never have accomplished anything worth while if the cotton boll weevil had not come along. It forced diversification, and now movements on foot in many Southern States would erect monuments to the boll weevil.

* * * *

MINNESOTA has also profited enormously by diversification. Once almost a great wheat field, now only 7 cents out of every dollar received by her farmers comes from wheat, while about 30 cents out of each dollar comes from dairy products. So that when Gov. Christianson attacks the Farm Board policy he is not speaking for 100 per cent of the farmers of Minnesota, it is pointed out, but only for 7 per cent of them, assuming that every wheat producer in the State agrees with him.

Down in Kansas and in other wheat States, however, the popular conception of Minnesota as a great wheat field still persists, and the Kansas or Missouri farmer is apt to get the impression that it will do no good if he limits his own wheat production, if the great granary State of Minnesota is in revolt against the board's policy.

Brookhart, of course, would be most unhappy if the present farm relief idea should really work and do the farmers some good. He has been so clear in his own criticisms of the policy, and so insistent that only the export debenture would do any good, that it would be rather disturbing to him if somebody else should save the discontented farmer.

* * * *

MEANWHILE, the sugar tariff is giving the wheat State senators another dose of the same problem. The beet sugar senators are pointing out to their colleagues that unless the beet farmers get relief they will give up raising sugar beets and grow wheat. As there are about 1,000,000 acres in beets at the present time, this would complicate the wheat surplus problem more than a little. But it is not as simple as that. Most of the corn belt progressives have been rather committed sentimentally against even the present tariff on sugar, following in the footsteps of the elder La Follette, who in 1924 made one of his paramount issues the high taxation on the American sugar bowl for the benefit of the "interests."

FAMINE, COLD KILL 2,000,000 CHINESE

Missionary Predicts Worst Plague Within Human Memory Next Year.

CANNIBALISM IS CITED

Shanghai, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Harrowing stories of wholesale cannibalism were added today to the tales of horror recounted of famine and cold that are reported to have taken 2,000,000 lives in China within eight months. Another 2,000,000 persons are said to be doomed to die by starvation.

Typhus, grim sister of famine, is charged with the death of unnumbered thousands and 3,000,000 Mohammedan fanatics are accused of massacreing all adult males of numerous villages of Kansu Province.

George Andrews, a missionary born in Kansu Province and just returned from nine months of relief work there, said that famine, disease and exposure in Kansu, Shensi and Shansi provinces had caused one of the most terrible situations ever experienced in China in which plagues of disease and famine are common and life is cheap.

Crop Failures Blamed.

Failure of crops last year and no seeds planted for the coming season, together with below zero weather in the Yangtse Valley and North China, were ascribed by Mr. Andrews as causes for the widespread suffering.

Speaking of a statement from Peiping that 2,000,000 had died in Shensi Province of famine, Mr. Andrews said that conditions were far worse in Kansu, where "85 per cent of the province is afflicted with famine."

"Prospects for the coming year," Andrews asserted, "are that northwest China probably will experience a plague of disease and famine that will be the worst within human memory."

Cannibalism Is Practiced.

Reduced to the last extremity by starving, people in Kansu Province, said Mr. Andrews, are resorting to cannibalism. On many occasions he had witnessed flesh carved from bodies that lay in the roads and had seen it cooked and eaten by the desperately hungry.

The missionary told of authorities attempting at first to halt cannibalism and then abandoning efforts to stop it. One man, emaciated from hunger, said when brought before officials:

"Why should I be punished for eating only what dogs are eating?"

Animals Devour Bodies.

Continuing his recital, Mr. Andrews said that dogs and volves were consuming unburied bodies.

Relief work in these interior provinces of Shensi, Kansu and Shansi, he explained, was extremely difficult because of the rugged, mountainous country and difficulty of transporting supplies. He expressed sorrow that missionaries and relief organizations had been able to save only a small proportion of the afflicted.

Born in Kansu province of missionary parents, Andrews will return there soon to direct relief work of the China international famine relief committee. Meanwhile, from the New York committee of the organization, have come indications that America is to be asked to aid with funds for the work of mercy.

When relief work was begun last March, efforts were made to bury the victims properly but, as the famine intensified, wholesale methods were inaugurated and bodies thrown into huge pits. Famine sufferers at first displayed respect toward the dead, but later, owing to the large number of bodies they were dragged by the heels to the pits.

FOUR NAVY YARDS MAY BE ABOLISHED

Contingency Looms if Naval Parley Decides to Cut Battleships.

TWO IN WEST TO REMAIN

A successful termination of the London naval disarmament conference, in respect to reduction of battleship construction or in the declaration by the powers of a holiday in battleship construction, will be followed by the closing of approximately one-half of the United States navy yards, it was learned yesterday in an administration quarter.

One of the navy yards most likely to be put on the "laid up" list, in the eventuality of a conference agreement, is the New York yard, on the Brooklyn side of the East River.

There are eight navy yards in operation on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, but five of which are capable of constructing a capital ship. The five larger yards are New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk, Va., on the Atlantic Coast; Mare Island, at San Francisco, and Puget Sound, on the Pacific Coast.

The other, or smaller yards, are Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Boston, and Charleston, S. C.

Plans worked out at the Navy Department, it is understood, contemplate—should four of the navy yards be discontinued—the certain operation of the two Pacific Coast yards, and the Norfolk, Va., yard. Extensions are even proposed at the Norfolk and the two Pacific yards.

It is the judgment of naval officials that two yards capable of repairing and constructing great battleships must be maintained on either coast. That intention, since the Norfolk yard is on the "to be retained" list, would leave the Navy officials the option of discontinuing either the New York or the Philadelphia yard.

sequent reduction in international irritations will be mentioned.

Another point which the Secretary expects to stress is the sense of insecurity that comes from too little means of defense and neighbor's feeling of insecurity through too much defense.

Finding a mutually satisfactory medium on these points is felt by Mr. Stimson to be the object of the conference.

Early Arrival Upsets Plans.

London, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The first flurry in the final preparations for the Five-Power Naval Conference occurred today through Secretary of State Stimson's desire to reach London early Friday morning and put in a full day's work at the headquarters of the American delegation.

Mr. Stimson asked that the liner George Washington be speeded up so as to reach Plymouth Harbor at midnight on Thursday, enabling the delegates to disembark and take a train due to reach London at 8 a. m.

But the Secretary of State did not foresee the consternation he would create among Plymouth town dignitaries, who have planned a ceremonial welcome for the American delegation in their historic harbor, but consider that 1 a. m. is an unsuitable hour for it.

Warm Welcome Planned.

Moreover, the weather in London at 8 a. m. in the winter is hardly proper for the warmth of the welcome that the capital expects to give Mr. Stimson.

The sun does not pierce London's blanket of mist until later.

Because of this situation the American Embassy and the secretariat at the delegation's headquarters in the Ritz Hotel were busy all day answering queries about the arrival of the Americans and their plans, while trying at the same time to placate the Plymouth officials.

Stimson Decision Awaited.

Mr. Stimson has been informed of the confusion and his reply was awaited tonight. It is possible that the George Washington may arrive at Plymouth Harbor at midnight and yet the delegates may not go ashore until 7:30 a. m.

The finishing touches to the commodious headquarters of the American delegation were made today under the direction of Lammot Belin, first secretary of the embassy. Ambassador Hugh Gibson, arriving from Brussels tonight, will be the first of the chief delegates to occupy one of the numerous suites of offices, which take up almost three floors of one of London's finest hotels.

The fourth, fifth and sixth floors of the Ritz are reserved for the Americans. The sixth floor is devoted to the secretariat. Cable wires lead direct to the delegation headquarters. One room has been arranged as a mimeographing plant for publishing press statements and communications, and another large one reserved for American journalists.

Two American Embassies.

The fifth floor is devoted to administrative offices, where each delegate will have a suite of workrooms.

Part of the fifth floor and most of the fourth provide living quarters for the chief delegates.

London can boast of housing two American embassies during the conference, one in Grosvenor Gardens and the other in the Ritz. Each is an independent organization communicating direct with Washington. Ambassador Dawes will act as liaison officer between them.

The ambassador has a suite of offices at the Ritz as well as his embassy office, where Ray Atherton, counselor of embassy, will be in charge during the conference.

Hugh Walpole, British Author, to Speak Here

An opinion on what Victorians might have thought of Aldous Huxley, James Joyce, and James Branch Cabell will be given by Hugh Walpole, noted English author, in his lecture under the auspicies of the Community Institute, at the Central High School Auditorium, at 8:15 o'clock Thursday night.

Speaking on "The Art and Immorality of the Novel," Mr. Walpole will compare the writers of today with their predecessors of other ages and will also analyze the future of English fiction.

Merchants Begin Annual Election

Chairmen of Groups Are Named by Number of Sections.

The annual election of the Washington Merchants and Manufacturers Association, embracing about twenty different groups, started yesterday. The election will take up about two weeks, according to E. D. Shaw, secretary of the association.

Considerable headway was made on the first day of the election. All the officers of the coal division were elected. J. B. Colliflower was re-elected chairman of this group; Fenton Fadely was elected vice chairman; W. D. Sutherland treasurer, and A. P. Woodson, assistant treasurer.

The following group chairmen were elected: Oscar T. Wright, printing section; W. P. Grove, oil heating section; William E. Russell, awning section; D. R. Beane, fuel oil and Arthur J. Sundlun, jewelers. All the group chairmen elected compose the board of governors of the association. Officers of the association will be elected at the first meeting of the new board of governors in February.

Hoovers Dine As Guests of Treasury Head

President and First Lady Are Entertained by Mr. Mellon.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE President and Mrs. Hoover were dinner guests last evening of Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, who entertained in his apartment at 1785 Massachusetts avenue for a distinguished company of guests. This was the first festivity which Mrs. Hoover has been able to attend since New Years Day, as she has been housed with a severe cold which caused her to miss the reception to the judiciary at the White House and several parties planned in the President's honor and hers.

Secretary Mellon's guests last evening were the Speaker of the House and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth; the Undersecretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Ogden L. Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Caspar Miller, Miss Mabel Boardman and a distinguished group from other cities including Gen. and Mrs. W. W. Atterbury and Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Myron C. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. George F. Baker, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Heinz and Secretary Mellon's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, and Mr. and Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, of Long Island.

Mrs. Bruce, who was Miss Ailsa Mellon, was hostess for her father.

The Vice President has already given his dinner for the Chief Executive and the series of Cabinet dinners for President and Mrs. Hoover, which was inaugurated by the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson, will continue at weekly intervals throughout the season. The Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley will be the next to entertain for the President and Mrs. Hoover.

Vice President Curtis was the guest of honor at another of the important dinners of last evening, Senator and Mrs. Charles L. McNary entertaining for him in the Chinese room of the Mayflower, with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann also present. The company included the Ambassador of Germany and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron, the Minister of Norway and Mme. Bachke, the Minister of China and Mme. Wu, the Minister of Albania, Mr. Faik Konitza; the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Hyde, Senator and Mrs. Wesley L. Jones, Senator and Mrs. James E. Watson, Senator Arthur Capper, Senator and Mrs. James Couzens, Senator and Mrs. Charles S. Deneen, Senator and Mrs. Frederick Steiwer, Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Senator and Mrs. Henry J. Allen, Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, Representative and Mrs. Joe Crail, Representative Franklin F. Korrell, the Ambassador to Chile and Mrs. William S. Culbertson, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas H. Slavens, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Seymour Lowman, Maj. and Mrs. Parker West, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Aitchison, Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Myers, Mr. Claudius Huston, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Jardine, Judge and Mrs. C. C. McChord, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mme. von Lewinski, Commander and Mrs. Norman M. Smith, Maj. and Mrs. Richard Park, Mrs. Frederic Pomeroy, Commander and Mrs. Boyd R. Alexander, Mrs. Thomas McA. Knox, Miss Mary Louise Morton, Mrs. Pauline Hanson and Mr. Stanley G. Slavens.

Red roses and white lilacs and white stevia were used as decorations.

Italian Envoy's Wife Returns to Capital.

The Ambassador of Italy, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, will return to town today after a brief visit in New York. Yesterday the Ambassador and the Italian Consul General in New York, Signor Grazzi, were guests of honor at an "Italian Day" reception given by Mrs. Ginevra Ingersoll Nash at the Ainslie Galleries in connection with her first American showing of portraits, which is under the patronage of Mr. Henry P. Fletcher, until recently United States Ambassador to Italy. The guests were Italian-Americans and those who have been active in creating good will between Italy and the United States.

A feature of the exhibition is a portrait of Mussolini in Fascist uniform, looking out over an ancient Rome as he dreams of plans for the new Rome. Il Duce granted Mrs. Nash seven sittings for this portrait.

Mrs. Walter F. Brown, wife of the Postmaster General, will receive this afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock in her apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Miss Thompson is Wed to Mr. Leo O'Haire.

The marriage of Miss Argith Thelma Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Argith T. Thompson, of Chevy Chase, and Mr. Leo Gerald O'Haire, of New York, took place on Saturday afternoon at the Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church in Chevy Chase. The Rev. James Smyth, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Baltimore, performed the ceremony.

Miss Thompson, who was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Asbjorn Talmann, formerly of Norway and now living in Baltimore, wore a gown of eggshell satin with a veil of tulle, trimmed with chantilly lace and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Lillian K. Schooler, the maid of honor, wore a frock of blue crepe de chine with hat and shoes to match and carried pink roses.

Mr. Sylvester R. O'Haire, of Lake Placid, N. Y., a brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The bridesmaids were Miss E. Catherine Harding, Mrs. J. William Harvey and Miss Grace M. Harding, of Washington, and Miss Virginia Corrigan, of Baltimore. They wore gowns of yellow, green, orchid and rose taffeta with hats and pumps to match and carried Ophelia roses.

The ushers were Mr. Edward J. Harding, Dr. Ambrose Healey, Mr. Louis Tyler Shook and Mr. James Garrity.

Helen O'Connor and Helen Daly were the flower girls. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Congressional Country Club. After a trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. O'Haire will make their home in Washington.

Dames to Give Soiree Today At Carlton

International Fete to Be Brilliant Event in Social Set.

A pageant of nations, with 100 young people depicting the characteristics of foreign lands, will lend a colorful motif to the soiree internationale which will be presented this afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Colonial Dames of America at the Carlton at 4 and at 9 o'clock. The hour has been advanced from 10 o'clock to avoid conflict with the reception for Gen. Jan C. Smuts at the British Embassy.

If the beauty of an altogether intriguing rehearsal is any criterion, the soiree, with its portrayal of many lands by beauties of the Diplomatic Corps and resident society, will prove an outstanding event of the winter; for yesterday afternoon, at the final rehearsal of legation ladies, debutantes and members of society, gorgeous scenes followed each other in a stirring pageant of song and story.

The moving rhythm of "America," sung by Mrs. Heitzberg; "The Marseillaise" of Mr. Bruno, typical Russian songs as sung by Mr. Rougitsky, and many other folk ballads of lands beyond the sea accompanied the pictures of royal or peasant life as they unfolded in the kaleidoscope of nations.

Lovely maidens in engaging costumes represented the various countries. There was Hungary, by Miss Barbara Wright; Greece, Miss Nancy Horton; Austria, Miss Jane Thorpe; the Tyrol, Miss Elsie Tuckerman; Bulgaria, Miss Anne Covington; Sweden, Miss Elsie Ekengren; Czechoslovakia, Miss Alice Tweedy; Poland, Miss Barine Drake; the Netherlands, Miss Katherine Dunlop, who had with her the little Dutch boy and his performing dog.

Engaging indeed was Mme. Davila's small daughter, quite the tiniest person there although representing the whole of Chile. Seven little gnomes recalled childhood tales of fairyland; Mrs. Camillo Osias afforded glimpses of Philippine customs, wearing a beautiful costume brought from her native land. Many others added charm to the soiree, which closed with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner." Representing the United States were Miss Mary Bradley, Miss Peggy Tyner, Miss Barbara Wright, Miss Jane Dulaney Hunter and Miss Laura Tuckerman.

Already numbers of dinner parties are being arranged to precede the Bal Boheme at the Willard on Monday evening, January 27, by hostesses who will entertain distinguished guests in their boxes on that occasion. The ball will open at 10 o'clock followed, at half past 10, by the impressive and beautiful march of the floor committee, with Dr. Frederick V. Coville at its head.

Practically all box parties will be in their places before the floor committee makes its entrance, as the annual appearance of the Bal Boheme "army" is one of the most effective events of the entire ball. "The Adventurers" will make their appearance, as the big stunt of the ball, promptly at 11 o'clock. Intensive rehearsals are being held by all members of the big cast of players, chosen by Mrs. Maud Howell Smith, as director of casting, and directed by Mr. William F. Baker, who promises the most gorgeous pageantry and the most entertaining carnival, in the history of the famous Bal Boheme.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pond entertained at dinner last night at the Anchorage.

Former Representative and Mrs. Edward Dixon Hays were hosts on Monday evening at a bridge party at the Congressional Club, entertaining for Mrs. J. W. Lyman, a sister of former Gov. Hadley of Missouri. The other guests were Representative and Mrs. Edgar Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alger, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Hugh C Smith, Mrs. Charles Keyser, Representative and Mrs. Morgan Sanders, former Senator and Mrs. Thomas W. Sterling and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver E. Sweet.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Lengcope are staying at the Weylin in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Adams entertained at a buffet supper at their home in Edgemoor last evening in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kauffmann.

Mr. Tom B. Byrd, of Winchester, Va., is passing several days at the Powhatan.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Neff, of New York, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Barkley, of Chevy Chase.

Prof. John R. Bracken, of Pennsylvania State College, and Mr. Carl W. Wild, College of Landscape Architects, are guests at the Willard, having come on for the sessions of the society of Landscape Architects now meeting at the hotel.

CAPITAL CIVIC FUND GROUPS 10 APPEALS

By Inclusion in Community Chest Separate Drives Are Avoided.

BUDGET SET AT $7,500

The advantages of the National Capital Civic Fund as a consolidation of ten appeals for deficits and guarantees which otherwise would have to be made separately to the citizens of Washington were described in a statement made yesterday to the budget committee of the Community Chest by E. C. Graham, president.

By consolidation and by inclusion in the Community Chest a $25,000 appeal for guarantee and deficit has been prevented and a budget of $5,000 to cover all expenses and deficits, with a contingent fund of $2,500 to cover emergencies which may develop, has been substituted. This is but little more than has been raised in the past for the various civic and community appeals.

"The trustees of the fund will control the budget of each participating activity," said Mr. Graham. "Heretofore in the conduct of these programs there has been no centralized control, each activity being handled by a temporary citizens' committee which has had to solicit funds to support the program. It is expected that in the course of time the operation of the National Capital Civic Fund will make some of these programs self-supporting and even accumulate a capital fund which will serve to support other activities.

Wants $1,500 Appropriation.

"An appropriation of $1,500 to make up a deficit on the Fourth of July celebration is requested. It is contemplated that the Fourth of July celebration will include a patriotic program in the evening with fireworks which compensate the city for the regulations against dangerous fireworks; and athletic games and a meet carried on as a city-wide playday. While the estimated deficit for 1930 is $1,500, it is hoped ultimately to make this celebration entirely self-supporting as the community is educated to that idea. The total expense of the Fourth of July celebration will be, we estimate, $2,500, but $1,000 we believe can be returned in sale of seats.

"The Community Christmas Festival in front of the White House develops into a wider community value each year. There is no possible source of revenue seen in connection with it, and we estimate the deficit will be about $500.

"The District of Columbia Model Aircraft League has as its only source of revenue the registration fee of 25 cents paid by each boy. This we think will produce $100. Some of the expense is borne by the Community Center Department of the public schools, which during the year allotted $200 of public funds to this activity. This allotment can not be increased during 1930, as no additional public funds will be available. We estimate that the deficit will be about $1,100.

Model Yacht Regatta.

"The model yacht regatta will be conducted at the Lincoln Memorial Pool for the young builders of model boats as the climax to a program of handiwork activity carried on throughout the city. It has no possible source of income aside from the appropriation of $300 requested from the Community Chest.

"The public athletic program, including the tennis tournament, the track activities and the Community Basket Ball League, require guarantee funds in advance to initiate the year's program. All of the expense of the national public park tennis tournament will probably be met by sale of seats for the indoor and outdoor tennis contest leading up to it. They expect no deficit, therefore, on this account. Track activities are only just developing for the out-of-school group. It is expected that the athletic meets ultimately will be self-supporting. The amateur athletics of the city must not be commercialized and the whole program is held back by the necessity of raising a guarantee fund to defray possible deficits. Although we will need a guarantee fund of $1,000, we expect that at least half of it will be paid back, so that the deficit will be $500.

Basket Ball League Needs $500.

"The Community Basket Ball League will require a guarantee of $500, all of which will be raised so that there will be no deficit here.

"The Community Institute, as every one knows, has a program of cultural recreation. For two years it has paid its own expense. It requires a guarantee of $3,000, which has to be established before contracts can be entered into. This amount will be repaid, so that there will be no deficit on this account.

"The Community Drama Guild is in the same situation. This effort to organize and to assist the adults of the city in their productions of the drama should be self supporting, but it is necessary for this activity also to seek guarantees against possible deficits before contracts can be entered into. The amount necessary for guarantees will be $3,000. This all should be paid back by cash receipts.

Midsummer Festival.

"It is not expected that any of these proposed guarantee funds actually be paid over, but merely that it will be made known that this fund is available if necessary for advance payments.

"The Midsummer Festival is the only new activity projected. It is a song festival, with perhaps a canoe regatta, which is planned for midsummer, for which some revenue may be obtained from the sale of chair privileges. The estimated deficit is $350.

"Other expenses of the National Capital Civic Fund will include $200 for salaries. The original estimate was $600 for the part-time clerical service of one employe. The National Capital Civic Fund has now received a deposit which will carry $400 of this amount. Consequently the original request is reduced to $200.

"About $250 will be needed for insurance and bonding to include liability insurance which must be carried in connection with events in which large crowds participate.

"Stationery, office supplies and postage will cost, we estimate, not to exceed $300.

"The total deficits to be made up, therefore, will not exceed $5,000. As has already been said this amount has approximately been raised in the past for these various activities. The formation of the National Capital Civic Fund merely means a concentration of these funds in one place; a reduction of the cost of raising this money; supervision of its expenditures; development of self-support; and control of activities which should be thoroughly beneficial. All of these activities are character building and constructive and we believe properly within the scope of the Community Chest."

Five Hurt in German Riot of Unemployed

Worms, Germany, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Five policemen were injured by stones today in breaking up a meeting of unemployed in the main square of the city. One civilian was injured by a pistol shot when the police cleared the square with drawn swords and revolvers.

Oscar Muller, Communist deputy in the Prussian Diet, was among those arrested.

What a place to tone up

NOW, when winter is exacting its heavy toll, a few days out for rest and recreation will make the whole world a better place. . . . Come to Chalfonte-Haddon Hall for a few days. Snooze on the Ocean Deck. Breathe the tonic ocean air. Ride. Golf. Play squash. Take an all-over sun-bath, or a health-bath under the hands of an expert. . . . You will be amazed at your new capacity for food. And a little ashamed of your capacity for sleep. . . . New Haddon Hall is bright and modern. Here you will find that informality that makes perfect relaxation possible, that air of things well done that produces a sense of perfect well-being. POLICEMAN REDUCED FOR LIQUOR CHARGES

Trial Board Will Hear Case of Alleged Possession of Intoxicants.

ALSO FACES CIVIL COURT

Motorcycle Policeman George L. Aikins yesterday was reduced to foot patrol duty, suspended and ordered before the Police Trial Board on charges of having disgraced and discredited the Police Department.

The orders were issued by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, following Aikins' conviction in Montgomery County of having in his possession in his home intoxicating liquor with "intent to sell" it. Aikins was sentenced to eight months in the Maryland House of Correction. He was released under $500 bond pending the outcome of an apeal.

The charge on which Aikens will be tried before the Police Trial Board is that his conviction of a "criminal or quasi-criminal offense" was to the "disgrace and discredit" of the Police Department. The date of the trial was fixed for next Wednesday. Aiken was arrested at his home in Montgomery County on January 13. If he is convicted before the Police Trial Board he may be dismissed from the department.

Nine transfers of privates were made by Maj. Pratt yesterday. None was important or unusual except that affecting Aikens. The transfers were as follows: W. G. Fuller, station clerk, detective bureau, to foot, Fourteenth Precinct; R. J. Fraser, foot, Sixth, to station clerk, detective bureau; Henrik Boese, foot, Fourteenth, to foot, Sixth; Jeremiah Mills, motorcycle, Fourteenth, to foot, Fourteenth; M. N. Carpenter, foot, Fourteenth, to motorcycle, Fourteenth; W. H. Bell, foot, Tenth, to motorcycle, Seventh.

Funeral of Dr. Carr Set for Tomorrow

Veterans' Bureau Official Will Be Buried in Arlington.

Dr. B. W. Carr, 54 years old, chief of the occupational therapy and physio-therapy subdivision of the Veterans' Bureau, who died at his home Monday night after an illness of two weeks, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Arlington Cemetery. Services will be held at 2:30 o'clock in Gawler's funeral parlors.

Dr. Carr was born in Pittsfield, N. H., and was graduated from the Dartmouth College Medical School. Later he took a post-graduate course in the Walter Reed Hospital, this city. He served as a captain in the Army during the World War and was surgeon in the reserve. United States Public Health Service, from October, 1919, to May, 1922, when he was detailed to the Veterans' Bureau. Later he was promoted by the surgeon general of the Public Health Service to senior surgeon.

He was a representative of the bureau on the medical council, an editor of the Bureau Medical Bulletin, and was an author of a number of medical articles.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice L. Carr, of this city, and a son, Raymond Carr, of Boston. He lived at 335 Emerson street northwest.

SERVICES SET FOR VETERAN

Burial Will Be Held Tomorrow in Arlington National Cemetery.

Charles H. Patterson, 90 years old, Civil War veteran and a retired employe of the War Department, who died Monday at his residence, 1391 P street northeast, will be buried tomorrow morning in Arlington National Cemetery following services at 10 o'clock at his late residence.

He was born in Alabama. In his youth he captained a steamboat on the Mississippi River, and was known as the youngest captain on the river. He enlisted in the Sixteenth Kentucky Cavalry at the outbreak of the Civil War and rose to the rank of adjutant. In 1889 he joined the Adjutant General's Office of the War Department. He retired in 1920.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mattie Patterson, and a son, Maurice.

MISS M. F. MONAHAN RITES

Woman Who Taught in District Schools to Be Buried Today.

Funeral services will be conducted today in Shenandoah, Pa., for Miss Margaret F. Monahan, who taught in District schools for 26 years. She died at her home in Shenandoah.

Miss Monahan taught here until last October, when she was given a leave of absence, due to illness. She had intended to return to her duties at the Webb School. Complications set in, following an operation, which resulted in her death. She is survived by three brothers and three sisters, all of Shenandoah.

Man's Scalp Cut in Alleged Fight.

During an altercation in a store at Thirteenth and B streets southwest yesterday Albert Goldburg, 28 years old, of Varnum street, near Fifteenth street northwest, was struck over the head with a bottle, police reported, by James Wilson, colored, of 267 Eastern avenue northeast. Goldburg was treated for a minor laceration of the scalp at Emergency Hospital. The Negro was arrested on an assault charge at the Fourth Precinct.

Helmick and Stengle Backed for Posts as Commissioners Here

Retired Major General Praised for Ability As Administrator As Demonstrated During World War; Petworth Man Active in Citizens' Advisory Council.

The Post herewith presents two more of a series of sketches of Washingtonians who are being boomed for Commissioners of the District. The terms of Commissioners Proctor L. Dougherty and Sidney F. Taliaferro expire February 4.

The two incumbents are regarded as candidates to succeed themselves, and The Post published their biographies last Sunday. The Post will continue to publish biographies of persons seriously mentioned for the offices each Wednesday and Sunday.

CHARLES I. STENGLE.

Running for public office is no new adventure for Charles I Stengle, the first man to declare himself a candidate for District Commissioner. In fact, it was as a result of holding office that he is here now, a permanent resident and an energetic crusader for the city's advancement.

Five years ago, Mr. Stengle accomplished what was believed to be the impossible: A Democrat, born in Virginia, he got himself elected to Congress from the Sixth New York district, which is in the City of Brooklyn.

That does not seem startling until some facts and figures are considered. For more than twenty years this Brooklyn district had been represented in the House by a Republican. In the election of 1922, the Republican candidate, Warren I. Lee, had triumphed over his Democratic rival by the tremendous majority of 22,000 votes. Lee, it seemed, was invincible.

Nevertheless, Mr. Stengle won out in 1924, upsetting a tradition and beating Mr. Lee by 3,182 votes. He took his seat in the House with the Sixty-eighth Congress and served one term.

Charmed by the beauty and atmosphere of Washington, Mr. Stengle bought a home at 4531 Kansas avenue, in the Petworth section, and after his term in the House was up he decided to settle down here.

It was natural that Mr. Stengle should join the Petworth Citizens Association, and just as natural that ultimately he should get into the thick of what goes for politics in this voteless town. His association elected him a delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations, and later on the other delegates elected him a member of the Citizens Advisory Council. As a member of this body, he has played a prominent part in the fight for a fair fiscal relationship between the Federal Government and the District government.

Boomed for Commissioner.

And now a committee of Mr. Stengle's admirers is campaigning for him, seeking to win him an appointment as a civilian Commissioner of the District. Mr. Stengle has agreed to be a candidate, but at this time is saying nothing to boost his candidacy.

Mr. Stengle was born in Savageville, Accomac County, Va., December 5, 1869, the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Adam Stengle. He was educated in the public and high schools of Maryland and Delaware and in 1890 was graduated from Goldey College in Wilmington.

In 1898 he served as chaplain in the Delaware House of Representatives. The following year he married Catherine Ward, of Norfolk, Va.

Was Editor in Norfolk.

In that year, 1899, he also became editor of the Norfolk Dispatch. He held this position for a year, and then became editor of the Fredericksburg (Va.) Free Lance. In 1904 he was clerk of the New York County register's office, and later he was associate editor of The Chief, a weekly published by the city. From 1910 to 1914 he traveled more than 30,000 miles and delivered more than 800 addresses in favor of pensions for worn-out and disabled civilian employes of the Federal Government.

From 1918 to 1923 he was secretary to the municipal civil service commission of New York, and the next year found him making his successful race for Congress.

He has a son, Harold, and a daughter, Mrs. Nelson Miles. He is an Elk and an honorary vice president of the National Association of Civil Service Employes.

ELI A. HELMICK.

Maj. Gen. Eli A. Helmick, U. S. A., retired, former inspector general of the Army, left the military service two and a half years ago, with the reputation of being not only a gallant soldier, but a brilliant administrator as well.

And it is this last quality, his ability as an administrator, that his friends are now stressing as they boom him for District Commissioner.

Gen. Helmick, who has adopted Washington as his home, was born September 27, 1863, and entered West Point from Kansas in 1884. Graduating four years later, he was assigned to the infantry. He saw active service in the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection, and in the World War. He was cited for gallantry in action in the campaign before Santiago.

He advanced through the several grades of the Army until he was made major general and inspector general on November 7, 1921. During the World War he inspected many divisions overseas and later commanded the Eighth Division.

For his services in the World War, he received the Distinguished Service Medal from the United States, the Cross of the Legion of Honor from France, and the Medal of Honor from Italy. In 1920 the Kansas State Agriculture College conferred on him the degree of LL.D.

The particular piece of work that gave Gen Helmick his reputation as an administrator was performed while he was in command of the Army base at Brest, France. Through this base passed the great bulk of the American troops on their way home. Gen. Helmick was in effect the governor of a city of more than 1,000,000 inhabitants, and it was his work of handling the job that won him the D. S. C.

Cited for Ability.

The citation said that he had displayed "brilliant administrative ability" and had rendered an invaluable service to the American Expeditionary Force.

As inspector general, he had to be conversant with much more than soldiering. He had to know something about law, something about business, and—very important—a lot about dealing with men.

He was always a champion of a policy of humanity in leadership of men.

Interested in District.

While a resident of Washington, Gen. Helmick has taken a deep interest in civic affairs.

He is a member of the Cathedral Heights Citizens Association and at one time was its president. He and Mrs. Helmick live at 3506 Garfield street northwest. At present, however, they are visiting a daughter in Honolulu.

It was reported three years ago that President Coolidge was on the verge of appointing Gen. Helmick a Commissioner, but that he hesitated when the question arose as to his eligibility. That was before Gen. Helmick retired. His supporters say now that there is not the slightest question as to his eligibility for the post.

SIMON IS APPOINTED TO SCHOOL VACANCY

IS FORMER PRESIDENT

The Rev. Abram Simon, rabbi of the Eighth Street Temple, was announced yesterday by the justices of the District Supreme Court to fill the vacancy on the District School Board created by the recent resignation of Isaac Gans.

This will be Dr. Simon's third period of service with the school board. He first became a member of the body on November 19, 1919, succeeding George E. Hamilton. In July, 1920, he was elected president, and was reelected to the same office in the following year, continuing as president until December, 1921, when he resigned from office, remaining as a member of the board. However, in July, 1922, he was named again as president, retaining the office until July, 1923, when he declined to accept reappointment.

Born in Tennessee.

Dr. Simon, long recognized as an educator, an orator of unusual ability, and a leader of his race, was born at Nashville, Tenn., in 1872. He received his early education in Cincinnati, Ohio, attending in turn the Cincinnati High School, the University of Cincinnati, the Hebrew Union College and George Washington University, receiving the degrees of LL. D. and Ph. D.

After completing his ecclesiastical education, Dr. Simon served in the pulpit successively at Sacramento, Calif., Omaha, Nebr., and Washington, coming here in 1904 as rabbi of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, the only reformed synagogue in the city. He now is head of the congregation.

At the time of the World War, Dr. Simon left Waashington to volunteer his services with the American Red Cross, being assigned to the research division and serving overseas with the Seventy-ninth Division of the American Expeditionary Forces. He was commended by the Government for his meritorious services.

Returns to Pulpit Here.

After the armistice, Dr. Simon returned to his pulpit at the Washington Hebrew Congregation, where he was one of the most active workers for relief of the inhabitants of the devastated areas of Europe, receiving the recognition and support in this work, not only of the members of his own congregation, but of all other creeds and beliefs, including many of the most prominent persons in official Government circles.

During 1920 to 1923, while he was president of the District School Board, Dr. Simon also was vice president of the Central Conference of Jewish Rabbis, and in 1923 he was elected president of the rabbinical conference. He has served also as president of the Columbia Hospital for Women, and as chairman of the Jewish committee cooperating with the Federal Council of Churches for promotion of good will among all races and denominations. He is the author of the "History of Jewish Education" and of numerous essays on religious education.

MRS. EDITH CULLEY RITES.

Wife of Post Staff Member to Be Buried Thursday.

Mrs. Edith Culley, wife of Harry Culley, of The Washington Post editorial staff, died at Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon, where she had been taken Monday from her home, 1421 Twelfth street northwest, suffering from accidental gas poisoning.

Mrs. Culley was 31 years of age. Besides her husband, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Catherine Flowers, of Jacksonville, Fla., and also by a sister and two brothers.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, but burial services will probably be held Thursday.

Dr. Sheen to Speak To Catholic Group

Work of Charities Shows Large Increase for Past Year.

One of the outstanding features of the annual meeting of the Catholic Charities to be held at the Mayflower Hotel on Thursday, January 16, at 8:15 p. m., will be an address by Dr. Fulton Sheen, of the Catholic University. Allen Pope, president of the organization, will conduct the meeting. Dr. John O'Grady will present the annual report.

There has been a large increase in the work of the Catholic Charities in 1929. During the past year 1,652 families have received relief or service as against 1,307 for the preceding year. Five hundred and eighty-two cases have come under the supervision of the workers of the departments for children and juvenile delinquents in their own or in foster homes. Material relief has increased from $23,500 to $32,337. This increase of work has been made possible largely by the Community Chest, of which the Catholic Charities is a member agency.

Dr. Charles P. Neill will report for the executive committee with special reference to the relationship between Catholic Charities and other welfare organizations. The meeting is open to the public, and friends of the organization have been invited to attend.

Mgr. Bischoff Leaves Fund for Students

Mgr. Francis X. Bischoff, pastor of the Church of the Nativity, who died January 3, left $1,000 for the education of students for the priesthood, according to his will, which was filed for probate yesterday in District Supreme Court. No estimate of the estate is contained in the will.

In addition to leaving the money for the education of students, the monsignor remembered several organizations of his faith, leaving them bequests of from $200 to $300. The Rev. Benedict J. Hannemann, assistant of the deceased, was left $300 for himself and $100 for masses.

Woman Dies of Burns After Fire Razes Home

Burns suffered when fire swept her home at 39 DeFries street northwest early yesterday proved fatal to Ethel Burley, colored, 38 years old, shortly before 2 o'clock at Casualty Hospital.

The woman was trapped in her home by the fire, which was believed to have originated from an overheated furnace. After first aid treatment by members of the fire department rescue squad, she was taken to the hospital.

FORMER POLICEMAN CONVICTED OF PLOT

Rubin Found Guilty of Plan to Rob Girl With Pay Roll.

FRIEND IS HIS ACCUSER

Max Rubin, a former member of the Washington Police Department, was found guilty by a jury in District Supreme Court yesterday when tried on an indictment charging conspiracy to rob Miss Ruth Beuchert. A similar charge against Benjamin Rubin, brother of the former policeman, was nol-prossed by the Government some time ago.

The Government, through its testimony, charged that Max Rubin had entered into a conspiracy with another man to rob Miss Beuchert, the daughter of the proprietor of a machine shop on K street, between Fourth and Fifth streets northwest. The scheme, it was testified, was to rob the young woman as she passed an alley in the rear of her father's establishment with the week's pay roll.

The other man is alleged to have gone to police headquarters and apprised detectives of the scheme. Told to go on with his part of the program, the other man is said to have agreed with Rubin to carry it through. On the day the alleged robbery was scheduled to take place, however, police arrested the former policeman and his brother. The indictment followed.

Assistant United States Attorneys James F. Hughes and Irvin Goldstein represented the Government in the trial of the case.

Apartment Is Robbed Of $3,000 in Valuables

Rubin Sian, of 115 New York avenue northwest, informed police yesterday that a thief forced open the front door of his apartment and escaped with clothing and jewelry valued at approximately $3,000.

The loot included a woman's mink fur coat valued at $700, a diamond ring valued at $1,200, a man's watch and several other articles of jewelry and wearing apparel.

Man Found Hurt in Street.

Richard Burns, 68 years old, of Pennsylvania avenue, near Third street northwest, was treated at Emergency Hospital yesterday for injuries to the head and a broken nose after being found on New York avenue, near Fourteenth street northwest.

THE NEW KOOLMOTOR OIL

The Perfect Pennsylvania Motor Oil

What 5 Point Balance in Motor Oil means to your car

SINCE our announcement of the new KOOLMOTOR OIL—the oil with 5 Point Balance—thousands of motorists throughout the country have been thrilled by the performance of this perfectly balanced motor oil.

They have reported a noticeable increase in power, instant starting, lower oil consumption, cleaner spark plugs, reduced carbon and a marvelous smoothness and flexibility of engine action.

In achieving 5 Point Balance, Cities Service experts have brought about a perfect relation of the five tests of oil quality—viscosity, fire, flash, pour point and carbon residue. A way has been found to retain the maximum benefit of each test without sacrifice to any other. For instance, rich, full body has been maintained without increasing the tendency to form carbon or to lower the ability of these oils to flow freely at low temperatures and provide instant starting. Perfect balance has been established—perfect performance is the result.

If you want your engine to give more power, to "feel" smoother, to use less oil and be protected against unnecessary expense for repairs and carbon removal—have your crankcase drained today and refilled with the new Koolmotor Oil—the oil with 5 Point Balance.

35c—a fair retail price for the new Koolmotor Oil. The cost of lubrication is the smallest item in your operating and maintenance expenses. It pays to use the best.

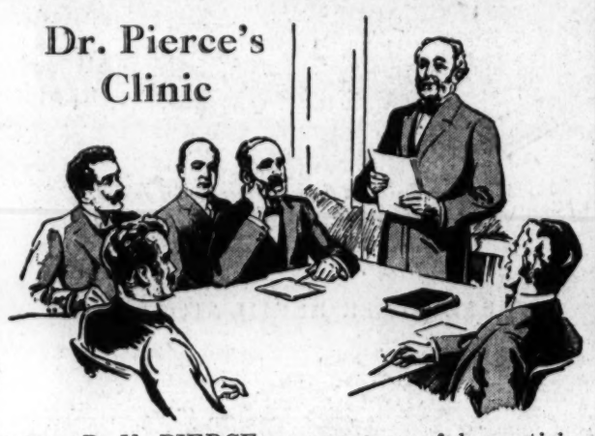
Dr. Pierce's Clinic



DR. R. V. PIERCE was a successful practicing physician, when, in 1870, he established a clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., of well-qualified medical men, specialists in the treatment of various chronic diseases.

If you are ailing, and desire a thorough medical examination, go to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., where you will receive good medical advice from Dr. Pierce's Clinic. If you cannot go there, write Dr. Pierce's Clinic, answer all their questions as best as you can, and send sample of urine, and you will receive the best medical advice possible, and for this there will be no charge.

The herbal tonic that Dr. Pierce prescribed most often for building up the weakened system, and for making redder blood, cleansing the systems of men, women or children, without harm, was afterwards put up in ready-to-use form and known the country over as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is sold in liquid or tablets at all drug stores. It is just as popular now as 60 years ago.

Minneapolis New Weekly Radio Center

Coast to Coast Program Will Be Inaugurated Tonight Over WMAL; Dalhart Sings on WRC; Post Brevities 8:15 a. m.

Minneapolis will join New York City, Chicago and Washington as a center of broadcasting when a new weekly coast-to-coast program is presented from the studios of Station WCCO by the Columbia Broadcasting System at 8 o'clock tonight. There will be a network of 43 stations, including WMAL.

The whistle of the locomotive, ringing of the bell and the oncoming chugging of the engine will announce the arrival of the "Fast Freight" sponsored by the makers of Gold Medal Flour. The program will present to Washington listeners one of the most popular programs in the Northwest, featuring the Wheaties Quartet, for three years an outstanding feature from WCCO, and with them will be a nationally known radio organist. He will play on the new three-manual organ, just installed in WCCO's studios, and said by the manufacturers to be one of the largest ever built for a radio studio.

"Perpetual Motion," a descriptive and modernistic composition illustrating that elusive physical force long sought by scientists, will be a high light of the Halsey, Stuart program which the Chicago Little Symphony Orchestra will broadcast from the Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting Co. at 9 o'clock, through WRC. George Dasch directs the following presentation:

"Farandole," Bizet; "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," string orchestra; "Perpetual Motion," Ries, violins; selections from "The Three Musketeers," Friml; "The Free Lance," Sousa; "Jealousy," Gade, and the finale from overture to "William Tell," Rossini.

A selection from Rimsky-Korsakoff's "The Snow Maiden," played by the orchestra under the direction of Gustave Haenchen, suggests winter in the Palmolive hour to be broadcast at 9:30 o'clock from WRC. Other selections to be heard are: "I Want to Be Happy," ensemble; "Should I?" Olive Palmer and Paul Oliver; "Collegiate Sam," orchestra; "Why?" from "Carry On" Revelers; waltz song from "Romeo and Juliet" (Gounod), soprano solo, Olive Palmer; "A Dream" (Bartlett), tenor solo, Paul Oliver; "Aloha Sunset Land," Revelers; "When I Meet My Sunshine," orchestra; "You Were Meant for Me," ensemble; "Listen to the Mocking Bird," Miss Palmer; "If I Had a Talking Picture of You," orchestra; "Marcheta," Mr. Oliver; "Mother," from "My Maryland," Revelers; "Moonlight and Roses," Olive Palmer and Elizabeth Lennox; "I'll Know and She'll Know," orchestra, and "Leave It to Jane," ensemble.

Vernon Dalhart, tenor-composer, famous for his "The Prisoner's Song" and "Can't Yo' Hear Me Callin,' Caroline?" will be guest soloist with the Bakers at 8:30 o'clock. He will feature a new number, "Hallelujah—Thar's a Rainbow in the Sky."

Floyd Gibbons will be featured at 10:30 o'clock, followed by an hour of dance tunes by the LeParadis Band.

For the listener who likes a little foolishness along with his music, WJZ and KDKA, but not WRC, will present a new Ambrose J. Weems series. Weems has abandoned communication with Mars and is station manager of KUKU, the new associated station of the NBC, which is situated in the City of Dementia, of the State of Unconsciousness. With characteristic ingenuity, Weems has condensed his weekly schedule and crams all his features into this period. The time is 9:30 o'clock.

The radio program of "Radio Joe and the Budget Boys" for tonight and the three succeeding Wednesdays, while the character of the program itself will not be changed, will devote three or four minutes to the advancement of the cause of the Community Chest. This is a local presentation from the studios of WMAL at 7:30 o'clock.

Other features include the Forty Fathom Trawlers and an Army Band concert, a grand opera concert, the Show Boat and a DX request program.

Last-minute news will be given from WOL at 8:15 o'clock, when "Breakfast Brevities" from The Washington Post are presented directly from The Post Building.

Children will come in for their share of attention at WOL this morning. Miss Clarke's talk is "Has Your Child a Home?" while Dr. Bernard S. McMahon will discuss "Osteopathy: What It will Do for Children."

"Cecil and Sally," the new comic strip, the Edith Reed Entertainers and a dramatic soprano are among the entertainment features offered during the early evening hours.

Officers Are Elected By Visiting Nurse Group

Officers were elected yesterday at a meeting of the Instructive Visiting Nurse Society in the Evening Star Building. Mrs. Whitman Cross was elected president. Other officers are: Mrs. John W. Davidge, Mrs. G. Brown Miller and Mrs. G. Howland Chase, vice presidents; Mrs. Dwight Clark, secretary; Joshua Evans, jr., treasurer, and Mrs. Frank E. Weeden, assistant treasurer.

Miss Gertrude Bowling, general director, reported that during 1929 the nurses cared for 14,836 patients, making a total of 115,810 visits, an increase of 1,982 patients and 11,410 visits over the work done in 1928. Miss Mary C. Connor, educational director of the association, addressed the board on the function of her department.

"Parking With Peggy"

"Science will have to give the flappers credit for one thing—they've discovered perpetual motion."

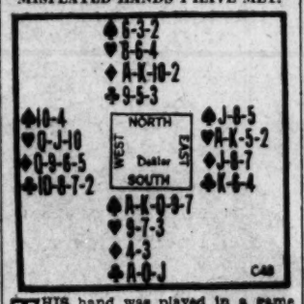
WORK ON BRIDGE

Important Notice!

Beginning Monday, January 27, Mr. Milton C. Work, the international authority, will conduct in this department for two weeks a great Home Bridge Contest. You will find it of intense interest and wonderfully instructive. It will enable you to test and increase your knowledge of Auction and Contract and contest informally with members of your household and friends. Remember the date—January 27th. Challenge your friends.

MISPLAYED HANDS I HAVE MET.



THIS hand was played in a game of Contract Bridge. The bidding was: South two Spades, West pass, North three Spades, East pass, and South four Spades. Had it been played in Auction, South's one Spade would have been followed by two passes, and in that case East might have bid two Hearts and South two Spades. East's Heart bid would not affect the play, however, as West's original lead should be the Queen of Hearts in any event.

Against a suit contract it is not necessary to open a long suit; a three-card major Queen-Jack-Ten sequence is far better than leading small from four cards headed by a single minor honor.

The first and second tricks were won by the Queen and Jack of Hearts; then came the Ten of Hearts which East won. East then led a small Spade through closed hand's strength and up to dummy's weakness. South won and exhausted trumps; dummy was put in twice with Diamonds to lead Clubs for two finesses and Declarer made game.

Was the hand correctly played?

The Correct Play.

East should have taken West's Jack of Hearts with the King (trick 2). If West held four Hearts the play would be immaterial; but if West held two Hearts, a third Heart trick could be cashed immediately and a fourth Heart led for West to trump. So after winning trick 2, East should have taken trick 3 with the Ace of Hearts and, when he saw that his remaining Heart was a thirteener, should have led it instead of a trump in the hope that West would have a trump higher than the Six. That was the actual situation and the play outlined for East would have saved the game by getting in three Heart tricks and a trump.

Bridge Game Over Radio Is Analyzed

Plays by Experts in WRC Broadcast Explained—Hundred Aces in Hand, Declarer, Stung in Diamonds, Bids No Trump.

The ninth of Milton C. Work's Radio Bridge Games, broadcast yesterday afternoon from Station WRC, brought together as contestants noted bridge players from widely separated parts of the country.

The players, whose bridge fame extends far beyond their own cities, were: Mrs. Campbell D. Edgar, Bremerton, Washington; Mrs. C. E. Traver, Salt Lake City, Utah; L. D. Hinman, Enid, Okla., and Walter F. Dwyer, Philadelphia. They were dealt these hands:

Mrs. Edgar, dealer, South: Spades, A, 10; Hearts, A, 10, 7, 2; Diamonds, A, J, 9, 7, 6, 3; Clubs, A. Mr. Dyer, West: Spades, 8, 6, 3; Hearts, Q, 5, 4; Diamonds, Q, 10, 2; Clubs, J, 9, 6, 2. Mr. Hinman, North: Spades, K, J, 7, 4; Hearts, K, 9, 8, 6; Diamonds, K, 4; Clubs, Q, 4, 3. Mrs. Traver, East: Spades, Q, 9, 5, 2; Hearts, J, 3; Diamonds, 8, 5; Clubs, K, 10, 8, 7, 5.

Mrs. Edgar, South, with a hundred Aces, opened the auction with one No Trump. She had a strong Diamond bid, also, but thought the No Trump offered a better chance for game. Mr. Dwyer, West, passed, and Mr. Hinman, North, holding a King or Queen in each suit, bid two No Trumps, with the purpose of shutting out a possible lead-directing bid by East. After North's jump, East, South and West passed, making Mrs. Edgar, South, the Declarer, with her contract two No Trumps.

Opening the play, Mr. Dwyer, West, led the Deuce of Clubs, the fourth-best of his only four-card suit, and the only conventional lead in his hand. From Mr. Hinman's hand, which went down as Dummy, Declarer played the Trey of Clubs. Mrs. Traver, East, knew from the Deuce lead that her partner had opened a four-card suit, since short suits are not opened against a No Trump; consequently she saw, as she herself had five Clubs and Dummy three, that Declarer could have only one Club . . . doubtless the Ace, inasmuch as conventional original No Trumps seldom are bid with a worthless singleton. But to prevent the possible winning of the first trick with a low Club in case Declarer did have a low singleton, East played her 10 of Clubs, holding her King over Dummy's Queen. Declarer won with the Ace of Clubs.

Declarer knew that her only danger lay in a Club lead by West if East had the King. In that case, East and West could run four Club tricks, which, with the trick that gave them their entry, would make a total of five, costing Declarer her game. Declarer could count seven sure tricks for herself . . . two each in Hearts, Spades and Diamonds, besides the Club she already had won. To establish the Diamonds, in order to make the two additional tricks needed for game, it seemed advisable to lead the suit from North for a finesse; but if that finesse lost, it would let West in for the dreaded Club lead. Therefore Declarer planned to try for two extra tricks in Spades and Hearts, leading both suits from South and doing all finessing in Dummy, so that if either adversary won, the trick would be captured by the harmless East hand and not the dangerous West hand. Declarer could ask for nothing better than a Club lead from East up to North's guarded Queen.

Declarer then put her plan into effect, leading the Ace of Spades from the South hand to trick two. West played the Trey, Dummy the 4, and East the Deuce. Declarer continued with the 10 of Spades, West played the 6, Dummy the 7, and, East won with the Queen. East, however, was not willing to lead Clubs up to Dummy's Queen. She preferred the lead to come from West through Dummy's Queen, so that she could capture it with her King. The Diamond suit seemed to offer the best chance to put West in the lead, so East led the 8 of Diamonds to trick four. South, with the 9-7 fourchette, played the 9; West played the 10, forcing Dummy's King, which won the trick.

Pursuing her policy of keeping the lead out of the West hand, Declarer shifted to Hearts, leading Dummy's 6. East played the Trey, Declarer the Ace, and West the 4. Declarer then led her Deuce of Hearts. West played the 5, Dummy the 8, and East the Jack. To East, the continuation of the Diamonds seemed the only chance to save game. Declarer probably had Spades and Hearts set up, and a Club lead was open to the same objections as at trick four. Therefore East led the 5 of Diamonds, South played the Ace, taking no chances on letting West in with the Queen; West played the Deuce and Dummy the 4.

Declarer next led the 7 of Hearts, winning in Dummy with the King. West played the Queen and East discarded the 5 of Spades. Declarer then cashed Dummy's King and Jack of Spades, on which two tricks East played the 9 of Spades and 5 of Clubs. Declarer discarded the Trey and 6 of Diamonds; and West played the 8 of Spades and 6 of Clubs. To trick eleven, Dummy led the 9 of Hearts; East discarded the 7 of Clubs; Declarer played the 10 of Hearts; and West the 9 of Clubs. Declarer then led the Jack of Diamonds, which West won with the Queen. Dummy and East each discarding their low Club. West led the Jack of Clubs to the last trick, which East won with the King.

Mrs. Edgar, the Declarer, won in all three Spade tricks, three Hearts, two Diamonds and one Club . . . a total of nine tricks and game, for which she scored 30 below the line, and 100 above the line for her four Aces in one hand.

Mr. Work, in his comments that followed the Radio Game, applauded Mr. Hinman's jump of his partner's original one No Trump to two, saying that while such jumps are everyday affairs in Contract, they are all too rare in Auction. Mr. Work recommends such a jump when the partner of a No Trumper is strong enough to make it with reasonable safety, unless he is prepared to bid a suit over any lead directing bid that the fourth hand may make. If No Trump is the contract, third hand will be led through at the first trick, and it frequently saves Declarer embarrassment if fourth hand is barred from giving second hand a hint as to which suit to lead. Mr. Work was also enthusiastic in praise of Mrs. Edgar's play of the hand, and the way she took game before letting the dangerous West hand in.

According to Mr. Work, the Contract bidding of this hand would involve more doubt for South than the Auction bidding. With four Aces in one hand in Auction, there rarely is much doubt about the advisability of bidding No Trump; and in Contract the same comment is true as far as it goes. But in Auction there is no incentive to bid more than one, other than a possible desire to preempt; while in Contract the question of bidding more than one is likely to be the main consideration. In this hand South has a count of 18, and it would be dangerous to bid only one. If North has a count of 6, 7 or 8, he would pass the one No Trump; and yet with any one of these counts there probably would be a game in the combined hands.

Of course, South's singleton Ace of Clubs is a strong argument against bidding an original two No Trumps; but risks have to be taken, and in a case like this Mr. Work believes that there is greater danger that one No Trump will be passed by a North who has the complement to produce game, than that two No Trumps will be jumped to a disastrous three. North needs only a count of 6 to bid three over his partner's two, and he actually has a count of twelve. Indeed, facing a two No Trump hand, he is only a trifle short of the strength which would justify his trying for a slam by bidding four. But he is short, and Mr. Work counseled that slam invitations without the full measure of strength should be avoided.

Jane C. INTERPRETS the MODE

Paris, Jan. 14.

LOVELY ladies have demanded more elegance in their gowns and been given more elegance in their gowns. And, do you know something? This elegance in clothing positively demands elegance to support it—carriage, gestures, even tilts of the head can express elegance or the lack of it so painfully.

If your mind doesn't lend itself to elegance then you may be sure that the new modes will not become you. It should be instinctive for all women to adapt themselves to the kind of garment they are wearing—I said instinctive, and that means unaffectedly. To put your hands in your pockets and affect sitting on tables and swinging one leg over the other should be the natural result of being in hunting togs, golf knickers or riding clothes. To hold your head gracefully, relax your shoulders and achieve an aura of graceful loveliness should be the natural result of being beautifully draped and swathed in luxurious satins or velvets.

Nowhere is the lack of this response to the present modes more evident than in the average mannequin who swishes her way through the salons of the Haute Couture. Unless this mannequin has some loveliness or elegance, which, unfortunately, she rather seldom has, it is made ever so much more painfully evident by the type of gown she is attempting to display.

I have seen this so often lately that it just seemed as though it should give us something to think about!

Empty milk bottles, goofy doll heads and s'm other things—and you have adorable hat stands that won't fall over. Or a door-stop!

Twelve inches of flannel, twelve of crepe de chine, a hunk of ribbon and you have a bag for your evening slippers to hang on a nail and keep them from being on the floor and rubbing against each other.

Of course you have to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet telling you how to make all these things and some other as well—the leaflet is waiting for you!

The House of Heim achieves a line of real beauty—and that line stays with them from then on. Therefore it did not surprise me any to have the rough sketch of today's lovely coat come in to our studio, with its one-shouldered cape effect, which has characterized many a Heim model before.

This time the coat is beige, lavishly, ah, too lavishly for most young ladies' pocketbooks, furred with blue fox. Ah, well, that's the fun of being an artist—you can sketch things you can't buy!

You're still looking each Sunday, aren't you, for the weekly Dare fashion letters in The Washington Post. We hope you don't miss a Sunday.

Au revoir!

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN."

IF January 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:45 p. m.

Astrological conditions are favorable for most phases of life on this date. Enter into all legal affairs with care, as you may be tricked. Do not defy tradition at this time. Domestic relations will be harmonious.

Children born on this January 15 will have deep, thoughtful temperaments, and they will take themselves and life very seriously. They will have much adaptability, and will be naturally thrifty. Their lives will be full of surprises and sudden changes.

You have a very quiet, unobtrusive nature; attending to your own business seems very easy to you. You are kindly but not curiously interested in other people and their affairs. You have a cheeriness which comes from within—the product of a clean and wholesome mind and a contented heart. You are not too fond of yourself and your comforts to give a thought to others.

You are endowed with a lively intelligence and a prodigious memory. You are a deep and thorough student and you are only satisfied to dig to the bottom of things. You have good business judgment and a "long head" in all transactions of the mind. You are exact and precise in your dealings, and your word can always be taken and trusted implicitly. You are too conservative and too conventional in your tastes to embrace new ideas easily.

You are well poised and seldom lose your temper. You are not the type of a person with whom one would attempt to take liberties. You can make people like or love you and respect you at the same time. A woman born on January 15 has a charm and a natural simplicity which disdains coquetry. She is shy, but once her heart is won it is forever.

Successful people born January 15: Philip Livingston—Statesman.
Thomas Wildey—Founder of the Odd Fellow Society in United States.
William Wagner—Philanthropist.
Constance F. Runcie—Composer.
Moliere—French dramatist.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"A Letter."

"WHAT would you do if you found in your husband's pocket a letter signed 'with love and kisses?'"

Thus Doris, who is all broken up. What would we do? Not a thing in the world. If we were to find a letter in our husband's handwriting signed with love and kisses, that would be something else. But in this age of woman's predominance, we can not see how a man can be held responsible for what some cheerful neurotic sees fit to write to him.

Of course if one wanted to be really miserable one could sit down and imagine what he had probably written her before she wrote him that, and if one's imagination happened to be doing its duty, one could in an hour's time picture oneself deceived, abused, laughed at, and finally abandoned for the lady who signed off with love and kisses. In fact, in this age of freedom, one need not even find a letter in one's husband's pocket in order to be thoroughly miserable contemplating his opportunities. One could give up bridge, golf and all other diversions and yet never know a dull moment if one would consistently concentrate on what one's husband might, if he chose, be doing at the moment.

But what sort of pastime is that? Any man, married, single or about to be either can receive plenty of letters gooey with slushing sentiments and gummed up with love and kisses, without ever so much as encouraging the generous ladies who specialize in these things. So why should we become excited because our particular husband had received what other people's husbands have been receiving with no damage done?

Honestly, Doris, about the only thing we would hold against the man would be the fact that he brought it home! And that would be silly of us, for if it really were a weighty matter to him, he would have carefully destroyed it or locked it up in his "Personal" file at the office.

Listen, dear girl, if you are going to spend your life married, begin now to eliminate as much unnecessary fussing as possible. Begin now to concentrate on keeping beautiful and fit, and let fate decide the rest. If a wife would go take a facial every time she is tempted to sit down and pity herself, she would soon have no cause to pity herself.

But we women, heaven help us, are still for some reason thanking high heaven that some man looked favorably upon us, and shaking in our one-strap pumps lest some other woman look favorably upon him! We get gray sitting at home wondering what we would ever do if he should ever do this, that or the other. And as a matter of fact if we spent the same amount of time thinking about ourselves instead of about him, we would have him roped and tied forever without so much as a thought.

Go get a facial, Doris, and a new shade of rouge, and be mysterious and excited this evening instead of sullen and submerged. If there is one thing a man detects instantly it is excitement. And how it just eats him up! "What in the world are you so excited about?" Ah, how many men will ask that question tonight of as many knowing women. And how they will watch and wonder. And it will do them good.

Man has been in his own eyes God's gift to woman for a long, long time, and we have been helping the thing along. Stop it Doris! Stop fussing. Beautify yourself, beautify your life, live fully and happily as yourself and not as an after thought appended to some man's busy day. If that is the treason make the most of it!

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

IN THIS day of the theme song, one of the office wags believes that Miss Jane Cowl, appearing at Poli's in her comedy, "Jenny," should send forth a melodious message; or have some one do it for her.

"What would you suggest, in the way of a theme song for Jane Cowl in 'Jenny'?" the wag was asked.

"Oh," came the answer, "something like, 'When Janey plays 'Jenny' everything is 'Jake'."

BECAUSE George M. Cohan has developed into an actor—and a real one, on a par with men who always more the buskin—there is a tendency on the part of the younger generation to forget that here, in the personable George M., was the greatest American song and dance artist that ever lived. What an order that is; but there are in this parish men and women who hark back to the days of The Four Cohans and who will tell you, upon the slightest provocation, that there was never a human dynamo comparable to little Georgie Cohan, when he "went into his dance." Now look at him—all this week in his own play, "Gambling," at the National—and you see the embodiment of perfect poise and restraint, with the gentleness of Otis Skinner doing a continental boulevardier or of a William Gillette in "Sherlock Holmes."

THE Quintero brothers, Serafin and Joaquin Alvarez, are regarded as the leading dramatists of Spain; they reside in Madrid, where they do all of their writing. Their plays are for the most part of Spanish life, principally among the people of the smaller communities, and this opportunity for characterization is evident in them. One of their plays, probably the most recent, is called "Papa Juan," or "El Centenario," in its original, the new title being considered more attractive in its appeal to theatergoers. Otis Skinner has found "Papa Juan" a charming medium for presenting himself in a character that is almost new to him—an elderly gentleman blessed, as he sees it, with not only an immediate family, but with a regiment of relatives. The comedy of the play is derived from the circumstance of gathering this horde together to celebrate his coming birthday. It is understood that Mr. Skinner has reached "the culmination of a half century in the theater," in his interpretation of Papa Juan, in which role he will be seen at the National the week of January 27.

GEORGE WITHERSPOON, traveling ahead of Otis Skinner, is an old newspaper man of varied experiences. Once, after leaving the profession, he took what he calls "a turkey troupe" to Australia. They played the one-night stands. That was back in the late eighties. In those days an impresario had to be a general all-round man. So George "papered the town," sold tickets, played a part in the show and borrowed money for traveling. "It's all so different nowadays," is his comment on the present situation—"you can't even borrow money."

WASHINGTON theaterdom is on the up and up—as they say in the newspaper business. Mr. Steve Cochran, manager of the National Theater, claims he has never seen such demand for seats. The advance sale at the National for most of the attractions ahead is overwhelming. The same holds true of Poli's on the south side of the Avenue, where Mr. T. D. Bonneville holds forth as manager of Poli's. "It seems," he says, "that everybody in this man's town wants to see 'Robin Hood,' scheduled here for an early date—after the American Opera Company vacates the theater next week."

extra week by reason of the demand for seats.

Some of the prominent national sponsors of the American Opera Company who are responsible for its great success throughout the country are Mr. and Mrs. William T. Carrington, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Woolley, Otto Kahn and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, of New York; Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Affleck, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mr. Ira Nelson Morris and Mr. George W. Dixon, of Chicago; Mrs. Dudley Blossom, of Cleveland; Mrs. Frank Seiberling, of Akron, Ohio, and Mr. Alfred Schoellkopf, of Buffalo.

The University Club gave a mid-winter dinner dance last evening at the clubhouse. Other dances of the club will be given on February 18, March 18 and April 22.

The ways and means committee of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frederick J. Rice, will have a meeting at the Willard Hotel on Friday at 7:30 o'clock. The presidents of the alumnae associations of the affiliated schools are assisting on this committee and include Mrs. James Cauliflower, Miss Edith Bronson, Miss Regina Biggs, Miss Pauline Fling, Miss Marie Noke, Miss Ann O'Leary, Miss Margaret Harold, Miss Ella Dorsey, Miss Dorothy Cavanaugh, Miss Lucy Powel, Miss Mary Haurihane, Miss Helen Greenwald, Miss Ruth Craven and Mrs. Frank Biberstein, jr.

Capt. Gordon Smith to Lecture Sunday.

Capt. Gordon Gordon Smith, war correspondent, who has been decorated by the highest insignia of the Jugoslavia government and the allies will be the speaker of the Bureau of Commercial Economics at the Carlton Hotel on Sunday night when films of Jugoslavia will be presented. The Minister of Jugoslavia, Dr. Leonide Pitamic, will be the guest of honor.

Special tickets of admission, in addition to the invitation card, are issued by Dr. Anita Maria Boggs, director of the bureau.

"IN THE NAME OF LIBERTY"

A STORY OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION. BY OWEN JOHNSON.

January 15, 1905.

Suit was instituted by the Washington Loan & Trust Co. against Catholic University regarding the right of the latter to the Pretty Prospect and Woodley tracts.

The thirty-seventh anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. Dr. Alexander W. Pitzer, was celebrated at the Central Presbyterian Church.

Smoking and drinking by modern women was scored by Bishop Henry Y. Satterlee, of the Episcopal Diocese.

Washington Commandery, No. 1, Knights Templar, celebrated the eightieth anniversary of the commandery in the Willard Hotel.

Maj. Sylvester, superintendent of police, asked that the age limitation for veteran applicants be waived.

Regulation of employment agencies and the registration of nurses was proposed by the District Commissioners.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HEALTH OF THE BUSHMEN.

THE Bushmen of South Africa never eat any sugar, nor do they have any considerable amount of starchy foods in their dietary. Yet they have about as much tooth decay as we do, with an allowance of about a third of a pound of sugar per capita daily, and our diet rich in breads, pastries and cereals.

Dr. W. J. Cameron, who has always been in close touch with the dental profession, says: "I paid particular attention to their teeth and found conditions much as among our own people. Some had good teeth and some had carious ones. Some had pyorrhea and others were free from it. And I could note no difference in dental conditions between those living on meat or mixed diet."

Dr. Cameron says the Bushmen live almost altogether on meat. They are wise enough not to eat it raw, but the cooking they give it is only thorough enough to sterilize it. The marrow of roasted bones they regard as a great delicacy. They eat the organs as well as the muscle. In addition they eat a few roots, herbs, fruit and melons, but as they live around water holes in a desert country there are not many melons nor much fruit nor many vegetables of any kind. They have no grain.

Human breast milk is the only food supply for the babies. In consequence of the scarcity of foods fit for young children, mothers are likely to nurse their children until they reach the sixth year.

Dr. Cameron does not mention that this custom reduces the birth rate, as it is said to have done among the Indians. The baby death rate is very high. Otherwise they are not unhealthy people. They are very prone to pneumonia, from which they rarely recover. They do not have sleeping sickness nor malaria because they keep away from the country in which these diseases prevail.

Dr. Cameron did not mention consumption nor rheumatism in his story of his visit. In all probability they do not have much of the first and they pay heavy toll to the second. Such was the actual case among the American Indians, who lived much as the Bushmen do and whose disease history probably was not much different.

FOOD FOR THE BABY.

E. X. P. writes: I have a baby 6 months old who does not get enough food, I think. My mother feeds him and she will not listen to me. He gets six bottles between 7 in the morning and 10 at night. Each bottle consists of eight ounces of a mixture of two parts milk and one part barley water and 1½ teaspoons of sugar. The interval between feedings is three hours. In addition he gets zwieback rather frequently and freely, and one potato. Should he have fruit, cereal and egg? Where can I get a book?

REPLY.

If a baby is happy and playful and grows according to schedule he is being fed about right regardless of what anybody says to the contrary. You supply no information on this point.

As a rule, babies 6 months old should be fed at four-hour intervals. The bedtime feeding, as a rule, is omitted, though there are many exceptions. An eight-ounce feeding is amply large. Most physicians give about the dilutions you are using. Therefore, you are feeding too much milk.

Crackers can wholly replace cereal. There is no need for barley water in the milk, nor for sugar, for that matter, if crackers, potatoes and cereals are used. He should be having fruit juice or tomato juice daily. Egg can wait.

'FLYING DUTCHMAN' ENDS OPERA SERIES

Men Stars of Company Have Innings in Presentation of Sea Story.

FIRST HONORS TO GROSS

The men stars of the German Grand Opera Company had their innings yesterday in the final presentation of the company in this city of "The Flying Dutchman," by Richard Wagner, at a matinee in Poli's Theater. The company will now tour the country and sing in many large cities and recognized grand opera centers.

First honors must be awarded to Richard Gross, who as "Der Hollaender" gave a graphic protrayal of this fate-driven character, doomed to sail the seas forever in his "Flying Dutchman" until he could find a woman who would be faithful unto death. Herr Gross' voice was robust and mellow and apt in expression, while his acting was convincing and artistic. Herr Gross was closely pressed for the operatic honors of the afternoon by Dudley Marwick, as "Daland." Karl Jorn as "Eric" and Alexander Larsen as "The Steersman" also gave good accounts of themselves.

Herr Gross in "Die Frist ist um," the soliloquy song, brought out its weird beauties in a masterly manner. This was the outstanding aria of his role, of course, but throughout he was musically adequate to the score. Dudley Marwick took advantage of all the solo work of his role and Alexander Larsen contributed one of the most beautiful solos of the opera in his excellent singing of "The Steersman's Song."

The prima donna of the afternoon, Margarethe Baumer, as Senta, repeated the good impression she had made in "Don Juan" on Friday night. Her voice, personality and dramatic force made her part particularly appealing and she exhibited a high order of intelligence in delivery and interpretation, setting forth the text and the music with taste and finish. She scored a triumph in "A Ship the Restless Ocean Sweeps." Helena Lanvin, in the role of Mary, the only other woman principal in the opera, again demonstrated her ability as to voice and acting.

The chorus did some unusually fine work and bore out the statement that all the ensemble with the German Grand Opera Company are solo singers capable of sustaining principal roles at short notice. The sea chanty, sung by the chorus of Norwegian sailors at the opening of the third act was splendidly done, with more finish than usual in such numbers.

Ernest Mehlich conducted and maintained a pleasing balance between orchestra and voices.

The scenery, mounting and costumes were especially beautiful. Altogether, it was an admirable presentation and made a fitting close to a week of Wagnerian opera, with one exception, by these musical pilgrims from overseas. Washington will welcome the German Grand Opera when it returns again another year, because of the good account it has given of itself in the past seven days.

Electric Substation Plea Approved.

The District Commissioners yesterday approved the application of the Potomac Electric Power Co. to erect a new substation at 2119 Champlain street northwest for the housing of transformers, regulators and switch gear for the control of feeders for the neighborhood. The application had been certified by the Utilities Commission.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

AFTERNOON teas, bridge and matinee present a spectacular scene in brilliant colors and in black in new silhouette so sophisticated and flattering in its new lengthened line.

Style No. 8252, typically modern with its slanting seams of bodice and skirt, would make anyone appear chic and slender.

The bow-tied hip and shoulder and swathed movement of bodice at right side at waistline, give it that soft touch of femininity so important in the mode. The dipping tunic effect of skirt gives added length and grace.

It is shown in the dark dahlia-purple shade in faille silk crepe that is equally suited to miss or matron.

Black canton crepe is also worn by slim debutante as well as smart matron.

Dark brown crepe satin is new favorite with smart women and adapts itself admirably to this interesting model.

Plum shade flat silk crepe, black crepe satin, jacquard silk crepe in burgundy tones, rust brown crepe marocain, electric blue transparent velvet, black sheer velvet with tiny white pin dots, midnight blue crepe de chine and novelty printed rayon crepe in soft brown tones are most attractive combinations so entirely suitable for its development.

It is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust and is made with 3⅞ yards of 39-inch material in the medium size.

For a Lucille Lorraine Pattern of this model send 15 cents to Style Bureau, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue., New York City.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agri., Weather Bureau.
Washington, Tuesday, Jan. 14—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia, mostly cloudy with mild temperature, probably occasional rain Wednesday; colder Wednesday night; Thursday cloudy and much colder, possibly rain or snow; gentle to moderate shifting winds, becoming northerly.

For Maryland and Virginia, mostly cloudy, probably occasional rain Wednesday; colder Wednesday night; Thursday cloudy and much colder, possibly rain on the coast and rain or snow in the interior; moderate to fresh shifting winds, becoming northerly.

The disturbance that was central over Arkansas Monday night has advanced to the lake region with marked increase in intensity, Escanaba, Mich., 29.32 inches, and the minor disturbance that was off the western Florida coast has moved northeastward to Maryland, Baltimore, 29.80 inches. Pressure remains low over the Gulf States, and from Puget Sound southeastward to southern Texas, with centers as follows: Grand Junction, Colo., 29.66 inches, Northhead, Wash., 29.70 inches, and Brownsville, Tex., 29.76 inches. High pressure prevails elsewhere over North America and over the western Atlantic Ocean. Dawson, Yukon, 31.18 inches. Sydney, N. S., 30.46 inches, and Hamilton, Bermuda, 30.34 inches. Precipitation has again occurred practically over the entire United States. Heavy rain fell in portions of Illinois and Indiana, and heavy snow in portions of Wisconsin, Iowa and eastern Nebraska. The weather continues unseasonably warm in the Eastern and Southeastern States, but colder weather has overspread the Mississippi, the lower Missouri, and lower Ohio Valleys, the west Gulf States, the southern Plains States, the northern Rocky Mountain region, and the western Canadian Provinces. The weather is now abnormally cold west of the Mississippi River, except from southern California eastward to southern Texas.

There will be much cloudiness over the Washington forecast district during the next two days, and rain is probable in the South Atlantic States and the southern Appalachian region, and light rain, possibly changing to snow, in the Ohio Valley, the lower lake region, western Tennessee, and the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States. The weather will become much colder as far east as the Appalachian Mountains within the next 24 hours, and during Wednesday night or Thursday in the Atlantic States north of Florida.

A GLORIFIED CLEAR SKIN

S.S.S.

A CLEAR, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness! Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

Healthy skin is clear, smooth and lovely. It is Nature's outward reflection of internal healthfulness.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Rich, red, healthy blood nourishes the body and aids in protecting it against infection and disease.

Skin troubles and sallow complexion are usually but symptoms of a deeper, a more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red-cells in the blood.

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of these outside blemishes you are building up the system to ward off the graver diseases of which these blemishes are Nature's warning.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you will want to possess body power to clear up your skin.

S. S. S. will help Nature give you this power. Internal healthfulness will then reflect in your skin a natural loveliness—a skin glorified.

Millions of people have taken advantage of the wonderful medicinal properties in S. S. S. It gives to Nature what it needs to build you up so that your system may throw off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite should improve. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should sleep soundly. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

Take S. S. S. daily at mealtime. It promotes healthy body building. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the great blood tonic which is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

M'DOWELL SPEAKS TO CHURCH BOARDS

Colleges Should Plan Their Courses According to Mind of Christ, Is Thesis.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Christian education as the making of the minds of nations and races according to the mind of Christ was the keynote of an address of Bishop William F. McDowell of Washington to the Council of Church Boards of Education at the closing session of its two-day annual meeting at the Willard Hotel yesterday.

Bishop McDowell told the educational administrators that Christian education has taken on a new significance in recent years. It is something more than giving a student such training as he may get under Christian influences, he said. It is really the task of the Christian college to make international and interracial minds conformable to the mind of Christ.

He declared that the nations and races have no path of safety or wisdom ahead of them except the path that lies in thinking of life according to Christ's ideals and standards.

Personality Is Emphasized.

Bishop McDowell also emphasized the importance of personality in modern times. He foresees danger if the world's activities and enterprises get beyond the world's personalities. In this respect he said that the modern college is one of the vital forces for the creation of Christian personalities, and all the emphasis in college work should lie in this work.

At the session yesterday morning Dr. E. E. Rall, of the Board of Education of the Evangelical Church, Naperville, Ill., was elected president to succeed Dr. Boothe C. Davis, of Alfred University, N. Y.

Other officers elected are: Miss Mary E. Markley, Board of Education of the Lutheran Church, vice president; and Harry T. Stock, Congregational Education Society, recording secretary.

Members elected to the executive committee are: Dr. F. E. Stockwell, general director of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church; Dr. Davis, Dr. Frank W. Padelford, Board of Education of the Northern Baptist Convention; Dr. William S. Bovard, Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Dr. Robert L. Kelly, executive secretary of the council.

The council is composed of twenty national boards, representing the leading Protestant denominations, and a constituency of 18,000,000 people. Its members exercise administrative control over more than 300 colleges and 200 denominational secondary schools and 200 theological seminaries.

Trade Board Acts On Banking Study

Committee Is Selected to Renew Workings of Federal Reserve.

A special committee of the Washington Board of Trade to make a study of the Federal Reserve System, in accordance with one being conducted by the United States Chamber of Commerce, was announced yesterday.

The committee is composed of E. F. Colladay, chairman, H. H. McKee and Joshua Evans, jr. The committee will study the present system of the Federal Reserve with the view of contributing suggestions that may lead to its improvement. This study is being made by a large number of groups under suggestion of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

ANTISALOON DRIVE COST IS REVEALED

$50,000,000 Must Be Spent in Ten Years, Leaders Tell Directors.

CAPITAL DRIER, IS CLAIM

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 4 (A.P.).—The board of directors of the Antisaloon League of America held a series of meetings here today and tonight in preparation for the biennial national convention, which opens tomorrow.

The board heard reports from F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, and other officers, including Ernest H. Cherrington, director of the educational department of the league, who discussed a ten-year educational campaign. Mr. Cherrington told the board that prosecution of this campaign would cost more than $50,000,000 during the decade.

"If the league is to measure up to the exacting requirements for such an educational campaign as this critical period makes imperative," Mr. Cherrington said, "its needs in the way of men and money for the years ahead will be greater than at any time since it was organized 37 years ago."

Mr. McBride's report detailed activities of the league in the last presidential election, during which approximately 2,000,000 pieces of literature were distributed. He said that during the last two years he has solicited personally and obtained $200,000 in subscriptions. He also told the board that as a result of the league's activities the City of Washington is "75 per cent drier than it was two years ago."

The board reelected Bishop Thomas Nicholson (Methodist), of Detroit, president, and reelected most other national officers. Alfred E. Freeman, Island Heights, N. J., and S. N. Reep, Minneapolis, Minn., were added to the list of vice presidents, taking places formerly held by Daniel A. Poling, of New York, and by the late Judge Charles A. Pollock, Fargo, N. Dak. Dr. C. C. Hayes, Johnstown, Pa., was elected to the executive committee, succeeding the Rev. Homer W. Tope, of Philadelphia. Wayne C. Williams, of Denver, took the place on the committee formely held by H. T. Haughbaum, of Oklahoma City.

The board adopted resolutions commending the administration of President Hoover, of Dr. James M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, and of Attorney General Mitchell.

Three Buildings Augment Schools

Structures Are to Be Ready for Opening of Second Term February 1.

When the new school term opens February 1, there will be three new schools, with a total of 48 classrooms, available for the accommodation of District school children.

The new Langdon elementary school, replacing the last frame school of permanent construction in the District, will be ready with twenty rooms, to seat pupils from the Rhode Island avenue section northeast.

The Paul Junior High School at Eighth and Oglethorpe streets northwest, the first suburban junior high school for the District, will open with an enrollment of about 600 pupils from the Brightwood, Takoma, Woodburn and Whittier Schools, eliminating all part-time classes in the first three of these schools.

Two new schools also will be opened for colored children. One of these, the Morgan school on V street, at Champlain street northwest, formerly was used for white children, but has been remodeled for use of colored pupils, with an eight-room addition. The other colored school to be opened February 1 is the Burrville School, at Division avenue and Hayes street northeast.

Lights for Portable Schools Are Ordered

An order that the Potomac Electric Power Co. furnish electric current for lighting five groups of portable schools was issued yesterday by the District Commissioners.

The schools specified were Dahlgren Terrace portables, Tenth and Franklin street northeast; Bates road portable, Allison street northeast, north of Soldiers Home; Kalmia street portables, Fourteenth and Kalmia street northwest; Broad Branch road portables, Thirty-third and Oliver streets northwest, and the Wesley Heights portables, Forty-fourth street and New Mexico avenue northwest.

Inquest Is Called In Death of Boy, 7

Fireman, Who Was Driving Car, Surrenders at Police Station.

A coroner's jury will convene in the District Morgue at 11 o'clock today to fix responsibility for the death yesterday of John Lewis York, 7 years old, of 1244 C street northeast, who was injured in a traffic mishap Saturday.

Private Andrew G. Cronk, of No. 1 Fire Engine Co., driver of an automobile which struck the child, surrendered to Ninth Precinct police immediately upon learning of the death and was released by District Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt pending the outcome of the inquest.

The child was injured while at play in the street near his home, according to police, when he ran into the side of Cronk's automobile. After preliminary treatment at Casualty Hospital, the boy's mother, Mrs. Helen York, had him removed to his home, but when the injuries became grave, he was taken to Providence Hospital, where he died at 8 o'clock this morning.

Commissioners Oppose Passage of Cable Bill

Removal of a limit on the amount which might be recovered in damages for the death of persons in accidents, as provided for in the Cable bill pending in Congress was disapproved yesterday by William W. Bride, corporation counsel, and the District commissioners.

Mr. Bride declared that the present limit of $10,000 damages "might with propriety be raised to $15,000 or $20,000, but I doubt the propriety of removing the limit altogether." Whether the present limit "is sufficient in view of the present depressed purchasing value of the dollar is a question," he said in his report which was approved by the commissioners. "I do not think the commissioners should recommend passage of this bill," he said. The commissioners agreed.

EASTERN FIVE ROUTS BUSINESS IN UPSET OF SERIES

Tigers Boast Hitting and Speed

Adds Mound Aces of Minors; Rogell to Play Shortstop.

This is another of a series of stories on 1930 prospects of major league baseball clubs.

By MERLE OLIVER.

DETROIT, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Speed and hitting power will be the chief assets of the Detroit Tigers in the 1930 American League baseball campaign. If their pitching is improved and the hole at shortstop is plugged they may finish in the first division. Changes have been made since September to improve the club's morale.

George Uhle, Vic Sorrell, Owen Carroll and Earl Whitehill are the veteran pitchers on whom Manager Stanley Harris will depend to do a large share of the mound work. Elon (Chief) Hogsett, Art Herring, Whitelaw Wyatt, Charles Sullivan, Phil Page, Kyle Graham and Joe Samuels are included in the list of recruit pitchers.

Hogsett, a left-hander with an underhand delivery, was purchased from Montreal last September. He won twenty games and lost thirteen for Montreal in 1929.

Herring Starred for Oklahoma City.

Herring also was purchased late in the summer after winning nineteen and losing thirteen for Oklahoma City Western League Club. He throws right-handed. Wyatt, who won 23 games and lost only 6 for the Evansville Club of the Three-I League last year, is a product of semipro baseball in the South.

Raymond Hayworth, recalled from Toledo American Association Club last August, is expected to develop as the regular catcher. Mervyn Shea, Pinkey Hargrave, Bill Steinke, recruit from Seattle, and George Rensa, obtained from Toronto this winter, will be available.

Dale Alexander will play first again. Alexander batted .343 in 1929, his first season with the Tigers, to lead American League rookies, and collected 25 home runs.

Charles Gehringer, who led or tied for first place in the league last season in games played, stolen bases, runs scored, three-base hits, doubles and total hits, is expected to have another great year at second base. The veteran Marty McManus will play third.

The shortstop problem is believed solved with the acquisition of Bill Rogell, purchased from St. Paul. Bill Akers, who was purchased last summer from Beaumont Club, of the Texas League, will contest with Rogell for the regular job, as will George Westling, another rookie last year.

Johnson, Stone and Funk in Outfield.

Roy Johnson, Jonathan Stone and Elias Calvin Funk seem slated for the outfield positions. Johnson came from San Francisco last spring and made good; Stone was recalled from Toronto late in the season, while Funk batted .365 for Hollywood in 1929. Harry Rice still is with the club, although efforts have been made to trade him. Anthony Spencer Harris, outfielder drafted from Minneapolis, hit .340 last season.

Robert (Rhino) Fothergill, league-leading pinch batsman, will be there to swing a wicked stick and fill in at any outfield position when needed.

Shute Takes Los Angeles Open Title

Unheralded Youth Is Victor Over Stars, Earning $5,000.

Finishes in Rain With 74; Cruickshank, Smith Second.

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND.

RIVIERA COUNTRY CLUB, Los Angeles, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Over the same flooded fairways and rain-soaked greens that proved a golfers' graveyard for America's greatest, there tramped today a little-known disciple of the royal and ancient game to win the $10,000 Los Angeles 72-hole open.

Young Denny Shute, from Columbus, Ohio, whose brief two-year career as a professional hardly rated him the honor of a gallery, hunched his shoulders into the wind and braved the torrential rains to post the respectable and winning score of 296. It exceeded by four strokes the efforts of such notables as Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., star, and Bobby Cruickshank, of New York, winner of the Los Angeles open in 1927. They tied for second place with 300.

Cruickshank Falters On Morning Nine.

Smith and Cruickshank started today's first round three strokes behind Shute but failed to make up the lead. Cruickshank saw his hopes shattered on the morning nine—Smith's chances faded away on the incoming stretch when on three holes he went over par figures.

Not brilliant golf but rather a steady game that clung close to Riviera's par 71 figures brought Shute laurels in the fifth open championship here, one of the biggest money events of the winter season.

For four rounds the Midwesterner posted scores of 73, 74, 75 and 74, and for his efforts, Shute pocketed tonight $3,500, the winner's share.

Plays on Coast for First Time.

Thus unheralded and unnoticed, the 25-year-old Ohioan came to the Pacific Coast for the first time in a golfing role to club his way to top honors over a field that numbered all the stars of the game. His only excuse for matching strokes with the "Big Time" players was that he tied for fifth place in the 1928 national open, took third place in the same event a year later and also held the professional and open titles of his native State. Loyola Routs C.U. Quintet By 46-20

Twardowicz Brilliant in Victory, Scoring 6 Field Goals.

Carlin Also Shines in Defeat of Cards; Take Early Lead.

UTZ TWARDOWICZ is not a curse word.

It's a name that doesn't sound good. It means no good, too, especially when you happen to meet the owner, an ubiquitous Pole who plays basket ball for Loyola College of Baltimore. It was the ill fortune of the Catholic University Cardinals to encounter this court wizard last night in a game at Brookland, and the damage he caused was read into a 46-to-20 victory which the Greyhounds took back home.

Mr. Twardowicz, who gets a great amount of fun out playing, made merry for only twenty minutes of the time. He took just eight shots at the netting and sank six, and in addition—when more points made no difference—dropped in three out of seven free tosses for a total of fifteen tallies.

Visitors Step Out in Second Half.

All of this was vinegar to the wounded Cardinals, who the night before had been beaten unexpectedly by American University. It was their fifth straight defeat. They tried hard and made a battle of it in the first half, which closed, 20 to 14, against them, but in the second chapter the Greyhounds were far and away too powerful.

Coach Fred Rice switched the Catholic line-up in an effort to strengthen his attack. Capt. Joe Walsh went to forward from guard, and Larry Martin took Walsh's old job. It availed nothing but a first-half flurry which enabled the Cards to tie the score, 13-13, about midway. Walsh was the Cardinal scoring leader with 7 points.

Twardowicz made two field goals in the initial period and four when he came back for the last ten minutes. They included long ones, short ones, one-handers and "follows-up." So brilliant was Utz that Carlin, a teammate, was hardly noticeable, even though he rang up 12 points.

Bluege Signs for 1930; Is Pronounced Fit

Oswald (Ossie) Bluege, infield ace of the Washington Club, yesterday visited the Nationals' headquarters and quickly came to terms for the coming season. Despite the fact that Bluege was handicapped last season by injuries and was out during the last month or so undergoing an operation for floating cartilage on his left knee, his contract was regular with no bonus clause demanded by President Clark Griffith.

While Bluege's operation was a serious one as applied to a ballplayer, no fear is held that he will not be as good as ever during the coming season. The club physician recently made a thorough examination and put the infielder through a series of exercises which, he claims, would have brought out any weaknesses in the knee if it were not normal.

College Boxer Dies At St. Bonaventure

Olean, N. Y., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Evan Gustafson, Mount Jewett, Pa., boxer, died of a broken neck as result of a blow received in a bout with August Carlson, of Jamestown, N. Y., at St. Bonaventure's College last night, William N. Smith, Cattaragus County coroner, announced following an inquest today. No one was held in connection with the bout, but Sheriff Elmer Miller made it known that he would further investigate the affair.

Gustafson was felled by a blow on the jaw and never regained consciousness.

High-Scoring Eastern Team Ahead From Start to Finish.

Russell Leads Tech to Victory, Accounting for 15 Points.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

A FIGURATIVE bombshell was thrown into the circles of interhigh basket ball play yesterday at the Tech High Gymnasium, when a hitherto unimpressive Eastern Five, which had lost both of its series starts to date, more than doubled the score on the Business courtmen to win, 56-27. Tech defending champion, rung up its first triumph in the league competition by downing the Western representatives, 36-24, in the first game of the double-header.

Although the Tech-Western game had been regarded as more or less of a toss-up, not many had visions of the Eastern tossers registering a win over the five which has shown such strength in its play all season.

But from the first minute of play when Dallas Shirley sent the Light Blue and White into a 2-0 lead, it was plainly apparent that it was Eastern's day, and but for a brief time in the first quarter when Business took the lead, Coach Guyon's charges were never headed. Capt. Jimmy Ryan, Joe Robey and Dallas Shirley composed the Eastern trio which was well-nigh unstoppable throughout the entire game, racing up and down the floor to deposit valuable shots which spelled disaster to the Orange and Blue.

Eastern Leading, 24 to 12, At Half.

Leading, 15-10, at the end of the first quarter, the Lincoln Parkers continued to increase their lead as the time went by and were holding a 24-12 advance at half time.

Business players, sensing defeat, still gamely refused to give up the fight and it was not until the middle of the quarter that victory was conceded to the Eastern Five. Then with his team 19 points behind on the short end of a 48-27 score, Coach Woodworth removed his entire Busi-

GEORGETOWN FROSH BOW TO G. W.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY FRESHMEN took special delight in chalking up their seventh straight victory of the season last night, by downing the Georgetown Yearling quintet, 27 to 21, in the Colonial Gym. The Buff and Blue youngsters got off to a 5-to-0 start and were never headed, leading 16 to 6, at half time.

With Forrest Burgess again leading the G street Team to victory with 8 points, the downtown lads flashed a swift passing attack which swept the boys from the Hilltop off their feet. Paul Brown played a good defensive game for the winners.

Only 6 Fouls Called During Game.

The contest was especially clean, but six fouls being called throughout the game, five of them on the G. U. Five. The winners will meet Gonzaga tomorrow night at 8 o'clock on the H street floor.

VA. HUMBLED BY OLD LINE FIVE, 54-20

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Jan. 14. Spectacular shots from the sidelines and midfloor by Radice, Evans, Heagy and Berger featured Maryland's 54-to-20 victory over Virginia here tonight, the worst defeat sustained by the Cavaliers at the hands of the Old Liners in many seasons.

For the first twenty minutes of play, the battle was not so one-sided, the score at half time standing 18 to 16, in favor of Maryland. After the intermission, the Old Liners struck their stride and registered goals from all angles. Thirty-eight points were rung up in this period by Maryland, while Virginia was adding twelve.

At the start of the second half, Heagy went in at guard for Radice, who succeeded Chalmers at forward, and then the fireworks started. The visitors took long chances at the basket and most of them were good. The most spectacular shot was made by Heagy, who caged the ball standing beyond midfloor.

Gaylor and Berger Lead Attack.

Gaylor was the principal thorn in Virginia's side. This veteran rang up eight field goals for a total of sixteen points, almost equaling Virginia's total score. Close on his heels was Berger, who registered eleven points before he was replaced by Hetzel, who contributed two field goals.

COUNTY FIVES' ENTRANCE IN A. A. U. TOURNEY LIKELY

Special Rule For Teams Probable

South Atlantic Group Will Release Clubs, Is Indication.

Unlimited and 145-Pound Teams Must Register by Feb. 1.

PRINCE GEORGES COUNTY basket ball teams probably will be permitted to compete in the District A. A. U. tournament, to be held under the auspices of The Washington Post, beginning March 10, it was learned last night.

Assurance was received from Ray King, chairman of the basket ball committee of the South Atlantic body, from Baltimore that every effort will be made to gain special dispensation for the Prince Georges County teams wishing to compete in the District tournament to do so.

Efforts to secure the release of the Prince Georges teams from the South Atlantic organization's jurisdiction had been temporarily delayed, at least, and prospects of the participation of the Brentwood Hawks, Company F. Berwyn A. C., Dixie Pigs, Hyattsville High School and other teams of Prince Georges County wishing to enter the local tournament were none too bright until the announcement of Mr. King.

Aquisition of County Territory Sought.

If the special dispensation is granted by the South Atlantic organization, the Prince Georges County teams will be free to register with the District branch and play in the local tournament. The friendly concession made by the South Atlantic body does not, however, release the Prince Georges County territory to the District body. This step may be negotiated later. The redistricting committee is at present considering a petition filed by the Prince Georges County basket ball teams for their release from the Baltimore organization.

William E. Russell, registration chairman of the District's A. A. U., requested that all teams wishing to enter the District tournament from that section should register their players immediately in order that all might be properly registered before February 1, the date set for the close of registrations in the 145-pound and unlimited classes.

County Teams Long Prominent.

Since the inception of the local A. A. U. tournament here, Prince Georges County has always furnished contenders in various classes. At present some of the strongest unlimited teams in this section are playing in the Prince Georges County League, and managers of these teams have been intent on entering the District tournament since the start of the season.

Final plans for the tournament will be drafted tonight at a meeting of the basket-ball committee, the registration official and the officers of the District association, to be held at The Washington Post.

EPIPHANY SIX WINS AGAIN.

Epiphany Sextet took its second game in the Washington Recreation League last night, downing the Delta Team, 40-31, at the Epiphany Gym. Miss Dwight, with 36 points to her credit, was the leading scorer of the night.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—UPSEDAISY, $7.50, $3.80, $2.20; MILANO, $3.70, $4.10; STEVEN B., $4.10.

UPSEDAISY, away well and in closest pursuit of the early pace, finished resolutely through the stretch and disposing of MILANO, drew out easily. MILANO displayed good speed away from the barrier, but tired upon reaching the stretch. STEVEN B. raced evenly all the way. FRANCES ST. L. closed some ground.

SECOND RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start poor. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:31½. Off at 2:36. Winner, Mrs. J. H. Buscher's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARY ELOISE, $10.60, $5.60, $4.00; MORNING BEAMS, $3.20, $2.60; IGNITE, $6.10.

MARY ELOISE, outrun early, moved up with a rush rounding the end turn and, overhauling MORNING BEAMS, outfinished the latter in the final drive. MORNING BEAMS, fractious at the post, was walked through the stalls and, breaking in motion, had an advantage, but tired after leading into the stretch. IGNITE went forward all the way and had no mishaps. LEAH JANE closed ground.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:02. Off at 3:03½. Winner, Rancocas Stable's b. f. (3), by Zev—Royalite. Trained by J. Lowe. Value to winner, $750; second, $150; third, $75; fourth, $25. Time, 0:23, 0:47 2-5, 1:12 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ZIDA, $13.10, $6.60, $2.50; KINCSEN, $4.50, $2.30; SNOOZE, $2.10.

ZIDA, away fast, opened up a good early lead and, continuing well under mild ursine in the stretch, held KINCSEN safe. The latter moved up fast after going a quarter of a mile and held on gamely under punishment, but could not overhaul the leaders. SNOOZE had no mishaps. THEO ROCHESTER tired.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000. The Quick Fire Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:31. Off at 3:34½. Winner, H. F. Whitney's ch. h. (5), by Pennant—Mrs. Trubell. Trained by M. Goldblatt. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:13.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AGITATOR, $4.10, $3.00, $2.60; CLUB HOUSE, $5.10, $3.20; INCEPTION, $3.90.

AGITATOR, away well, was taken back in the first quarter and reserved to the stretch, where he was lucky to get through on the inside and only succeeded in outfinishing CLUB HOUSE following a long, hard drive. CLUB HOUSE displayed high speed in pacemaking and, after disposing of ZACAWEISTA, fought it out in game fashion with the winner. INCEPTION had no mishaps. ZACAWEISTA quit badly upon racing prominently to the stretch.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:01. Off at 4:02. Winner, Kinsbelamp and Morris' ch. f. (4), by Captain Alcock—Gypsy Gold. Trained by E. O'Connell. Value to winner, $750; second, $150; third, $75; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:49, 1:14 3-5, 1:40, 1:47.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LITTLE GYP, $21.40, $8.50, $5.30; BRAGGADOCIO, $6.70, $4.50; MODERATION, $6.20.

LITTLE GYP, racing close up for the first half mile, displaced HIGH STORM and assumed command, under energetic handling, held the race safe. BRAGGADOCIO challenged stoutly through the stretch, but was not good enough. MODERATION raced forwardly all the way and had no mishaps. COMET could not improve his position. HIGH STORM tired after showing early speed.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:31. Off at 4:31½. Winner, Miss B. Two-dollar mutuels paid—KADIAK, $4.90, $3.80, $3.20; OREGON FIR, $6.10, $4.30; WALTER R., $5.70.

KADIAK, reserved close up during the early stages, responded well when called upon and, assuming command, drew away under mild urging. OREGON FIR was hard ridden through final quarter, but could not menace the winner. WALTER R. displayed good speed and raced prominently throughout. MAXIVA went evenly. HERODIONES tired after showing speed in pacemaking. BLACK BEETLE was outrun.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:02. Off at 5:04. Winner, Missouri Stable's ch. g. (5), by Towton Field—Thistle Etta. Trained by O. Johnson. Value to winner, $750; second, $150; third, $75; fourth, $25. Two-dollar mutuels paid—YARGEE, $16.30, $8.30, $5.50; MYSTERIOUS, $6.10, $3.30; COY, $4.80.

YARGEE, racing close up from start, moved into command in the back stretch when COY tired and, drawing out decisively in the stretch, was eased up. MYSTERIOUS, taken back at breakaldig, finished well. COY tired after showing early speed in pacemaking. ONE CENT went forwardly throughout and had no mishaps. GUEST OF HONOR dropped out of it after going well for a mile.

SERIES WINS TO TECH AND EASTERN

ness Team and inserted the Stenog second-stringers.

In all justice to the losers, however, it must be stated that not many afternoons have provided such a revelation of hard luck as was dealt out to the Stenogs. Time and again, Business players aimed the ball for the basket which seemingly could not miss dropping in, and just as many times the ball dropped near, around, or on the edge of, but never through, the net. It seemed that neither of the baskets was in a receptive mood for Business shots. Pete Loftus, crack guard, who played throughout the game with a boil on his neck, proved the only member of the losing quintet able to locate the basket with any degree of consistency, dropping in five field goals and two foul tosses.

Eastern Attack Continuous.

So stunning was the play of the Eastern five from beginning to end, the Business team took numerous time outs to try to regain its stride. All in vain, however, for the Orange and Blue followers. The Easterners presented a continuous attack, which found a player or players standing under the Business goal waiting to shoot, throughout the entire game. Robey, Ryan, Noonan and Shirley, were equally effective in giving their team the winning margin.

Led by Everett Russell, who came through with 15 points in aiding the Tech five to victory over Western, the 1929 champs rang up their first win of the season in an impressive style over Coach Moore's tossers.

Tech's zone defense, which was effectively solved by Business last week, presented an absolute puzzle to the West End courtmen, who were rarely able to get inside of Tech's 15-foot mark for scoring chances. In fact, five of Western's eight field goals were scored on "pot" shots.

However, it was not until the third quarter that Tech was able to assert its superiority, the two teams waging a point-for-point battle for the first three quarters of the game. Until the third quarter, not more than 2 points separated the rivals at any time, with Tech holding the lead over most of the route, although at times by only 2 points. The half ended, 15-13, in favor of the Manual Trainers.

Tech Team Rallies in Third Period.

It was in the next to the last stanza that Tech flashed the winning rally which sewed up the game to put victory beyond the grasp of Capt. Jimmy Thompson and his men. With the score 16-16, Russell, the hero for Tech, broke away twice in succession to register double-deckers and give his team a 4-point lead for the first time such a margin had been held. Talburtt then followed with a snowbird to give his team a 22-16 margin, and from then on it was all Tech. Talburtt, by the way, was a valuable cog in the Maroon and Gray machine, registering 9 points to aid the McKinley School to victory.

ZACHARY TOPS LEAGUE BOXMEN; MARBERRY 5TH

Nat Pitcher Leads in Activity

Marberry, in 49 Contests, Fields for 1.000 Average.

Judge Best Fielding 1st Baseman; No Errors in 80 Games.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

IN the official American League pitching and fielding averages just released, Washington players fared much better than they did from a batting angle, this being especially true with respect to defensive play.

"Ole Tom" Zachary, cast off by the Nats, led the circuit, both in percentage of games won and lost and in lowest average of earned runs allowed. He worked in 26 games, 7 of them complete, and was credited with 12 straight victories and an earned-run allowance of 2.7 per game. Bob Grove, of the Mackmen, was second, with 2.82 earned runs and 20 victories and 6 defeats.

Grove led the league in strikeouts, with 170, with George Earnshaw, a teammate, second, with 149. The latter proved to be the most generous with his passes, franking 125 to first. To Alphonse Thomas, of the Chisox, goes the honor of pitching the most complete games, he going the route in 24 of the 36 in which he participated.

The figures showing pitchers withdrawn present an unusual situation. Irving Hadley, of the Nats, who was relieved in twelve consecutive games which he started, is tied with two others for having been yanked the most times. On 20 occasions he failed to finish what he started, with such successful hurlers as George Earnshaw, of the Macks, and George Pipgras, of the Yankees.

Marberry Shows Way to Nat Pitchers.

Fred Marberry led the Washington pitchers on all counts. His earned run average of 3.06 per game put him fifth in effectiveness and topped that of Sam Jones, next best mate, while he won 19 games and lost 12, with Garland Braxton, second ranking mate in this respect. The slim southpaw was credited with 12 victories as against 10 defeats.

Marberry led the league as the busiest pitcher, participating in 49 games, with Lloyd Brown close on his heels, having gotten his name in no less than 40 box scores.

From a fielding viewpoint, the champion Athletics and the Browns tied, with a .975 figure, with the Nationals pulling up fifth. Cleveland repeated its 1928 stunt of leading in double plays, with the Washington team, despite a number of infield shifts, finishing third, with 156. The Tribe enjoyed 162 double killings, with the lowly Boston Red Sox figuring second, with 159. Five triple plays were made during the season, the Yankees making two, and the Chisox, Tigers and Browns making one each. That credited the latter was made at the Nats' expense right here at the Griffith Stadium.

Washington claims two leaders and a tie among the various positions. It was a great fielding year for the veteran Joe Judge. Playing in 142 games, 80 in a row, without an error, he accepted 1,411 chances and made six miscues. Muddy Ruel had an average of .990 among the catchers, but played in but 63 games, as against Mickey Cochrane's average of .985 in 135 games.

Four Nat Hurlers Field Perfectly.

Fred Marberry, Lloyd Brown, Ad Liska and Bob Burke all fielded perfectly, with the bulk of the credit going to the first two named in view of the larger number of games in which they praticipated.

Charlie Gehringer, of the Tigers, was the best second baseman, with .975, with Jack Hayes fifth, Ossie Bluege eleventh and Buddie Myer sixteenth on the list. Joe Boley, of the Mackmen, led the shortstops, although Bluege had a better average in the ten games he filled in at this post. Joe Cronin had to be satisfied with fifteenth place.

At third, Willie Kamm showed the way. He traveled at a .978 clip, figured in 27 double plays and 1 in which three were killed. He completed the latter by pulling the old hidden-ball trick for the third time in his major career. Bluege rated fourth, Hayes seventh and Myer eleventh.

Al Simmons, of the A's, and Fred Schulte, of the Browns, tied for outfielding honors with averages of .989. The Nat flyhawks were nowhere in this race, Sam West finishing thirteenth on the list, Sam Rice sixteenth and "Goose" Goslin nineteenth.

14 Games Scheduled For Fishburne Five

Waynesboro, Va., Jan. 14.—Fishburne Military School will open its basket ball season here Saturday at 8 p. m., by meeting the fast Randolph-Macon Academy aggregation from Front Royal in the local gymnasium.

Capt. Spotts has three of last year's letter men back this year—McDaniel, Turner, and Garner. The latter is captain of the Garnet and Gold quint, but due to a death in his family it is feared that he may be lost for this season. Among the new candidates some rather promising prospects have been uncovered, however. Summers is showing up well at center, and Cranwell and Morgan look good in the forward positions. Felsinheld seems to have a good chance of working with Turner at guard.

The complete schedule follows:

January 18—Randolph-Macon Academy, here; 22, Lexington High School, here; 25, Augusta Military Academy, there; 29, Randolph-Macon Academy, there.

February 1—Staunton Military Academy, here; 3, Randolph-Macon Academy of Bedford, here; 5, Fork Union Academy, there; 8, Virginia Episcopal School, there; 11, Woodberry Forest, there; 14, Staunton Military Academy, there; 20, Danville Military Institute, here; 22, Woodberry Forest, here; 25, Fork Union Academy, here; 28, Augusta Military Academy, here.

BULLS RULE PRICE TRENDS IN STOCKS

OUTPUT OF STEEL RISES

New York, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Bullish forces continued in control of the price movement in today's stock market but again lacked sufficient punch to lift the market out of the narrow trading area within which it has been floundering since the turn of the year. Prices of scores of issues were marked up 2 to 6 points in the early trading but a renewal of short selling and profit taking cut down the gains at the close.

Trading showed a tendency to increase on the rallies and turn dull on the declines, which was widely accepted as evidence of a strong technical condition. The day's sales of 1,883,440 shares were nearly 450,000 shares above those of yesterday, the dullest full session since July, 1928.

Business and financial news continued mixed in character, but favorable developments appear to be increasing. Germany's acceptance of the Young plan was hailed as one of the day's most constructive achievements, although its immediate market effect was negligible. A further increase was noted in steel mill operations, plants of the United States Steel Corporation being reported at 97 per cent of capacity and those of the independents at 64 per cent, as against 61 per cent and 58 per cent, respectively, a week ago.

Koister Radio Receivership Asked.

Application for a receiver for the Kolster Radio Corporation, already foreshadowed in the sharp decline of stock in the last few months, testified to the highly competitive nature of that industry, which has been among the hardest hit by the stock market decline last fall.

The increase of more than 44,000 tons in the stocks of copper at refineries last month was about in line with expectations, and showed that consumers were still pursuing a "hand-to-mouth" buying policy. Preliminary estimates also indicated another sharp increase in crude oil productions last week, while private California dispatches indicated the possible failure of the State's restriction plan.

The railroad shares failed to follow through on the rally which started yesterday, although moderate gains were recorded by Delaware & Hudson, Nickel Plate, Great Northern preferred, Atchison and sprinkling of other issues. Expectations of a series of poor January and February earnings statements are militating against an extended advance in the rail group. Pennsylvania ran into some profit taking after its sharp advance of yesterday. The rights to purchase Pennsylvania stock at par on the basis of one new share for each eight shares held expire tomorrow.

Buying of Utilities Increases.

Public utilities, which have attracted increased buying support since the recent Supreme Court decision defining "a fair return" on property investment, moved irregularly higher. American Telephone, American Power & Light, United Corporation and Consolidated Gas all closed a point or more higher, strength of the last-named being accompanied by reports of heavy purchases by the Brady interests in connection with merger plans to be announced later in the year. Western Union fell back 5½ points presumably in reflection of disappointment over the failure of the directors at their meeting today to authorize a stock split-up which had been expected in some speculative quarters.

Motor shares continued rather sluggish, although the declines in the leaders were held to fractions. Oils also failed to make much headway. Merchandising shares, some of which are reported to harbor a large short interest, were mixed. Several of the food shares, notably Kraft-Phenix Cheese and Snyder Packing preferred, showed outstanding strength. Active coppers showed only narrow fractional changes. Equipments were quiet although Pullman extended its recent gain 1¾ points.

Moderate Demand For Money.

There was only a moderate demand for call money, which held steady at 4½ per cent all day. Other monetary rates were unchanged.

A further easing in Sterling Cables to $4.86¾ and renewed heaviness of Spanish pesetas, which dropped 16 points on profit taking, featured the mixed foreign exchange markets.

Commodity markets were mixed. Wheat advanced fractionally on reports that the Farm Board was buying the commodity, and corn lost ground. Cotton declined 60 cents to $1.35 a bale in sympathy with an earlier decline in foreign markets.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Cotton was less active today and recent advances were followed by reactions with March contracts selling off 17.58 to 17.61 and closing at that figure or 12 points net lower, under realizing or liquidation and some local and Southern selling. The general market closed easy at net declines of 12 to 25 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 6 points with the more active months showing the most losses of about 8 to 9 points during the early trading. The selling seemed to be promoted by the relatively easy showing of Liverpool and cable advices reporting that spinners of American cotton in Lancashire would meet on January 24 to consider the basis of trade.

Offerings were by no means heavy and were well enough taken by covering or trade and commission house buying to steady the market during the middle of the morning. Rallies followed with the near months relatively firm, January sold up to 17.40 and May to 17.79 or about 2 to 5 points net higher on the winter and spring months, while July rallied only 5 points from the lowest. The demand seemed to be supplied on this bulge, as the market eased again during the afternoon under scattered selling.

Offering increased slightly in the last hour when there was more liquidation coupled with some New Orleans and a little Southern selling. May declined from 17.79 to 17.59 and October from 17.91 to 17.70. Closing prices were at the lowest of the day.

No particular news factor was emphasized by local traders in connection with the decline. At the high prices of yesterday the market had shown an advance of about half a cent from recent low levels, presumably easing the technical position to some extent. This may have accounted for some of the selling while the failure of demand to broaden more importantly on the rally from the opening decline was commented upon as a disappointment to holders of contracts.

Liverpool cables reported that covering and trade calling in that market had been supplied by local and continental liquidation and said there had been fair cloth sales to India with further business pending, but that the demand from China was easily satisfied.

Exports today 25,287 making 4,603,732 so far this season. Port receipts 20,140. United States port stocks, 2,549,261.

27 DISTRICT BANKS CHOOSE DIRECTORS

1930 Officers Named by 32 Washington Firms at Meetings Yesterday.

GOOD YEAR IS REPORTED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Elections of 32 institutions, including 27 banks, were held yesterday with few changes in directorates. Frank W. Mondell, former United States Representative from Wyoming and Republican floor leader of the House, and Charles J. Brand, executive secretary-treasurer of the National Fertilizer Association, were added to the directorate of the District National Bank.

Thomas C. Boushall, president of the Morris Plan Bank of Virginia and Frank H. Edmonds, president of the Edmonds Optical Co., are among new directors of the Morris Plan Bank, of Washington. William L. Browning, vice president of the Mayflower Hotel Co., joined the board of the Continental Trust Co. The Washington Savings Bank added the greatest number of new directors, taking on five.

Joseph G. Stephenson, an assistant cashier at the Franklin National Bank, was promoted to a vice presidency and Samuel M. Thrift, another assistant cashier, was advanced to cashier, relieving Thomas P. Hickman, vice president, of additional duty as cashier of that institution.

Likewise, Nathan B. Scott, 2d, assistant treasurer of the Continental Trust Co., was advanced to treasurer, relieving Charles W. Warden, first vice president, who formerly held both offices. Morton J. Luchs, vice president, Shannon & Luchs, Inc., was added to the board of the Real Estate Title Insurance Co., succeeding the late Charles J. Bell. Twenty new members were elected to various boards during the day. Complete results of the elections follow.

BOND PRICES CLIMB IN QUIET TURNOVER

FOREIGN ISSUES ACTIVE

New York, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Bonds moved narrowly higher today, reflecting an improved investment demand for listed securities which have been meeting successfully the increased competition from new offerings. Inquiry was along rather conservative lines, as it has been since the demoralization of security markets late last year, and the trend in investment tastes, already well demonstrated by the ready absorption of recent flotations, was toward the best rated obligations.

Prices were irregular during the forenoon and only a few bonds showed a disposition to move. Late in the session, however, a distinctly better inquiry appeared, especially for the rails, with the result that the averages for all groups rose. Only a comparatively small number of issues traded in more than average volume.

The new American Telephone 5s, when issued, had the largest turnover, touching 101¼ before encountering profit taking that led to a net decline of ¼. North American Edison 5½s and 5s dropped 1 and 1¼, respectively, on the news of a forthcoming $25,000,000 5 per cent loan for the company at 95½.

Rails Top 1929 Peaks.

A handful of the high priced rails pushed beyond their 1929 highs on active accumulation, Union Pacific refunding 5s rose 1½ to 110, Rock Island refunding 4s advanced ¾ to 96; and Southern Railway consolidated 5s gained 2 points to 110½, all new peaks for the last year. There was also a good market for Cleveland Short Line 4½s, Erie 5s, St Louis & San Francisco 4½s and the Pennsylvania listings. The last named road's general 5s rose a full point.

Active utilities included Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, May maturity; Pacific Telephone 5s and Utah Power & Light 5s, all up about a half, the group as a whole was rather dull.

In the industrial division small buying of Armour Real Estate 4½s forced the price up 1½. Reading Coal & Iron 5s, Republic Iron & Steel 5½s, Wilson 1st 6s and American Smelting 5s were firm. Liggett & Myers Tobacco 5s sold off ¼ to 100. However, none of the industrials was particularly active.

Convertibles Are Colorless.

Convertibles were again colorless. American Telephone 4½s and Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s led in volume, but had slender price movements for small net gains.

Among the United States Governments only the fourth Liberties got much attention and that loan lost 3-32. Changes in the group were mostly on the down side.

There was increased buying in a number of foreign bonds. Belgian 6½s and 6s, Berlin 6s, Brazil 7½s and several of the Argentine 6s made an upward move which in the case of the Brazilian bond amounted to 3¾ points. Buenos Aires 6s, April maturity, dropped 3 points.

New Gas Issue Sale Starts.

The Associated Gas & Electric Co.'s $30,000,000 issue of 20-year 5s is being sold by a syndicate tomorrow at 90. Each $1,000 bond will be convertible between March 15, 1931, and March 15, 1933, into eighteen shares of Class A stock.

Announcement of another large bond flotation which has been pending for some time was made tonight. It is the $35,088,000 Chesapeake & Ohio Railway 65-year 4½ per cent refunding and improvement mortgage issue approved about a fortnight ago by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The bonds are to be offered tomorrow at 94, to yield 4.80 per cent to maturity.

PROPOSED ANNUITY MEASURE INDORSED

U. S. Employes' Group Head Urges Quick Passage of Dale-Lehlbach Bill.

PUBLIC HEARING TODAY

Robert H. Alcorn, chairman of the joint conference on retirement, who for eighteen years has labored for a more liberal retirement system for the nearly 500,000 workers in the Federal service, yesterday issued a statement in which he indorsed the Dale-Lehlbach bill.

Mr. Alcorn's statement was in the nature of a prelude to a public hearing on the bill, which will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning by the House civil service committee. Evidently it was designed to head off the dissension that threatens to crop out at the hearing, a number of workers having expressed dissatisfaction with the bill.

The bill, which was pocket-vetoed by President Coolidge last year after it had been passed by Congress, was passed again by the Senate ten days ago and sent to the House.

Increases Retirement Annuity.

It increases the maximum retirement annuity from $1,000 to $1,200, bringing the average annuity up from $741 to something over $800, and permits optional retirement after 30 years service at an age two years below the present retirement age.

In his statement, Mr. Alcorn said in part:

"The members of the joint conference on retirement, representing the vast majority of those in the Government service, are hopeful that there shall be no further delay in the adoption of the bill, in order to give some measure of relief to the retired employes, and in that way take a big step toward more efficiency and a better Government service.

Retirement Systems Studied.

"In 1925 I made a partial survey of many of the retirement systems in operation in many of the large industrial concerns of this country, as well as State and municipal systems here and in foreign countries like Germany, England, France, Canada and Italy."

Mr. Alcorn said that he had found that most of the retirement systems in other countries and those of American industrial concerns were more liberal than the one for which he and his colleagues are now striving.

"It is the hope of the members of the joint conference," Mr. Alcorn said, "that this bill—the Dale-Lehlbach bill—will be presented to the House and enacted into law at an early date. While it is not all that we wish for, it is about all we can hope for from Congress at this time. However, should Congress in its wisdom feel disposed to give something better, civil service employes of course, will be very grateful."

Army Officer Leaves Estate of $124,443.35

Lieut. Col. William Baird, United States Army, retired, who died in Washington on January 3, left an estate valued at more than $124,443.35, according to the petition for the probate of his will filed yesterday in District Supreme Court.

The Army officer is survived by two children, Maj. John A. Baird, United States Army, and Cornelia B. Hicks. The widow, Mrs. Minnie D. Baird, is the principal beneficiary under the will.

Real Estate Man Asks Bankruptcy.

George J. Morris, who lists himself as a real estate operator, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to adjudge him a bankrupt. Morris lists liabilities of $113,571.44 and assets at $7,174.50. Attorney L. A. Widmayer appears for the petitioner.

Postoffice Cat Takes 10-Mile Trip as Mail

Waynesburg, Pa., Jan. 14 (N.Y. W.N.S.).—James McGuffie, postmaster at Deep Valley, sent his office cat 10 miles to Ned as first-class mail.

Shortly before the mail bag was sealed the cat scrambled into it for a nap.

When the bag was opened by Barnes Lemley, Ned postmaster, the feline jumped out, apparently none the worse for its trip.

800 ARE TO ATTEND AUTO MEETING HERE

Chevrolet Sales Officials to Address Salesmen at Banquet.

GIVE BUSINESS TALKIES

More than 800 Chevrolet dealers, bankers and star salesmen are expected to attend a sales meeting and business show at the Washington Auditorium today, followed by a banquet at the Mayflower Hotel tonight.

Heading the party will be H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager of the company, assisted by J. C. Chick, assistant general sales manager; W. E. Holler, of Buffalo, regional manager; H. B. Batch, Baltimore zone manager, and F. H. Knight, Richmond zone manager. These will be the speakers at the banquet.

The purpose of the session is explained as to outline the company's 1930 sales plans to the retail organization of this area. Talks will be illustrated in the form of playlets depicting the proper procedure to be followed in the successful operation of a retail automobile business. Theatrical "props" and talking pictures are to be used to impress the program on the dealer audience.

Among the points which are to be brought out are the presentation of the 1930 model with a discussion of its improvements, the features of the company's new truck line, provision of proper service for car owners, the most efficient method of making a sale, reconditioning of used cars and other details of automobile distribution.

150-Gallon Still Taken In Deserted-House Raid

Raiding a house on Sixth street northeast, near M street, members of Sergt. George M. Little's flying squadron were unable to find any one at home, but discovered a 150-gallon copper still, 50 barrels, each containing 52 gallons of peach brandy mash, and 6 gallons of brandy.

Sergt. Little had a warrant for the arrest of a man living at the Sixth street address. After posting members of his squad at the sides and rear of the place, Little knocked on the front door. Receiving no response, he tried the knob, found the door open and made the discovery. The still was dismantled and the liquor seized and turned over to the prohibition warehouse.

WHO'ZIT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was an American.
2. He was a journalist, author and teacher.
3. He wrote a novel, "Helen Ford," and lives of Webster, Lincoln and Garfield.
4. He is best remembered as the author of a series of children's books, popular about 20 years ago, nearly all of which depicted the struggles and successes of poor boys who rose to fame and fortune.

Curb Review

New York, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Revival of bullish operations in a few public utility stocks featured an otherwise dull and colorless curb market today. The day's sales ran over 700,000 shares with four power and light stocks supplying about one-fourth of the day's entire volume of business. While late profit-taking checked the early advance, final quotations again disclosed a preponderance of net gains.

United Light & Power A, responding to reports of a sharp increase in earnings, was the leader of the public utility group, closing with a gain of more than 3 points. American Superpower, Cities Service and Electric Bond & Share, the three next most active issues, improved fractionally. Bell Telephone of Canada jumped 7 points and American Light & Traction 6 on small turnovers.

United Gas, which recently reported a sharp increase in production as a result of the discovery of new wells in the Refugio field, climbed more than 4 points and closed near the top. Standard Oil of Kansas advanced slightly on the publication of a statement showing earnings of $4.73 a share in 1929 as against only 91 cents the year before. Indian Territory Oil and Cumberland Pipe Line each advanced 2 points and Standard of Nebraska dropped 1½, while Gulf, Humble and Vacuum showed little change.

Application for a receivership for Kolster Radio was held responsible for the renewed weakness of De Forest and Dubilier, the former selling close to the year's low despite the institution of a patent suit against the Grigsby Grunow Co.

Columbia Pictures and General Theater Equipment showed moderate gains, but a renewal of selling pressure against Fox Theaters carried that issue close to the year's low level of $5 a share. Investment Trust & Trading Corporation shares displayed a firm undertone. Fourth National Investors, Insull Utilities Investors and Third National Investors gaining a point or two.

Great Lakes Dredge & Dock and Murphy Co. broke sharply to record low levels on a few transactions.

$30,000,000 Gas Stock Sale Opens

Utility Company Will Use Funds for Retirement of Indebtedness.

A new issue of $30,000,000 Associated Gas & Electric Co. convertible 5 per cent gold debentures, due 1950, is being publicly offered today by Harris, Forbes & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Kidder, Peabody & Co., Continental Illinois Co., Inc., Brown Bros. & Co., Edward B. Smith & Co., E. H. Rollins & Sons, Field, Glore & Co. and John Nickerson & Co.

Priced at 90 and interest yielding 5.85 per cent, these debentures will be convertible at holder's option any time after March 15, 1931, and on or before March 15, 1933, into class A stock at the rate of 18 shares for each $1,000 debenture, subject to indenture provisions with respect to stock split-up, combinations and certain stock dividends.

One of the largest public utility issues of the year to date, the proceeds from the sale of these debentures are to be used in the further retirement of the indebtedness of the company and its subsidiaries and in the payment for acquisition of additional properties, also in the retirement of preferred stocks of subsidiary companies.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Federal Farm Board moves to bring about curtailment of wheat acreage in domestic spring producing territory did a good deal to lift wheat values today. In this connection, statements today from Alexander Legge, president of the Federal Farm Board, indicating that the board is doing everything in its power to remove danger of overplanting served to stimulate buying of future deliveries here. There was also considerable buying based on announcement that seaboard clearances of wheat and flour were larger by 733,000 bushels.

Wheat closed firm, ½c to ¾c bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to ⅛c off. Oats a shade to ⅛ to ⅜c up, and provisions showing 20c to 37c gain.

At first the Chicago wheat market displayed a downward tendency today, owing more or less to early setbacks in Liverpool quotations and to reports of pressure of Argentine offerings overseas. On the other hand, revised official estimates showed that wheat production this season in Roumania is insufficient for home needs. Besides the foremost unofficial European trade authority was quoted as predicting increased buying abroad, and as explaining that purchases heretofore on the part of transatlantic countries has been kept very low on account of a combination of circumstances which are now being modified.

By far the outstanding incentive today, though, helping to encourage speculative buying of wheat here appeared to stem from reports about farm board activities looking toward a reduction of United States spring crop acreage this season. Strength shown by Northwestern wheat markets today was also given particular notice here, and so, too, was the fact that seaboard clearances of wheat and flour were the largest in some time, as well as that world's available stocks of breadstuffs had decreased 711,000 bushels for the week. On the other hand, late German cables said import duties on wheat would shortly be raised to prohibitive figures. New export business in North American wheat today totaled only 400,000 bushels.

Increased rural offerings of corn to arrive here led to late downturns in corn values. Oats averaged higher, sympathizing with wheat strength.

Provisions were firmer, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

Subsidiary Companies' Preferred Stocks—Liquidation Value	53,431,750
Minority Common Stock and Surplus applicable thereto	2,274,472

* Includes 5½% Investment Certificates and $8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates.

Earnings

The consolidated earnings of the Company and subsidiary companies, irrespective of dates of acquisition, for the twelve months ended November 30, 1929, and annual charges on securities outstanding at that date, assuming the sale of all of this issue of Debentures and after giving effect to recent financing and to the acquisition or retirement of securities and to calls for redemption since that date, were as follows:

Gross Operating Revenues and Other Income	$89,177,899
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes (except Federal Income Taxes) and amounts applicable to minority common stocks	40,756,446
Consolidated Net Earnings before Interest, Depreciation, Dividends, etc	$48,421,453
Annual Interest and Dividends on Funded Debt and Preferred Stocks of Subsidiary Companies (less $775,576 credit for interest during construction) and Annual Interest* on entire funded and unfunded debt of Company to be outstanding	21,284,644*
Depreciation	$4,238,210

Consolidated net earnings as above were, before depreciation, over 2.27 times and after depreciation, over twice the above annual interest and dividend charges.

* Includes interest on 5½% Investment Certificates and on $8 Interest Bearing Allotment Certificates, but excludes interest on obligations now convertible at Company's option into stocks.

Over 92% of the gross operating revenues was derived from electric and gas operations.

The Convertible Debenture obligations of the Company which are now convertible into stocks at the Company's option, and the Preferred, Class A and B and Common Stocks which are junior to this issue of Debentures, have an aggregate value estimated, on the basis of current quotations, to be in excess of $400,000,000.

We Recommend These Debentures for Investment

Price 90 and interest, yielding 5.85%

These Debentures are offered when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to approval of counsel. It is expected that Temporary Debentures will be available for delivery on or about February 3, 1930.

PROPOSALS

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.
Bureau of Public Roads, Washington, D. C., January 15, 1930. Sealed bids, subject to the conditions contained herein, will be received until eleven o'clock a. m., February 20, 1930, and then publicly opened, for furnishing all labor and materials and performing all work for Unit III of the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway. Duplicate copies are not required. Unit III begins at the south end of Columbia Island, in the Potomac River, and extends to the south shore of Little Hunting Creek, being located partly in the District of Columbia, partly in Alexandria, Va., and partly in Arlington and Fairfax Counties, Va. Unit III comprises the bridges for the highway as detailed hereinafter. The bridges to be constructed under this unit have been divided into two groups. Separate bids will be required for the work embraced in each group. Bidders, if they so desire, may submit bids both for the work divided into groups and for the work as a whole, in which event the amount of the guarantee required with the bid will be not less than 20 per cent of the larger amount of the bid for the entire group. The right is reserved to let the work as a single contract or to award separate contracts for the work embraced in each group, as may appear to the best interest of the Government. The bids will be opened in the office of the chief, Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Information for bidders, together with questionnaires, may be obtained in the office of the Bureau of Public Roads, Willard Building, Washington, D. C. Completed questionnaires covering experience and financial statement of the contractor must be submitted to the chief, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, not later than February 13, 1930. Bids will not be considered from bidders who fail to submit these questionnaires, nor from bidders who fail to establish to the satisfaction of the contracting officer ability, as indicated by the questionnaires, to satisfactorily undertake and complete the work. Bidders must submit with their bids a plan and equipment questionnaire showing in complete detail the proposed manner of handling the contract, the organization of forces, the equipment and equipment layout, camp facilities and other pertinent information. Failure to submit this questionnaire properly executed will be sufficient grounds for considering the bid irregular. The bridges and incidental work embraced in Group 1 are: Underpass south end of Highway Bridge, bridge over Boundary Channel, new abutment for Highway Bridge, underpass R. F. & P. Railroad, bridge over Roaches Run and alterations to Highway Bridge. The approximate quantities of each item of work are as follows: Item 1, quantity, 11,450 cu. yds.; description, unclassified excavation. 2, 10,840 cu. yds., unclassified excavation for structures; 4, 5,350 cu. yds., foundation fill; 5, 10,350 cu. yds., Class "A" concrete; 6, 1,840 cu. yds., Class "B" concrete; 7, 2,730 cu. yds., Class "S" concrete; 8, 1,222,000 lbs., reinforcing steel; 9, 585,700 lbs., fabricated structural metal; 11, 445 cu. yds., dimensioned masonry; 12, 605 cu. yds., stone masonry; 15, 132,170 lin. ft., timber piles; 18, 6,280 sq. yds., rip rap stone; 21, 930 sq. yds., membrane waterproofing with mortar protection; 22, 370 sq. yds., membrane waterproofing with asphalt and felt protection; 23, 1,810 sq. yds., damp-proofing; 24, 110 cu. yds., gravel sheathing; 25, 2,400 lbs., copper flashing; 26, 350 sq. yds., bush hammered finish; 28, 120 lin. ft., ballast; 31, 1,360 lin. ft., fiber ducts; 29, miscellaneous work; 30, detour trestle; 31, removal of truss spans; 32, removal of pier and abutment. The bridges and incidental work embraced in Group 2 are: Overpass proposed airport entrance, bridge over Four Mile Run, overpass Southern Railway industrial track, bridge over Hunting Creek, Washington underpass, overpass Fort Hunt, Va., and bridge over Little Hunting Creek. The approximate quantities of each item of work are as follows: Item 4, quantity, 7,680 cu. yds.; description, unclassified excavation for structures, 3, 31,260 cu. yds., special excavation for structures; 4, 21,950 cu. yds., foundation fill; 5, 3,200 cu. yds., Class "A" concrete; 6, 1,000 cu. yds., Class "B" concrete; 7, 3,230 cu. yds., Class "S" concrete; 8, 1,038,000 lbs., reinforcing steel; 9, 5,200 lbs., fabricated metal; 10, 1,300 lbs., bronze bearing plates; 11, 585 cu. yds., dimensioned masonry; 12, 890 cu. yds., stone masonry; 13, 70 cu. yds., brick masonry; 14, 5 cu. yds., coping; 15, brick masonry; 15, 134,890 lin. ft., timber piles; 16, 10,440 lin. ft., concrete piles; 17, 57,000 ft. B. M., timber foundation in place; 18, 16,650 tons, riprap stone; 19, 5,000 ft. B. M., timber bridge railing; 20, 1,250 sq. yds., membrane waterproofing; 21, 5,470 sq. yds., membrane waterproofing with mortar protection; 22, 5,200 sq. yds., damp-proofing; 24, 280 cu. yds., gravel sheathing; 25, 1,250 lbs., copper flashing; 26, 60 sq. yds., bush hammered finish; 28, 50 lin. ft., fiber ducts. The approximate quantities for the entire work are the summation of the items and quantities contained in the tabulations for the two groups of work. Where copies of plans are furnished bidders, a deposit of $30 will be required to insure their return. All checks should be made payable to A. Zappone, disbursing clerk, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Performance bond will be required as follows: In the sum of 100 per cent of the total amount bid for the entire work. Performance must begin within fifteen calendar days after date of receipt of notice to proceed and must be completed within 480 calendar days from that date, except that the superstructure of the underpass R. F. & P. Railroad must be ready for the laying of the railroad tracks on November 1, 1930. Liquidated damages for delay will be as follows: For the work embraced in Group 1, the amount of $150 for each calendar day of delay until the work is completed and accepted. For the underpass R. F. & P. Railroad, the amount of $50 for each calendar day of delay after November 1, 1930, until the superstructure is ready for the laying of the railroad tracks. For the work embraced in Group 2 the amount of $150 for each calendar day of delay until the work is completed and accepted. For the entire work awarded as a single contract the amount of $300 for each calendar day of delay until the work is completed and accepted. For the underpass R. F. & P. Railroad the amount of $50 for each calendar day of delay after the superstructure is ready for the laying of the railroad tracks. Partial payments will be made as stipulated in the specifications. Award or rejection will be made a part of the contract. Bids must be submitted upon the Standard Government Form of Bid and the successful bidder will be required to execute the Standard Government Form of Contract for Construction. The right is reserved, as the interest of the Government may require, to reject any or all bids, to waive any informality in bids received, and to accept or reject any items of any bid, unless such bid is qualified by specific limitation. Envelopes containing bids should be sealed, marked, and addressed as follows: "Bid for Unit III, Mount Vernon Memorial Highway, Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. To be opened at 11 a. m., February 20, 1930. Submitted by ——" (Name of Contractor.)

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

RICHMOND PREPARES FOR INAUGURATION

Mass of Legislation Marks Close of Regime of Gov. Byrd.

SALARY BILL IS SIGNED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Jan. 14.—Signing of two bills validating a $750,000 bond issue for the City of Alexandria, a bill giving a salary increase from $5,000 to $10,000 to the incoming governor and the proposal of one bill to establish a State constabulary and another to create a Potomac River commission marked the closing day of the administration of Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, who tomorrow will turn over the reins of government to Dr. John Garland Pollard, of Williamsburg.

The inauguration ceremony will take place at the capitol shortly after noon in the presence of the Virginia Assembly and thousands of Virginians who are arriving here tonight for the event, which will be marked with military pomp and pageantry. A parade will be reviewed after the inaugural address is made, and then Gov. Pollard will go to the executive mansion, while Gov. Byrd, without the aid of chauffeur, will drive his own automobile, containing his family, back to his home near Berryville.

The bill that proposes the creation of a commission to study affairs concerning the Potomac River would allow such a commission to negotiate with similar groups from West Virginia, Maryland and Federal authorities regarding the building of water power and flood control dams along the stream in which Virginia has riparian rights, but over which it exerts no control, its jurisdiction ending at low water mark.

Commission for Negotiations.

Many questions of property damage and the like are expected to arise and this commission would be empowered to make negotiations and agreements which would be binding only on authority of the General Assembly. Sponsors of the bill are Delegates Hugh Reid, Arlington; J. Fred Birrell, Alexandria; D. M. Chichester, Stafford; L. L. Freeman, Fairfax; Charles E. Stuard, Westmoreland, and Joseph S. Denny, Clarke.

Dr. J. W. Witten, of Tazewell, proposes in his State constabulary bill to form a more effective and less expensive law-enforcement body by organizing "a vast, unorganized and inefficient army," and having the officers of it care for the duties now taken care of by prohibition inspectors, forest wardens, game wardens, oyster inspectors and the State motor traffic policemen.

R. Dixon Powers, of Henrico County, introduced a bill in the House that would prohibit persons convicted of transporting liquor from operating an automobile for a period of one year from the date of conviction and would provide as a penalty for violation a fine of from $50 to $500.

Inauguration Centers Interest.

Chief interest of the day, however, was centered on the inauguration when Harry Flood Byrd will stand on the steps of Virginia's historic capitol, built on Schockoe Hill, owned originally by William Byrd, his ancestor, and disposed of by him in a lottery, and turn over the reins of government to John Garland Pollard, whose ancestor, Christopher Robinson, back before there was a republic, helped found the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg.

Thus will history and names long linked with Virginia's aristocracy blend in the inaugural ceremony, where a farmer, who has wrought wonders as a statesman, will step down for a college professor, who has fought a bitter, bone-dry fight to the highest post in the gift of his fellow citizens, and who was elected governor by a majority of nearly 70,000, a Democratic record.

The inaugural stand is built on the south portico of the capitol overlooking the river called "Powhatan," now the James, which was first navigated by white man when Capt. John Smith came up from Jamestown in search of the Northwest passage to the riches of the Indies. The capitol itself is built on plans drawn originally by Thomas Jefferson, who was then in France.

Elaborate Preparations Made.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the inauguration, which, however, will be simple in its execution. Gov. Byrd will meet the governor-elect and lieutenant governor-elect, James H. Price, at the John Marshall Hotel, and with a legislative committee, Lieut. Gov. J. E. West and a military escort, will come to the capitol with him.

At 12:15 o'clock the oath of office will be administered to the new governor by Chief Justice Robert R. Prentis of the supreme court of appeals, and immediately afterward Gov. Pollard will deliver his inaugural address.

Meanwhile, the parade will be standing at rest on Grace street. It will move forward through the historic capitol grounds to be reviewed as the ceremonies end. Gov. Pollard later in the day will be host at open house in the executive mansion at a reception, his daughter, Miss Suzanne Pollard, acting as hostess with him. Mrs. Pollard being an invalid, confined to her rolling chair, Miss Pollard will act as hostess for her father throughout the administration.

Interest in Recommendations.

Indorsement of the Byrd policies, program of progress and all, by Gov.-elect Pollard, has taken some of the expectancy out of the situation. There is, however, the usual interest in what specific recommendations may be made.

The House and the Senate will occupy the rostrum with the departing and incoming governors and the special committee that has been named from the two branches to escort the governors to the rostrum include Senator Saxon W. Holt, president pro tem. of the Senate; Senator B. F. Buchanan, of Smyth; Senator Lloyd E. Warren, of Portsmouth; Senator Edwin S. Reid, of Chatham; Senator William East, of Churchville; J. Sinclair Brown, of Roanoke County, speaker of the House of Delegates; and Delegates Ashton Dovel, of Williamsburg; George B. Collings, of Newport, News; Mrs. C. C. White, of Mathews; E. B. Jones, of Highland; K. E. Harman, of Pulaski, and Nehemiah Kelly, of Shenandoah.

Both branches of the Assembly adjourned this afternoon to meet tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock for the inauguration ceremonies, after which adjournment will be taken until Thursday. Little work is scheduled for Thursday except the 3 p. m. order for a joint caucus for the election of two judges for the Supreme Court of Appeals bench. On Friday the Legislature will go to Washington as guests of the Alexandria, Arlington and Fairfax Chambers of Commerce, and with Gov. Pollard attend a meeting of the National Park and Planning Commission.

RETIRES TODAY

GOV. HARRY F. BYRD.

VIRGINIA ICE PLANT OFFICIALS GATHER

Convention Today to Hear Addresses by Leaders at Richmond.

WILL SEE INAUGURATION

Richmond, Va., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Ben A. Ruffin, past president of the Lions International, will be among the principal speakers before the fifteenth annual meeting of the Virginia Ice Manufacturers Association to be held here tomorrow and Thursday.

Convening tomorrow morning, most of the first session will be devoted to business of the association. After election of new members and appointment of general convention committees, the convention will be adjourned at noon for a review of inaugural ceremonies coincident with the inauguration of Governor-elect John Garland Pollard.

Besides Mr. Ruffin on the afternoon program, other speakers will be M. J. O'Connell, Virginia Public Service Corporation, of Alexandria; C. B. King, of the St. Clair Ice Co., Inc., of Bellville, Ill., director of the National Association of Ice Industries and G. Gelton Wendell, of the Seaboard Public Service Co., Alexandria.

After an open discussion Thursday morning the convention will be addressed by Horace Davis, president of the Eastern Ice Association, Berlin Md., and Frank P. Evans, statistician of the Virginia Industrial Commission.

In the final session Thursday afternoon Chester Leasure, of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. John H. Dinneen, of the Richmond Ice Co.; Wilmer Stradley, president of the Diamond Ice Co., Wilmington, Del., and Norman E. Drexler, general manager of the Virginia Public Service Co., will be speakers.

Officers of the association are Charles Akers, Hopewell, president; John P. Leigh, Portsmouth, vice president, and O. A. Reardon, Alexandria, secretary-treasurer. Members of the executive committee include M. C. Elliott, M. J. O'Connell, C. O. Lam, F. W. Sanford, Harry Hammond, C. A. Paul and J. P. Leigh. Program and entertainment committees have arranged for all sessions to be held at the Jefferson Hotel.

Two Ask New Trial In Maryland Death

Charles Lewis and Leslie Clark Fight Guilty Verdict in Murder.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Jan. 14. — Arguments for a new trial for Charles Lewis and Leslie Clark, yesterday convicted of murder in the first degree and second degree, respectively, by the court, will be heard January 20, it was announced today. Attorneys for the defense filed the motion.

The petition states that the new trial is being asked for the following reasons: That the verdict is against the evidence; that the evidence is insufficient in law to sustain the verdict; that errors were made in the rulings of the court, and that new evidence has been discovered.

In the event a new trial is denied the defense has the further recourse of appealing the verdict to the court of appeals. Attorneys for the two men would not indicate whether they would carry the case that far.

Lewis, who was sentenced to life imprisonment by Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan immediately after the verdict was returned, showed considerabl less feeling than Clark, who was given fifteen years on the second-degree verdict.

Lightning Strikes Wire; Physician Is Shocked

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 14.—Dr. H. P. Brown, who lives a short distance west of Lynchburg, was shocked seriously this morning when lightning struck either the electric light wires or telephone leading to his office. He regained consciousness fifteen minutes later and will recover.

The storm, which occurred about 10 o'clock, was the second January thunderstorm here in 25 years, the other having occurred two years ago. The storm interrupted electric and telephone services for a short period.

Funeral Services Held For Daughter of Pastor

Danville, Va., Jan. 14.—Funeral services for Miss Mildred Turner, 16-year-old daughter of the Rev. N. C. Turner, pastor of the Whitmell Methodist Church, were held yesterday from the Whitmell Church, the services being conducted by the Rev. B. M. Becham, the Rev. O. A. Guinn and the Rev. E. L. Bain. Interment was at Swansonville.

Miss Turner died after being removed from a train on which she had been placed to be rushed to Richmond for treatment of a puzzling ailment, which has not yet been diagnosed.

Leesburg Firemen Name Heads.

Leesburg, Va., Jan. 14 (Special).—Maurice R. Lowenbach, prominent business man of Leesburg, has been reelected chief of the Leesburg Volunteer Fire Department. Mr. Lowenbach has been chief of the company for four years. Other officers are: M. E. Ball, assistant chief; James McIntosh, secretary; Joe Oliver, treasurer, and Arthur Newton, chief engineer.

BYRD REGIME CLOSES PROGRESS PROGRAM

Legislative Reforms Gain Wide Attention Outside State's Borders.

ROADS ON CASH BASIS

Richmond, Va., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—Gov. Harry F. Byrd will be just a plain citizen tomorrow afternoon.

Chief executive of the State of Virginia for four years, Gov. Byrd will turn over his office to John Garland Pollard to become a citizen, a voter and a business man. He says he does not need a vacation, but is ready to go back to his business as an apple grower and newspaper publisher.

Gov. Byrd is president of the Winchester Cold Storage Co., the largest plant for the cold storage of apples in the world. In partnership with his brother, Thomas Byrd, he is interested in a dozen apple orchards with a production of about 100,000 barrels annually. He is publisher of two daily papers—the Star at Winchester and the News-Record at Harrisonburg.

System Widely Studied.

The Byrd administration was widely hailed and studied in Virginia and other States for the reorganization of governmental machinery, reforms in taxation, constitutional revision and the new accounting system. In many respects the administration was unique.

As the governor laughingly says, he was the first Governor of Virginia to be chief executive of a "Republican" State since reconstruction.

Four years ago Gov. Byrd announced what he termed "A Program of Progress," embodying not only governmental reforms, but also the general development of the State. He sought abolition of what he considered legal barriers to progress and laid before the General Assembly and the people a number of measures he told them would encourage capital and labor already within the State and would invite new industries, new capital and new residents.

Assembly Backs Byrd.

The General Assembly aligned itself with the governor in the "Program of Progress" and largely passed the measures advocated. Constitutional amendments were necessary, and these were approved at the polls in 1928.

The results of the "program of progress" are now before the lawmakers for review in the 1930 session in the budget, the report of the State tax commission and the reports of the various State departments. Gov. Byrd also presented to the legislators a review of his administration in his annual message. These results will be closely scanned by the General Assembly in the next two months.

One of the salient features of the Byrd administration was the adoption of the segregation plan of taxation, under which the State tax on real estate and tangible personal property was repealed in 1926. C. H. Morrisett, State tax commissioner, reports that in the first two years of operation under the segregation plan a deficit in the State treasury of $1,358,000 was converted into a surplus of $2,596,000, and he estimates the surplus on March 1, 1930, the end of the fiscal year, at $4,256,956.

Tax Laws Simplified.

There was a general revision of the tax and revenue statutes in 1928, resulting in a tax code that simplified the laws and reduced the volume of statutes by approximately 50 per cent.

Gov. Byrd called an extraordinary session of the General Assembly in 1927 to take up the State administrative reorganization act and to consider the subject of constitutional revision. The reorganization act took the 85 administrative agencies, abolished some and consolidated the remainder into twelve departments besides the governor's office.

The new accounting system, now in use, was embodied in the reorganization act. At the time the act was passed 48 agencies collected State revenue and many of them disbursed a part of it. Under the accounting system adopted all State revenue is paid into the State treasury without any deductions, and all disbursements are made by the State treasurer or on warrant of the State comptroller. State revenue must now be paid directly into the treasury, whether it comes from taxation or from fees paid to institutions.

"Short Ballot" Included.

The much-discussed "short ballot" was among the changes. Gov. Pollard, under the amendment will appoint this year the State treasurer, the State superintendent of public instruction and the commissioner of agriculture. After 1932 the General Assembly may decide the manner of choosing these officials.

The Byrd administration adopted a "pay-as-you-go" policy of building roads and improving highways. On January 1, 1926, the State highway system embraced 4,800 miles, and as Gov. Byrd goes out of office tomorrow it embraces 7,032 miles, a gain of 2,232 miles in four years.

In 1926 the sum appropriated out of the State treasury for schools was $5,460,965 and in 1929 the amount was $6,439,385. The new budget raises the annual appropriation to $7,385,685, an increase of $900,000 annually.

Outside the constitutional amendments, the enactment of the county budget law in 1926 was considered by administration officials as the outstanding piece of legislation affecting county administration, with the possible exception of the act of 1926 abolishing 99 commissioners of revenue and restricting the number of commissioners to one for each county. The antilynching law enacted in 1928 was widely hailed throughout the nation. There have been no lynchings in Virginia since its enactment.

A State commission on conservation and development was established. A State advertising fund was created and through the conservation and development commission the State was advertised to the nation. The commission has aided in the establishment of such projects as the Shenandoah National Park, and the existence of a large surplus enabled the State to appropriate $1,000,000 to the venture.

Annapolis School Called Fire Trap

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 14.—The Annapolis High School Building, which accommodates something like 500 pupils, was called a "fire trap" by City Fire Marshal Jesse A. Fisher, who has just completed his annual inspections of public buildings. The building is a three-story brick structure.

The fire marshal found defects in the electric wiring system, the boiler room of the heating plant, fire escapes and fire alarm system. He recommends the erection of a new structure with every fireproof facility. In this connection and because of the crowded condition of the present structure, a campaign for a new high school has been waged for the last several years. The matter is to come up for a referendum of the voters at the election next November.

A bill providing for a bond issue of $400,000 was passed by the legislature of 1929, after considerable opposition, including a division among the county delegation in the House. The measure passed over the opposition of those who sought an amendment providing for a referendum. Subsequently, however, the referendum was obtained by petition.

40 TESTIFY AT TRIAL IN WIGGINS SLAYING

ALLEGED KILLER NAMED

Gastonia, N. C., Jan. 14 (A.P.).—The Gaston County grand jury tonight ended without a report its second day of deliberation over bills of indictment charging fourteen men with murder of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, Bessemer City cotton mill striker, slain during mob disorders here September 14.

W. H. Patrick, foreman of the jury, said that it had examined 40 witnesses since it received the bills of indictment from Solicitor John G. Carpenter yesterday morning. He said it planned to hear two witnesses tomorrow before voting.

Mrs. Wiggins, widowed mother of five children, was wounded fatally by a shot fired into a group of National Textile Workers Union members. She, with other Bessemer City members of the union, was on her way to a union meeting here when a truck carrying them to the meeting was halted by a mob.

Members of the mob instructed the union members to return to Bessemer City. When the truck was turned about the mob pursued it in automobiles. Five miles from Gastonia one of the pursuing automobiles pulled in front of the truck and a collision followed. A shot fired just after the collision killed Mrs. Wiggins.

Named in the bills of indictment, prepared after a preliminary hearing, are Yates Gamble, Fred Morrow, L. M. Sossoman, Troy Jones, C. H. Lunsford, W. M. Borders, Lowry Davis, W. H. Holbrook, E. F. Laney, Theodore Sims, Jack Carver, George Fowler, L. H. Thompson and Horace Wheelus.

The grand jury foreman said tonight that one of the witnesses to be examined tomorrow is J. A. Case, who testified at the preliminary hearing that Wheelus killed Mrs. Wiggins.

26 Autos Destroyed In $90,000 Salem Fire

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Jan. 14.—Twenty-six stored automobiles were burned in a $90,000 fire that destroyed the three-story tile-stucco garage and apartment building of A. D. Traugh on Mill street at Salem early this morning.

Clarksburg firemen aided Salem firemen in fighting the flames. Adjoining garages, from which 100 cars were removed, were slightly damaged.

BOYS DO FARMING AT FAIRFAX SCHOOL

Floris Vocational Class Enrolls 28 as Real Agriculturists.

BAPTIST ELECTION HELD

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 84

A report from W. B. Crabill, instructor in the agricultural department of the Floris Vocational School, at Floris, shows that 28 boys are enrolled in the department's supervised practice program, in addition to their regular high school subjects. The students are Clinton Saffer, Preston Poland, John Peck, Delano Robey, Mason Smith, jr., Russell Williams, William Andres, Hunter Blevens, Lee Brown, Martin Caudle, Edward Cross, John Beard, Clark Blevens, Chester Brasse, George Edge, Gilmer Head, Richard Nevitt, Milton Murphy, Russell Kidwell, Franklin Ellmore, Samuel McWhorter and Graham Jones.

These boys have agreed to care for 79 animals, 3,035 chickens and turkeys and to cultivate 61 acres of land and 4¾ acres of fruit trees. In many cases the projects are owned by the boys. In the other cases they conduct their work on a share basis with their parents and are held responsible for the management. These boys have invested in farming a total of $7,148.25. This consists of live stock, poultry and other contributions acquired during their agricultural work in the high school. A total of $1,486 has been invested in securities. This consists of money they have loaned and premiums paid on insurance. By the means of a thrift bank, which they conduct in connection with their organization, the future farmers of Virginia, they have saved $1,563.50.

The day unit at the Oakton High School has an enrollment of eighteen boys under the direction of Mr. Crabill. These boys have planned to have the care of 26 animals, 1,870 chickens, 48 acres in crops and 8¾ acres in fruit. The pupils in this class are Walter Lee, William Scrub, Raymond Blackmer, Marcell Piazagraf, Roger Miller, Stanley Dove, Williard Edwards, William Butler, Francis Miles, Bruce McClure, Bernard Kidwell, Paul Kenyon, Harold Compton, Frederick Kilsgarde, Galen Weller, Francis Herman and Bernard Speare.

Miss Sara E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, has resumed her work. Since the first of the year she has been attending the meeting of county home demonstrators at Blacksburg, Va. This afternoon she will visit the Lincolnia Home Demonstration Club where she will talk on meal planning. She will deliver the same talk tomorrow afternoon before the Navy Home Demonstration Club. Friday afternoon she will visit the Annandale Demonstration Club, which meets at the home of Mrs. F. D. Hanna.

Albert Hutchison, a lifelong resident of Pleasant Valley, Va., died at his home yesterday morning from a stroke of paralysis. He was 81 years old. He was born and spent his entire life on the farm where he died. He was one of the most prominent farmers in that section.

Mr. Hutchison is survived by his wife, Jennie and two brothers, E. G. Hutchison, of Pleasant Valley, and Sowden Hutchison, of Washington. Funeral services will be held in the Old School Baptist Church at Floris on Friday. Burial will be in the Herndon Cemetery.

The Fairfax Health Unit has been examining the pupils of the Franklin-Sherman School at McLean. Dr. R. W. Moss, dentist of the unit, established a dental clinic at the school. He has examined 268 pupils and found that there were 160 dental corrections to be made. Dr. R. E. Feagans and Mrs. Herbert Seamons, the other members of the unit, are examining the pupils' eyes, throats, weight and hearing to determine the health record of the school.

Today is the last day when Virginia motorists can drive on their 1929 license tags. According to Thomas P. Chapman, local tag agent, the automobile owners are rather slow in obtaining their new tags. The sale is running far behind that of last year, when about 2,000 were sold. Last night about 1,000 had been sold since December 15. Since the first of the week, Mr. Chapman, has sold 218 tags for pleasure cars, 30 for trucks and 10 for commercial vehicles.

The Woman's Guild of Neighborhood House will give a reception this afternoon for the former presidents of the guild at the home of Mrs. H. C. Bates, in Livingston Heights. Mrs. Carl Gassaway and Mrs. Charles Cooper have charge of the arrangements. The annual business meeting and the election of officers will be held Saturday night.

The meeting of the Fairfax County Red Cross nursing committee which was postponed last Tuesday will be held this afternoon in the health office at Fairfax.

The Floris Community League will meet in the school auditorium this afternoon. The senior class has charge of the program.

The Ladies Aid of the Floris Methodist Church South will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. William Ellmore. Mrs. Louis Ferguson will act as hostess.

The Great Falls Grange at Forestville will have its new officers installed this evening by Oswald Carper, president of the Fairfax County Pomona. Representative Ketcham, of Michigan, has been invited to attend the meeting.

The Auxiliary and Daughters of the King at Falls Church will hold a meeting today at the home of Mrs. E. P. Harrison. The auxiliary will elect its officers at this time. A box luncheon will be served at noon.

The Parent-Teacher Association of McLean will have as a guest speaker today Mrs. J. U. Kincheloe, of Fairfax, who will give a report on the recent State convention in Richmond. The executive committee met last Monday and the ways and means of raising money were discussed. They will make their recommendations at today's meeting.

The members of the Fairfax Baptist Church selected Dr. J. W. Marshall, Dr. J. A. Hallman and Wilbur T. Woodson as deacons for the coming year at the annual business meeting of the congregation. O. B. Campbell, J. S. Barbour and C. T. Rice were selected as trustees. Dr. Marshall also was elected church treasurer, Dr. Hallman as clerk and O. B. Campbell as treasurer of the building fund. The board of deacons and the trustees will be the finance committee for the year. Wilbur T. Woodson is Sunday school superintendent. Miss Octavia Marshall, pianist, and Miss Rebecca Rice, assistant pianist.

The receipts for last year amounted to $1,187.32 outside of the building fund. Secretary Doyle and Treasurer Aubrey Marshall made a report for the Sunday school, which showed a large increase during the year. Mrs. J. W. Marshall made a report for the Woman's Mission Union. Mrs. C. T. Rice for the Ladies' Aid Society and Miss Rebecca Rice for the Girls' Auxiliary. Inasmuch as the State board will cut its appropriation to this church, a larger amount must be raised by the congregation than before.

U. D. C. Discusses Plans.

Purcellville, Va., Jan. 14 (Special).—Lee Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, held a meeting here this afternoon, and plans were discussed for raising money for the Stratford Fund. It was decided to present a comedy, "A Fortunate Calamity," given by a cast of Round Hill players at the Town Hall next week, either January 20 or 21.

Automotive Trade Body Elects 1930 Officers

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Jan. 14.—At a meeting of the Loudoun Automotive Trade Association, which is affiliated with the Virginia Automotive Trade Association, Inc., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Roscoe B. Rhoads, Leesburg; vice president, R. E. Alexander, Middleburg; secretary, S. H. Grimes, Leesburg, and treasurer, W. O. Cummins, Hillsboro.

The directors named are S. B. Phillips, Leesburg; A. L. Shumaker, Hamilton; R. C. Steele, Purcellville; C. H. McDonough, Round Hill; S. Preston Luck, Winchester; David McDonald, Leesburg, and John Hill Carter, Leesburg.

Trio of Chiropractors Facing Court Charges

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Jan. 14.—Three Danville chiropractors, T. J. Oakes, E. F. Graham and O. L. Ragland, are scheduled to go on trial in the corporation court tomorrow on charges of practicing their profession without a license from the State medical board. The cases have been pending for some time.

Odell Maynard, colored, will be tried on Thursday on a murder charge resulting from a fatal accident here several months ago when he drove his car into a crowd of spectators before a tent show, fatally wounding Joe Ingram. He is at liberty under $2,000 bond. Court was in recess today, the session to be resumed tomorrow.
